

SUNSUIT SMILES (A)

*There is no hurry to burden you
With the truth and lies of my heart
I will conquer you when I wish
But will not destroy you for the doing
The wish is yours to make me
Do as I will when the time arises*

*One day you'll come around and see Me here waiting at my door
Not for the wondering of your presence
But of what will be mine forever more
And of the times ahead so distant now
I must hold for you as you trust me*

*There in the sun beneath the waves
Eyes of beauty, eyes of fear in awe
Not afraid of me being close enough
To see, but of the touch this wonder
I refrain to gaze only in thoughts
I find the ever need to live for*

*It's all the mother of child hidden
Keeping me at a distance from further venture
She must perceive this final win
That I can not lose her to my prime
And this being the loss of my innocence Foreseeing ignorance, the cruel bearing*

*Neck and line I turn to dust
If only to breathe upon your words
What more could you offer as fair
Be the light in silence upon you
Insincere of me you say to be so
But I feel away from thoughts engraved*

*To bring you on this for a dream
To lead you on the broken heart
Maybe I'm just empty out here
And you aside me felt satisfied
A secure company of all I am
Gone and I free my views confined*

*Cool in the winters' winds she was
An act of intent to allure one so
All suffering from the little of sight
Makes me remember every time
And you'll never change the way you were Until the better days share the time*

*She says we're over our crushes
And I've to find another one way
But out of my arms and vanished
The feelings for truth in heart
Fires of white overwhelm me within
To burn as though tears torn apart*

SUNSUIT SMILES (B)

*Just like you, no better, no worse
To wake up every morning aside you
And find you by the night as close
Makes me cry when you submit too
Just lock your doors and don't stop for me
You know I loved you, that's all*

*Almost had me going for your ways
But you meant business not my pleasure
Seen you everywhere but a dream
And with or without me you'll play
Out your real with the giving to suffer
Just to get ahead of systems mad endeavour*

*Quiet waters whisper by the morning mist
As I wait here for you at the rise and set
We'll leave together, then till forever
I'll need your emotions when I submit
I'm not superior when you're aggressive
A tear for a tear when nights burn out cold*

*Maybe I'm not up for competition with you Never win you over in a romance novel
Couldn't buy you the truth, all just lies
Guess you'll never know just like me
All you ever had to do was draw a line
Between maybe and forever now*

*Didn't think I'd give you flowers and so
But I did and now you know that Much more of me than what you see
We'll never sing together, dance, laugh
Or cry whenever you feel as I always have Been out from understanding of us*

*Will you wait for me till this ship
Comes in with the sunset firing up your hair
I don't have you now, but don't let me
Go off the deep end of love
If you would have seen me then at your every whim if only you'd return*

*Fading like a lost memory she phases
From a kiss into the distance I drift
Was it everything love could be for Flowers of anonymity and an unknown smile
Looks as though these eyes wander
Just what traits I felt of you*

*Well you can hide and you can run
But without me there, girl life's no fun
And someone else I'll cry for then
If saying I'll never do your way
I'm no loss to a face left unshattered
The smile gone and I, the laughter lost*

SUNSUIT SMILES (C)

*By tomorrow should you answer
I'll be listening from all stars to the ocean floor
Evermore you'll remain as inside
These emotions of mine were yours too
Still learning your truths of warmths and Fair kindness all of children conveyed*

*Beautiful may be too lost in words
Of glory and nature I feel misty eyed
For sights to be unattainable
I know you are there amidst life
Sharp and despaired but for the causes
Left unanswered in silent smiles*

*Love is sad every day you are gone
Selling ages till wonders fall from view
Girl, you had me going as though life
Was all about, yet the more I saw of life
The less you really seemed to mean
To me in love with only one*

*I'll be waiting for you in sunset and wine
We'll fade into the black lit night
Glowing with touches alluring
As the water's deep, cool as all dawns
I'll awaken for you to hold like
A fireside acquaintance silent as the sunrise*

*I won't be afraid to hold you While the world full of fears closes in
And you may not love me
Nor need me at the end of the day
Tomorrow we can still go on
And play courageous ways of life*

*Will I ever see you here again
Have you chose to fade away
And leave me in this empty wonder
I felt this close to you
Just when you turned off to me
Will you ever be here again*

*And in the morning you'll be there
Aside when I stay in your arms
For all you said through the night
Made me feel as then you felt inside
For reasons safe and trust could mean
Ever after glittering memories*

*You were the time of day
When life seemed down for good
Well you gave meaning to my breath
Nothing less without you, So think I'll manage
Difficulties now that you changed your ways
To another smile and chase*

SUNSUIT SMILES (D)

Maybe when I lose the words
Breakdown becomes immanent and you
Becomes lost in the pains of neuron episodes
Times fade for memories unsure
Why I hold you close
To only hold you at safe distance

What are you doing out there having fun
While I'm waiting at home, t'as been so alone
Remember where to go
When the sun shines over and you've none to see
Thinking of me
Chances are I'll be in there waiting

Beauty under fire as eyes tell
The truths of night and day
I will not be the one, nor be the ignorant
Of you, for you are of the many
And the one, he's of the warmth
You hold in dependent company

If castles had moons and stars
Had you, I'd be dreams in the sky
Watching you pass by, smile after smile
And all these ever afters
Hold there own little flings
Soon someday I'll be in those waves

You may look like perfection
Yet you can do better than me
And if you laugh after this
And if you love me anyways
Best go on to the under seized shores of us
Of empty hands reaching out for one

Out on a heavy metal ocean
She's doing life as she feels, basking the suns
Daydreaming the ones of wishes
Come and gone, well have you a place
For me upon these quarter waves
Of sun locked ecstasies

Under you there's soft linen cloud
Revealing such thoughts of whim
Dreams could only live for
You walk out in the wind little child
And I hear the laughter so long ago
Hold memories where you walked away

Maybe you're beautiful girl, and maybe
Life's wonderful, but this will never save me
If you knew my name
And called out, just the same
The echoes fade forgotten
Initial as the kiss that becomes anothers first

SUNSUIT SMILES (F)

