

Albright Gamers Guild Scavenger Hunt

Rules and Regulations:

You MUST return by the appointed time and date to the Campus center with your team and your items.

Teams.

Teams must consist of no fewer than two members and no more than four members. At least two of the members must be students at Albright College.

Acquisition of Items.

We all like, more than anything, to have fun. Well, except for me. I like, more than having fun, having fun legally. You should, too. All items on this list can be obtained legally. It may involve smooth-talking, or it may involve something else, but it's all possible. As a result, it all has to be done so. We, the Gamers Guild, take no responsibility over your getting thrown into the clink, be it local clink, state clink, federal clink, or colonel clink. If you end up in the clink, it's your fault. Further, you are by no means required to get all of the items on the list. This is the Gamers Guild. You are by no means required to do anything.

Items.

Most items remain the property of the team that secured it except for the items that explicitly call for surrender. Furthermore, no items should use any living, non-human animals. Finally, we all know about Google, so, typically, count on .jpgs being worth dick.

Photos, however, are permitted. All photos must be clear, recognizable and include at least one team member. Negatives are not permitted. Film must be developed.

Fair Play.

Additionally, we want you all to have fun, but also not ruin other people's chances of having fun, except, of course, for when you win, and they all complain because they didn't win. Sabotage, however, is bad. And we don't like it, and we don't want it in the Hunt. Sabotaging teams or their items can lead to immediate disqualification, and then, even, we may turn the hounds up in Admin loose on you, too. You could get kicked out of housing, out of the school, out of the state, etc. You could even be, possibly, deported. Like Steve.

Points.

Point totals are final. The Judges give out points for living the spirit of the item in its presentation. In some places, bonus points are also awarded for going above and beyond the Judges' concept of the Call of Duty. So don't argue with the Judges. As far as point values, well, we used a set of dice in determining how much items were worth, so no complaining that anything was worth more than anything else.

(rules borrowed liberally from <http://scavhunt1.uchicago.edu/> cause they're cool.)