*Deep in love these walls of earth
I find you before the nights rising
Hidden in your motives laid the answers
To take me for the pains of a simpleton
Maybe best I cry as so
You've other plans for my worth*

*Before I decided, you ran with the sunsets
How could you know you were better off
I offered you all the options
Pacifier to the pedestal, ones of us loved
One of us if only to be Well one of us knew all alone*

*In your eyes was a look I had to verify
The sparkle, the fire
The feelings I broke down to
Was this of love in the intimate stages
That allures me out of my wall
The moment was yours if you'd have known*

*Almost picture perfect as you are Yet room for the one more percent
And there in the sky I am
And I'll be for you, maybe blue
And that makes a brighter you, so at your feet
Becomes the new morrows' peer*

*I'd rather see you in a bathing suit
Than nude in another mans eye
For the beauty and laughter of yourself
As freedom is of every waves motive
Think right of the feeling
And stick with it to be the better you*

*I'll meet you as the sun goes down
Maybe when the tide takes me away
Face to face in these corals blue
And when you swim away
I'll be waiting here in a sun
Of you drifting dreams under*

*To a morning full of stars
On a night upon motions
The touch becomes intrigue
I wish to be there when all awakens
Cool for this breeze, so warm inside at ease
To feel tranquil harmony over soft contours*

*Ou...well if I knew better, I'd say
You were in for the fun
This is the place to be by the sun, then you run
Along the shores chasing waves away
Touching toes in bubbles of an island
That rises for use the flowers scent*

SUNSUIT SMILES (G)

*I just see you sleeping in seasons dawn
Leaving you be content in unknown wonders
Yet, look at you there
Will you stay as invisible as the thoughts
And ribbons you're tied in Whispers true will hold your glow on and on*

*Knew I couldn't hide from you Wish I could only forget you
But till the end, you'll always be in me
Reminiscing, sifting through memories
Hope you find me, hope I'm found
And when it's so, where will we go*

*When the fires come and you sway
Into my eyes, I wander these shores
Shallow and blue remembering
Of you what I have to see
One more you in smiles afire
I'll wait these distant outings of mystery allured*

*Where are you now, in all these oceans round
Are you coming home to me
To love, to peace, to here down on earth
Think about me when you can
And I'll run with you
Every day, every day you're away*

*Wait for me forever, won't you let me go Picture you anyway I can
As long as I see you, you won't ever leave
From the eyes to a back flash
Of me, you'll hold in arms
The good of me true X&O's kiss and a hug*

*She's wicked, she's fun
Upon shores to endlessly run
She seems better off
In her carefree natures
No fears, no child's tears
No men for some years
Still alive as she feels Under her own wheels*

*I've never seen this far south
Until she dragged me ashore
All like a tropical window
She opens my eyes
From such dark northern skies
As intentions prevail from curiosity
From a dimple, I dare to go forth*

SUNSUIT SMILES (H)

*Baring to look
I see you in all
And alone in her eyes
I feel my temperature consume
A state of caution, a notion in tears
I close my eyes, catch a breath
Thinking never again
But again for the last time*

*You must be having fun
Out with friends, free as the winds
While I wait here forever
Must be happy, best I hold on
With the sunset in your eyes
The full-bodied look
And the fragrance on your pillow*

*Through the laminated smile
I hear soothing whispers, fires you offer
Lightning I endure, made of this earth
Water and sky
You captivate my universe
To live forever is the dream
To pass away with me*

*I'll be waiting for the waters clear
And to find you upon the shores
And if you let me in Together we'll swim the depths of wonder
While the fun of the sun sets down
Sparks of a bonfire we'll ignite*

*Just look at you
Sheer presence in colour, fashion
An eye of intent, the perfect lure
The wind and sun upon your every contour
I'll settle for your every word
In return for . . . not much more*

*Thought I saw a mermaid
And there you were instead
Now I'm happy as a shark
Never need another, never leave you alone
A kiss away from eternity
And a tide closer to forever enslaved*

*Dark in this open jungle
Lies a lady of the ruins
She waits for the fire, for the rains to wash away
Cool as the lonesome earth
She feels the freedom
For time and space to allure her so*

SUNSUIT SMILES (I)

*You're a streamline beauty out on the waves
With the smile of a looker
And no-one to save
You'll walk with the wind and the night
Then for everyone you'll walk away
Free as the dream we wish upon*

*Waiting for your wave to come in Aside the ocean breeze
And time touches you
As the cold inside is embraced with meaning
The sun arises to the life in your eyes
Can you see yourself in the feeling*

*Walking the beach, not a care more
In silent grace to a softened shore
Why on earth
Why for me do you deepen your glow
Tell me so or have you said enough
In the price of my feelings
Do well in life*

*Another misty sunrise as she wades
Within the shores garden
Nature fills the valley
And instincts find my tears
Show me the way
The dew off a leaf,
The peach of the sun-dyed clouds, and you*

*Lost in the wilderness
Alone as the last flower of autumn
Till you appeared, I was just another creature
In the sun
When you brought out the fun
Threw leaves in my face
Laughing as you ran*

*In a fragile moment
You sent a message
In a time of delivering I caught your breath
Leaving little of an open heart
Dazed for the taking
In words exchanged
Moods were maimed in honesty*

*She listens to the sun
She feels the music
She dances in dreams so elegantly
If only could everyone
She captures the breeze
She sings to a memory
She's swept away
To a better way for living on the run*

SUNSUIT SMILES (J)

A wiggle of your nose
A glitter and a smile
You send a sun shine blinding by You're the fire
In a vacant sly of melancholy
You're the dream inside
When this rain thunders over a darkened eve

Four little angels laying in the sun
As clouds wisp away one by one
Their hearts in a tizzy over who's going to turn me
But I'll never tell
For they know so well
Those four little angels out on shorey shells

She walks the way she feels
Still all I see is her beauty
She didn't care for me
She doesn't need a shadow
She has a memory
And that's her way of living goodbyes
As the sun fades, so do I, she knows

Why do you think I'm looking twice
Well, what do you think of me here
With you, hmm . . . provocative yes
But I'm just a dreamer too
And at the end of the day
You'll still be here in me
Until again we meet

In a vertical parallel
She sends a signal of security
In a fragile world as ours
Seems here's the reason to stay
With the wisdom of a wall behind me
I'll reach for this sunrise dawning

There by the falling waters she arose
In an alluring posture as she dove
With beauty in space
A view to embrace
As she fades below the waters afar
Tempted to follow, but of another dream

In a field of play
You win my heart
You had me from the start
Still in the running
And still as stunning, oh hey
Someday girl, if I mean anything at all
You'll keep me in this pace

SUNSUIT SMILES (K)

*She's somewhere in the sun
Like a child on the run, having fun
That's o.k. with me, as it has to be Life is how you see
A distance between dreams
Freedom's all love really means, from a star*

*Wrapped in an illusion
She drifts with the breeze
Dancing upon leaves, not a word I say
Down to the fine lace
She sheds no innocence for grace
Carefree as the sun, she'll tease*

*Across the horizon in the fiery sunset
A silhouette came to view
Bold and courageous she stood
Heart in her eyes, dreams on every word
Build me a kingdom, she said
And forever until I shall return*

*A picture of beauty
Relaxed in shades of suns only quest
But hear no dreams
And inside I sense the coldness, or alone
Is this true, well, keep on holding
In this picture perfect ecstasy*

*By the sea, by you Waiting on another wave
But looks in your smile
Can I wait this long
Only with a laughter will I
As waves wash us over, ha
Carefree of the worlds out there that bound us*

*Far out to sea
Drifts a mystery
Said if a woman, wrapped in twine
And sun
Alluring every lost one as I
And of this sky I'll search
Those silent waves
And when I find you, well
Onto every shore evermore*

*Dancing in a dream of a song in time
Being wrapped by the sun
To hide the weight and pain inside
Soon this ship will anchor
And the winds will carry on
As you rest the better eves*

SUNSUIT SMILES (L)

*Why hide your smile
While the sun glares down the shoreline
Cruel is your beauty
To hide you behind my paths of mystery
Remember the times you laughed, then
You were more of love and beauty ever free*

*Outside the window
She's inside and looking rather encaged
I won't come in, says me
So come on out where we're sure to be
An item of natures intent
As the moments go by We'll pass the touches slow*

*A shower of sun rays
Falls upon her sways
The glowing beads of light from her eyes
The breeze dances by in waves
Wooed with shadows of intrigue
She'll lock in motions of fatigue*

*Oh, eyes of a lover
Have you room for another
In those arms so entwined
Is there room for one more
Everafter to adore
The season is amidst, and I'm game to you
If this chase remains a mystic laughter*

*Upon a painted shore
Swirling round in a sun of dreams
They lay,
In paralleled symbolic postures
Almost mechanized of romance
Change not a hair
For the effects of tranquil ecstasy*

*Distant in shores rise
She rides a stallion
Tough as a military master
Suave as a foreign mistress
And beauty as sharp as any looks to devour
Should I stay or run
As I stand here confided*

*The waters bring to life
Every ripple with her presence
She swims from floor to floor
Every reef evermore
Deep in seas of aquatic paradise
She lives where times no day or night*

SUNSUIT SMILES (M)

Throw me a kiss, and don't you miss that technique of eluding eyes
I may fumble, I may tumble
But for you I'd rather fall, to my knees
On my back
Break down in sighs of my demise

Washed upon the shore
Ha, I can only laugh
Where's the fun I say
Hiding your freedom, under curves of beauty
Standing two pieced in cold waves of blue
For me, tomorrow, something I can't see

More than a catch of the eye
So lure me in, I can only wait
When you come back this way
Hope I'll have more to say
Like what's your name and all that game as you pass by

Looking both ways as she stops and goes
Every dream of the way
Upon her toes
And by fashion you so wear
Lies of passion, tip your nose
If she ever feels this way
She'll close her eyes

There within the shorelines waters
She arose
With every drop of water causing sweat
Moves overpowering in silence
In her own world, I watched
As she faded back beneath the depths

This is your castle
This is your throne
With a sun to lead your ways
And a dream to close your eyes
Still this is all yours
Someday you'll want out of it all
Well, just touch the cold, and inside

Dry is the air
Far is the nearest sign of life
Yet here you wander without wings
To be found, to be free
Must be nice to follow no others' footsteps
In grace and courage
You venture these isles

SUNSUIT SMILES (N)

*A tropic paradise
Fragrant of flowers and greenery
The water falls into a cove of serenity
You feel a part of nature
Wading by a shallow shore
If only you could live
Within this picture perfect evermore*

*Something about you
Puts love in my eyes
Soft shadows and a look of glass within
And this dream of holding you
Fading with every sunset
Everytime I see you
Everytime I feel this way again*

*Ends another wave, as did the love of time
There was laughter, there was sadness
Still always together
Through all the late evening chats we stayed Ending in another moment of true reminders*

*Who are you
And where's this forest by the sea
Won't you come play in the sun with me
After all the running around
We'll both fall down, so tell me
Where's your key in this hidden mystery*

*Tis the time for fairy tales
And all that unveils
So to you and me, there will be this moment
Where time took hold
Brought us out of the cold
Made nature let us in A permanent wonder of being*

*Into the winds she rode Took my feelings, my open arms
All that was inside of me, broken
Yet free from unknown burdens
I was in awe to hear you say
You'd return for my love to stay*

*Taunt me, tease me
Pleased to even know me
She swirled in a smile
Winked in a flirtatious style
Bumped me and laughed in denial
I went along with the chance
To keep tomorrow strong*

SUNSUIT SMILES (O)

*Out of the waters you arose
In a sweat of beauties best
Cold of the depths, so glad to feel the sun
Onto the sanded shore, you wondered so pure
Breezed hair and far in the distant glare
You laid to rest*

*Beauty finds the child in your eyes
And love, your intuitive emotions at a tear
Truths are the words you hear so prudent
So carry on in your views and choices
Of a better life in the sun*

*Like a goddess, like a queen
She fills the stage with awe
Heat in the air, wind in our dreams
To only see in her eyes this fiery thaw
Waiting for the distant tides
She rises to see upon the horizon
A wish longed by all her time*

*Do you know I think there's room for love
Even flirtatious romance, I feel amidst
Through your heart of innocence and in eyes of hope
You smile to someone else
This beauty in time
So remember love and love will lead me on*

*Upon every ocean
She dreams of winds as high as the sun
To take her beyond this forever after Holding on to another days' sunlight
Cries out the ages of wonder
She hears inside a comforting breeze
Softly whispers wishes someday true*

*Can't see the cold in your eyes
For the loves upon your brow
Haven't answers for your why's
For all the reasons blind my how's so take me home to this delight
And love up my doubts of devotion
On through this fired night*

*Nowhere to dance this night away
As we spin round and round in glitter and sway
A forest of ultra sun
Reflections of eyes on eyes
We'll toss in the moment going with thoughts content
A laughter, a flower
Even wonder drifting onto fun*

SUNSUIT SMILES (P)

*She's got summer in her eyes
And freedom in her moves
Tells me enough to hang around
She's a feelings' ambition and wills
Only chance to be found
So I'm willing to submit I'm hers
As long as we see in eyes*

*Deep in the sun, under every spell of the wind
Soft, smooth contours of nature
The art of motion, silent for the day
Moving memories on and on
If only forever this sun would stand high
As the memories go home
Strong as they will ever be*

*Somewhere high in mountains cold and white
There's a lady of ice set to stone
Said of a love now left alone
Waiting for the one of warmth inside
Seeing with the touch
And since so long ago, she's lost
In a depth of frozen tears gone*

*Love is the waters deep and quiet
Clear, clear and buoyant, peaceful and tranquil
Never want to leave you
But time means change and love will always be
As long as you are, and to me
There'll be reason enough to love*

*A breath of fresh air
Steaming with thoughts of free love
If we could only dream forever this life
Somehow you and I would dream forever
Flowers in the wind, reflections of the stars
And feelings of feelings of being a part of here*

*Upon high shores in time
She bathes the sun with beauty
Every wave's a piece of touch to her heart
In a mist of distant rolls into one kiss
Softly upon her all
She gives awe to the seasons clearing blue skies*

*Beauty is in nature and you as shown
You don't need me
To tell you just lets you go
All the dancing ends, all the lures catch on
And I wonder if you are really there
With love enough to care
Upon natures' lesser wonders*

SUNSUIT SMILES (Q)

Hi there, whatcha doin' all alone
On that water logged throne
Catch a ripple, wish a wish true
And come along with me, she says
We'll see the laughter, We'll hear this love
And feel the romance
In every motion sparkling on eyes

Lost with you
Yes, I'd be lost with you anywhere
In the highest dreams, on the deepest of feelings
From the footprints in swept away shores
To the winds wrapped around and around our hearts
Till you and I've been everywhere

Caught in her web
She taunts and teases, cause she knows
I can't touch, can't even dream from here
Guess that's why she caught me
Checking out my curiosity towards natures
From here on in, in her world

My shoulders set afire
My foundation shattered, distilling every tear of love
Till my heart lay still of life
Think I missed the boat, plane
And every other vehicle of inspiration
While here in awe
I go no further in times recollection

In a deep taken whistle
I lose track of my senses, wondering why
Why, I don't remember where I was Trapped in the perils of instincts
I hate being here in untouchable loves
Yet I'm glad to see
Some things never end without me

But I can't see you, I can feel you
But I feel helpless towards your compassion's
Life, you must be joking
Bringing me here to watch you go by
I can't join in, won't even let me cry
Still you were here for me, to be loved

I'll race you to the other side
She hints with her eyes
She laughs and dives away
Well, she won me over this time
Guess she'll always win
And what am I to lose, I'll race you back again
But she's already gone beneath the shallow waves

SUNSUIT SMILES (R)

Two to a tee, as I wish upon me
A picket fence, autumn leaves in the yard
Cool afternoon breeze and the two of you
Just that all around feeling of being together
Think about it and all the choices
Long the way, unique and entwined

Hello sunshine
Have you any love in your eyes for me
Or have you come to put down the laws
And with you in charge, I best listen
And I want to, for being here and now
And in a lifetime with you, we'll play

Maybe we'll meet on the edge of town
Head through this forest
Up the river to a set of falls
Holding to the moments so care free
Reckless and wildernized
So distant from our civil senses
Deep in these wonders of awe

Earth, water and sky wrapped up in an eve
As she fills the wonder with life
There's a feeling of openness, love grows here
Lives the colours rising from her
Spriteful curves of balance
Senses burn like tears with a chill

A little bit of sun, little bit of tan
And a whole lot of high life
Cold fires in the sky
Waiting for the waters to thaw, wild and dry
Cools the heart that rest upon these isles of earth
The condoning of a summers breeze she wishes upon

The sun is about to rise on her
She rolls over to me, like a wave upon the shore
And her glowing outline awes my mind
Now it's too late for love to lose
Smoothly smothered by the feeling of warmth
And compassion as the sun sets upon me

Whispers in my ears
The sounds of security of loves
There's something about her
The way she holds so close in warmth
And if that's all that she cares for Then to my tear
That's all I need give to her

SUNSUIT SMILES (S)

*And into the ocean we'll jump
And on to the other shore we'll climb
Dance to every whisper, stroll to every mood
Tossing raindrops and catching sands between our toes
In the motion of beauty, you cover me
With feelings of life and meanings*

*Off to catch the sun
She sways towards the sea
Leaving a scent of footsteps morning breeze
Emotions blur my vision
Yet clear as a belle
I see her rolling eyes and laughter
All for the beauty of here and now
She knows it's only fun*

*On the inside of the ocean
Refracted by ripples of light
She flows in a submerged wonder
Of all beauty and grace due to captive motions
Like a maiden in a bottle of dreams
She hears the calm and silence of solitude
Free of the skies above*

*In every step a fire
In every move a blanket of comfort
In every touch of cold
I feel reason to carry on another step
To her caverns echoing in silence
Cozy by the fire I dream off to the end*

*And for the love of every wave
You sway upon the shore in awe
Hold the sunsets, hold the breeze
At the center of attention
She drips with laughter from her hair
At the fun of being here
You prance onto waves of obliquity*

*Upon every step she rises out of the depths Eyes on mine she engages
The gold winds set awest
The silver blues rise so high
As the shadows of the mountains drift
Down upon the oceans shore
She falls onto the moment*

*Upon a stone wheel she rests
Dreaming in the sun, in love with the open sky
Cooled by the sands beneath
She curves in dunes by echoing winds
She rises to the paths of nature
That's the beauty of inspiration nostalgia*

SUNSUIT SMILES (T)

*Ohmm . . . , my, Touched by beauty Touched by sky, can you hear the breeze
Do you feel the sun
Upon the scent of a forest you sigh
If only here was for-always tomorrow
You could live another lifetime
And always come here to be content*

*She leans astern to catch the winds
In her eyes, a chill tingles throughout
As the fire of the sun taunts her dreams
She sweats out innocence
As the waves come crashing down
She sways with the sails
As they take flight to horizons*

*Perfect as a peach on a pedestal
A piece of art, growing to fall
Yet, choices of time touch down
With beauty of loves of life all around
Into questions she'll bring you
Places of wonder you never thought about Here to rise upon the sands*

*Are you wounded, are you hurt
Or are you deceiving me in
As you lie upon these cliffs so dry
Between pain and pleasures
Are these looks to hold or crush
Of all tears I'll take away
But from here I best move on
As you rest away your dreams*

*I see her beauty, contours of silent silhouettes
Ageless as her eyes, fashions of nature
Formation of machine, I see her
Feelings in waiting, But she knows not of me
As one of many, so she sees me as a puzzle
To be tossed like crumbs*

*There's no doubt in her eyes
She's watching all the guys, go by
And if she wishes like I think
With a smile and a wink
I may just have to tell her lies
Innocent and provocative with open truths
We'll buy and sell, to weigh these wilds tomorrow*

*In shallow sensations of flickering lights
Wave after folding wave
She sways to a sun-dried breeze
Every grain of sand as grand as clouds rolling by
She could sleep all the while
If time would rest for these moments
And the sound of natures softened*

SUNSUIT SMILES (U)

See her laughing, just for the fun
That's the youth, that's the trust
Of a friend amongst ageless peers
And from these moments alike
To be here is oblivious to loves and innocence
For every tomorrow I wish to be here
We could be upon such laughter

Make this water rain, take this sun away
To love these sounds beneath my feet again
Sometimes between the glamour and fashion
Inside feelings of these tears find a way
Only to make the sun brighter next time

Lost in the beauty of you
The world becomes a blur
As I wonder just how much more I can take Yet I know that as long as you are
The good of a tear I will hold
Every dream, every sway
You bring me out of this cold

She dances in her eyes, a smile
Flare in her hair
She could charm the hearts out of anyone
And so she does, with laughter framed in moments
Sensitive as she portrays
And looks of ever after days
She's action above the highest waves

Touched by your romantic heart
In a setting of sincere starlight eyes
This wave you ride so clear
Has towed me to horizons uncharted
And I know when we get there
The skies will fold with colours
The winds will whisper all our thoughts come true

As long as love is around
You can count on me
To hold every promise, dream, and wish to you
As true as an ocean, the universe
And the chance that you love too
All the forever afters will share us in loves
Shore to shore ever more

Cuddled up beside a fireside
As the sun fades down the window
We'll listen to some old forty-fives
Talk about the times
Look out on the bay, watch the dreamers go by
To a final glance of eyes on eyes
Carried to a sunrise in love

SUNSUIT SMILES (V)

*Here before the waves she sits calm
Not a care to the world
Moves for the moment, like winds of clouds and trees
Not for ever and never without Waiting for the sounds of love and smiles of another
She drifts around the shores catching only bluffs*

*There's a fire in the sun
There's a fire in my heart
Not a drop of sweat to put out this cold night
Every vein, muscle, and tone
Trapped and no escape
Such flaming desires to dance this way
To only take part in, I'd surrender*

*All alone in a universe of rocks and stone
Lies a gem of red and awe
Contours of grace, tears of yesterday
Fragile and clear, waves come in Empty of her dreams, sun beam's out of colour
Shallow as these nights alone, if only ever*

*Beauty in the sun
Free upon an endless shore
Posed for the midday heat, curiosity in her eyes
The feeling of touch surrounds her aura
Cooled by the bark of a lone tree
She bonds like love on love
Dreaming to the sounds of waters whispering in*

*Hair wild as these fields
She sways and dances within Passion of her eyes, tell sincerest of lies
Where forever never roams
Do you intend to hunt me down
Let me in, and walk away proud
Forgotten like the horizons at night
Towards another star*

*In contrast with an orange dusk
There she stood in silhouette
Like a child, love trap, and ever after, all in one
Smile of a hundred flowers
Eyes of the skies wished upon
Soft as the fashion fine, Warm as the fireside
She fills the heart with all one could ask*

*She was like a whole new woman
Another place and time, under a violet sky
Amongst golden lit vines
She arose from the mist of the land
And from her glamorous eyes I could sense
The power of persuasion envelops me into her universe*

SUNSUIT SMILES (W)

*Upon every curve she moves like the tide
Mysterious intentions bewilder me
But that's how she is in every second glance
Always that much more intense
With no love for my fragile heart, she clutches so
Till upon my knees I feel her pains of truth*

*Ouu... how you blend in, to all your surrounding I've seen you in the waters, forest, even in the air
If only I knew better, you knew this in me
Still taunt me as you please
I'll take it with ease
Hide if you dare, anytime, anywhere*

*Under the influence innocent of nature's beauty
She shares the moment
If only forever in these dreams we could stay
Where children play
And there you prance in wonders
Open spirits to the stars
Catch the rains girl, catch the moment*

*Down upon the cool green waters
She kneels the shallow sands of paradise
Forging out of the sun a glow and warmth
Biologically suave as her technical wrapped attire
Oh, eyes wild as the deepest forest
She glares through me like an aura opened clear*

*A woman in her world, waves crashing down
Sands washed away, and a breeze to free the air
As the sun cuts through the haze
She dreams along in emotion like sways
Beautiful as she blends with textures of nature
A timeless wonder*

*Aside the dark winter waters
She lies in colours of fall
Sounds of comfort fill the valley
She glows like a flower
Golden hair glitters the scent of a forest sleeping
Touched by the falling winds of the day
She rises to the warmth by a clearing sun
So far away*

*She looks up towards me through eyes
I sense a mind full of questions
Do you notice me, do you love me
Do you feel so far away, well, yes I do
But so far away I feel
That all the world arises to my ears
And I'm yours to answer forever in need*

SUNSUIT SMILES (X)

*You sway upon the breeze
Hair flowing like flowers fragrant in your mind
A kiss of sun silhouettes your body
Beautiful in all horizons
What part of all the love do you hold as I see
As I guess, I never need to know
As long as you are*

*You just can't lose, I just can't win
You just won't quit, oh where am I to start
You just love it, well I do agree
By force and beauty and nature you play
And I follow like the moon and sun
Always here being reminded of you out there*

*Smile, won't you please smile for me
In the corner of your eye, a wiggle of your nose surely these walls can't hold you in Run dance with your eye, girl
Accent this sunset with your alluring tones of fashion
But smile anyway as you walk away*

*In this body of water she drifts with the silent breeze
Glistening in the rippling sun
In warmth of depthless waters
Sways to clouds of imagination
Deep is the water, deep is the dream
Forever is the sound upon her
A shallow trickling of paradoxes*

*As she stood watching, for the calm of the waters
A feeling of dare and sprite
She glides on the air into the reflection
Disappearing beneath soft blue rays of motion
Her body becomes a wonder of sways
Curved in a natural wild, contouring as I view*

*And a little touch of sun
And a shoreline to run
You're the gold at the end of every summer
I'll catch you if you dare
And chase you for the fun
So go ahead and race these waves
I'll win that smile, if only to lose for a while
To you in the sand, and a setting sky*

*Softly the night touches down
Warm beneath shades of light
Roll in the clouds, dry lightning flashes cross the sky
Sense the power of this stereo eclipse
As she thrives upon the moment
Soon the sands will wash away
A place and time, every move, every line*

SUNSUIT SMILES (Y)

Body's on fire, hot springs rise even higher
She rests in the light of a thousand eyes
Heats up the conversation
To an awe of speechless elegance
Well, girl do you trust me now
Do you feel the way you lead on
Or is there more beyond this shadow of doubt

With unreadable eyes she waits upon this trickling stream
For if anyone, do you allure me
To this far forbidden forest
Am I prey or should I, of all the traps of love to be found
I can only ask of you to lead me around
Through your side of the dream

From out of the waters she arises
With the slyest smile any woman could offer
I could've melted in these darkened waters
As she fades into a distant shore of lily pads
I close my eyes one last time beneath waves
Sensing all around that she is this water

Gardens of green, under rays of sun falling down
She shades herself in fantasies of the morning
Posture like a statue
Graceful and innocent she walks through the fields Knows where she's going, knows here feeling here on in That's all the love she needs hangin' around

Dark haired lady upon these tiles of mans maiden shore
Have you come to rest your beauty
In hopes of holding something more
The glistening waters call to you
And the moon has pulled me away this moment was only so
At a fraction of tough to let go

Hello, how's the water
Dare I join you for a dive
Just for the devious smile
I know these waters forever traitorous
And that's the chance, this champagne dance with you Don't care about tomorrow, don't care about me
Not yet anyway I'll say

Like a leopard, like a butterfly
Like a shark, camouflaged only by your aura
As the light shines through you like crystal fantasized
Then I'm locked into your eyes
Too late to run, to fly, to swim anywhere
But around and around with you

SUNSUIT SMILES (Z)

*Within the cool of the sun she moves
The clouds give way to her water side sway
A smile as alive as a summers day
To wear and tear on my eyes elude me
You toss away the fine line
And step anywhere love loves you
As I lead astray*

*You're a flower on any wall
And you're too beautiful to hide
I'll find you, I'll chase you
For the fun of the moment
As we dance this wall of sand on forever
Like a dog, I am, at your call
But absent to why, still I'll try, while by your side*

*Cool blonde woman, a look sharp as nature
Curves lean, lush, and loveable
Every shoreline calls for a wonder like you
So keep the fire in your hair
That cold mysterious spark inside
And just maybe I'll follow this of time over you*

*On your mark, get set, and I'm already gone Cause you know what motivation it takes
To get me up and running, and how far I can go
When I only come back here, weak upon your presence
Like a lioness you prowl to my heart
Etching away alive*

*With arms around the fun in the sun
She splashes cross the pool side
With laughter in priceless sprite
She brings out dreams of flight
Taken breath and emotions to a limit of intimacy
A reaching out to this chilling fire
An alluring compelling attraction*

*Close enough between me and nature
Content with this hidden eye of suspicion
A luring shy, yet we know where you lie
As I, just as shy, oh the fun of romance
If there was a next dance, with you
I know the flowers would fall around*

*Upon blades of cut and dried
She moves, she lies, back to the sun
A tender trap indeed, I can tell in your eyes
A deeper smile is waiting
So move just a little more this way
Then I'll scoop you up like a fairytale star Dare we this far*

SUNSUIT SMILES (AB)

*She can dance, she can fly
She can catch the corner of my eye
The water glare, her body fair
Jealous of youth I am, I was of the beauty
But wiser of the trust she shared to me
This I loved, and this she could feel*

*The curtain rises, ribbons flow in her hair
One in the crowd, after this long journey
And I could have swum through oblivion to find you
So take a bow and smile upon everyone
And to be yourself as freedom is to me*

*Cast the nets, hoist the volley
The game is afoot, she refers to the waters' level
Blows the whistle, wild as the winds
Alive as the sun, and in charge
How she manages to hold upon me
The smile content in a far off dream of relaxation
She knows as due*

*She walks upon the ocean
And rest upon the highest of mountains
She cares about the waves of age and curiosities
She has better places to dream of
She gives all she knows you want
She feels like a blind heart
Searching for reasons for searching*

*In a calm before the storm
She looks wild once before goodbye
As below the waters she quietly waves away
Do I read between the stars glittering from her eyes
Do I wait for a moon to pull me on
She does this to me with just one look, she knows*

*There aside the glowing waters of night, you posed Alive in perfect cool, look down over the lights
Valley and shore, there's a freedom in the air
And a dare to explore, emotions in the sky
You toy with me, now I'm run down and exhausted*

*Keep that look in your eye, girl
And you won't get lost in this world
In such surroundings you belong
To bring out the beauty of anyones world
The ocean, the forest, even in the clouds
So dance in circles free, of me
And dream of me down every road, for you*

*Along any poolside, she's the divers' delight, the racers rescue
Why we ask? In the water with you Touch her to torment, tease her to die for Tell her to tell all, tame her to be touched
It's a ravishing circle, waves webbed
With love and intellect to a savage end*

SUNSUIT SMILES (AC)

*Out into the sun set, she gazes
Climbs upon her horse, saddles in and heads down the shoreline
She's gone to find forever
May she gallop to a night of guided stars
Up to a sunrise filled with colours flowing
Like the wind through her hair*

*Cool green waters and stone of time untouched
She wades within the shallows
Rolls her hair to the breeze
She bathes to the sounds of distant rapids
Onto the evening sun she'll stay
Where timeless motions caress and sway*

*Aside the castle walls, upon a slate of rock
She posed, spring waters wrapped around her
Trickling to a nearby stream, glittering in gold
Clearly priceless to the eye
She showed an awesome sense of presence and belonging
With heart crushed, I galloped away alive*

*And after a long day on the sea
You come here to the sands with me, eyes on eyes
Hand upon hand, Sun sets to an open sky of star upon star
Your laugh, your hair, how you listen and share
Don't need to go there, when here's the place to be Close and warm to the morn*

*Hidden in the shadows, like a tiger, like a fox
Sly little purr, dangerous little sneak
Allures to this cage of one
And puts you in your place
Pinned to the ground, you surrender this round
And she's a winner every time
Mischievous between every line after line*

*Falling to rest, her body at peace with waters enveloping
A sway upon the sounds, big dreams and thoughts of forever
Somewhere else soft in the sun
Innocent as the winds, sounds of mysterious winds
Echoing through her notion of every touch*

*She lets her hair down, and doesn't fall in She looks straight in, and doesn't blink on
She knows, ah, how she knows
A simple hello through passing by, wish I could stay
Yet for her or I, shines the time in the sky
Waves of this moment memorably flow*

*Savouring the silent sun, she ponders on the day gone by She's had fun and tomorrow's to be as well
It's a glamorous world child
But going all the way, makes me wonder
Looking back to here, I'll find you, deep in those eyes
This romance of memories, tear after tear*

SUNSUIT SMILES (AD)

*Cute butt, but I think it's a little too much right now
So submerge or rise my brown eyed wonder
My heart has been beaten, Being weary of this chase
Make your move, on with this game
Let the waters rise, let the rivers run dry*

*Cool and dry, from a pool sides eye
She ponders my way, neither one moves
Divided by attractions of thoughts in our eyes
Thinking yes, maybe, so, so
And all day we challenged each other from afar
Signals went off and on like fire in love
Wrapped in every breath*

*Sun in her eyes, winds in her dreams
Woman, you've a beauty to stain with a touch
These waters to flow global tears
Love for the clouds to fall upon us
Sense her aura, wish full of sincerity
Keep that sly upper brow, and through me she preserves*

*Out of the cool quiet blue, arose you
Clean warming feelings tranquilize tones of power
Soft smoothing curves, One more graceful sway towards the water
As she dives again in swirls of tender ease
Forever in her ocean under side
I walk sand sided seas*

*Alone on the outside, lonely on the inside
What kind of child is this, doesn't run and hide
Doesn't speak of fear, sitting quietly by waters calm
A setting sun sleeps upon her
As though a storm has ended
And no-one has reason to know what's to become Mere rest to her, was all she needed*

*Jungle island, what an awesome place to be left upon Just me, then appears you, and there's room for two Question now is, are we lost, waiting all this time
Those eyes she glares, Tells me to run for safety
Yet of this empty heart
I've fallen for only if not at all if ever after*

*And holding her, was like holding a child in dreams
And letting her go, was letting go the dreams
I didn't want to change
Now she's still there dancing
Wish I could stay, going round and round
But for you I'm out here turning the wheel of forever*

*I see your attraction, alluring deadly sweet
Flowers and chained curves, hair wild and golden
Behind those smothering eyes, a sense of feelings
Makes my mind sing along with the moment
Waiting for the setting sun
And light just one candle, just one . . .*

SUNSUIT SMILES (AE)

*In these palms upon quiet sands of the eve
Out sides of your eyes fall
Webs of psych to deceive
I'd race you to the waters
Race you to the depths, but you know it
Yet you won't glow an inkling past within Take to the palms my one, with all of ones charms*

*Waiting, always waiting in the shallows
The tide comes in, the sun fades for the stars
Setting in place, and as you know who we are
I sense a feeling upon your face
There's doubt, mystique, compassion and defeat
Waiting for the tides going down, you'll drift in a sway*

*Like a shadow, like a doll in porcelain and crystal
The sun brings back the life, the ocean lets me to breathe
Hard to hold you, figurine, even solid of emotions
I fear you to break, and then my heart ever after Still I will leave you, in a breeze of restless dust*

*Hiking through this picnic land
Looking for a peace of nature in the shade
Numb are the distant waves in this meadow land
A spot of citrus for the journey
A taste of cocoa for the night
Worth every little venture with you Silhouettes clash and fade*

*Hides behind her innocence
But make no mistake, no matter how illusive
There's a password, and I'll choose both hands
Love the falling for your eyes
Sly of the words of your choice
Quiet to the pulse, still is the waiting heart*

*Home . . . , with you at the doorway
That's when the ocean needs us
And tomorrow wants we two, yes that's what we do
But you, you girl, made me as I am
Breaking through this solitaire man
Enveloped by your purity, consumed by your attire
Sets my horizons afire*

*Golden nights, eyes of grey
In misty clouds casted over, upon cliffs edged to waters deep
She looks for herself from clues in the drifting eve
Even half a rainbow could fill this dream
If only I could bring to you
A reason to wish upon your every sway*

SUNSUIT SMILES (AF)

Cool upon forgotten ashes
She lays in the shallows of time
A facsimile of nature
Yet natural to a universe ever fading
That's beauty in its all, a dreamt up feeling of real
An actual being of fantasy
Here at dusk she ponders, into the silence of the calming

Scents of a memory, and love me notes
I'll be back before the morning ends
Left you in a wonder, did I?
Well, same to me, you did, a worthy component
So keep in mind, and keep at heart
This flower in the sun, shall remain as one
As we are apart

She looks through the skies
Like a mirror in a sphere depthless of her eyes
A touch of sun, and a pool so clear
She could vision a whole new wave of unity
In a thought she sets a loose wondrous swirls of life
Gray and green, wild upon the stream

Strolling down the walk ways
In a carefree summers breeze
You hold a moment, all around you is awaiting
Your bearing to unfold, Are you willing, are you wise
Will you wash away all those wavery guys
Whatcha thinkin woman. Who are you winkin with this time

Jungles a trap, Dare I follow her in Quite the lure, might lead to be a worthy tour
Watch my ego trip and stagger
Trying to follow your every woo and sway
Lead the way, And in the green
A clearing unveils, a one on one final scene

Another clean dive, another cool dry
Lean, sleek, and smooth as a tiger shark
In a fast blue motion you cover this ocean floor
Another victim in line, another love left behind
Ever hunting to be beached and betrayed

Free and sprite she dances
Alive and youthlike she feels
The sand and sky are for her being
The wind and the water freshen her mind
See her feel the moves before expressed
See her embody the move for me to adore

SUNSUIT SMILES (AG)

*A castle in the sand, a stone pitched fence
And you in a pure and humble way
Upon the comfort of waves
Tolerant of my heart felt ways naive and surfaced bliss
You still illuminate these eyes to beauty
Glow on one love, for everyone is enough*

*Half in love, half in hate, gold as sun
And dark as the look you convey Wanting this attraction to contour
We hold distance to find a fold in our intent
A sense of power, a sense of fragility
My strength is your weakness
My weakness is you in all*

*As I look into the light
A silhouette of you invades my silence
You lure, you sway, well what can I say
And you know I could live here
And I wish time would still itself for better ever days
Yet here I ponder, upon your depthless aspirations locked*

*Deep in the forest, deep in the heart
In love with this rain with sounds from the dark
More than a leaf in this jungle I round
You see, you wait, of lust and fury
The evening sky captures my time
As she slips away into the greens of the night*

*Perfected as the day you appeared Outstanding in statued proportions every time
Clear as the morning cast
You're stainless to the ongoing romance
Just beyond a woman, once upon her time, I feel inside
This road of true, Intimate to understand each touch*

*Let's go for a swim, up to our necks in sounded waves
Buoyant with the oceans drift
Just you and me, taking part in the awe of the moment
Intrigued over trinkets of aquatic life
Before the evening cools
We dive onto the shallows set ashore*

*Lines and shadows contour these beauties
Resting on a sunsets cast
Their eyes gaze out onto a distant stranger
No more than a silhouette
At presence he turns to the oceans' side and wades into a dive
He knows they breathe, a word*

SUNSUIT SMILES (AH)

A child in the forest
A woman in her medium
A life within an ages time, a calm of the time
Brings silence to her shade
Where in all the universe, I ponder
As here she stands by an old bitter tree
And in the growing, a call from inside purifies

Bringing life to this island
With a glance and a smile
Day sets the mood for passion and glow
The fire light glistens, reflecting love from your eyes
You lure and devise, I tend to ignore
Naive and aware, dried by the air
The shore shares this cool

I'd climb the wall for you girl
From the sea to the highest edge
Not for the dare of being with you, so hold on
With appeal of tender foot trues, and if I fall
Into the depths I'll drift with you
And inside I'll always be for you, for here you are

Warm in the sun, noon shadows follow everywhere
Still as you are, real to life in all movement
Glowing by these sand castle walls
Would you turn to sand if I touched you
Would I burn like the sun inside
Yet in the waters we belong together strong as one

Low tide upon a coral reef
She rests under overcast skies
Comfort and immortalized in attire of longing
A crystal clear belonging where she will ever lay
Dare I look upon her so, but of any other way
Would be as an ocean abandoned

Softened sand and massaged hair
Edged forest with the sea, into the fall and eve of the day
Cool in here heart and warmth by her side
The day sleeps complete, and you chose to be here
I, waiting here for you
Now the winds remind us why we are

Wild and crazy, in the sun fast and hazy
You could dance your way through any line
Sure as a splash, your smile is only half
As feisty as your delectable appeal
Keep that psych, taunt that smile
And no mountain stands in your every way

SUNSUIT SMILES (AI)

A touch of glitter in a smooth sway innovative Fit to run in the sun
In touch with her views
She doesn't need to care today
Confident as the ground she dreams upon Another summer isle holiday washes ashore
And prints in the sand begin

Child in the skies, warmth by the sea
She feels uncertainty of his ways
Determined to make him see her ways
I'm not mere beauty, And I seek no more than I am
No questions of love, while this ocean waves
Ripple by ripple to the sound of romance

Dry in the sand, with eyes deep of intentions
Lured into a colour scheme
I claw this white sanded eager
As she sways her way positioned and stocking me so Excited by the silence
I play on these fires of instinct

Another day at the beach
A touch of fashion on the flesh
A shade of cloud on cool cool sand
Take a stroll down the shoreline
Just a name and a smile, lets walk another mile
Catch some rays, touch these waves
With sincerity and hand held innocence

Here in the shallows of paradise island green
The sky a hazy rainbow
And ever holding out for one more tide
Why every shoreline could be like this
A look as alluring as a breath taken kiss
Open in the hearts felt warmth
Voice soft as the fire lite touch

Exotic in this savage jungle, Tamed from the inside
Memories of a river drift passed
She sees reflections of places deep
If only to be so far away, a tear she would find in loves' path
A true that echoes in all of us
And in time she'll hold in

Smooth yet textured, stylish, pastel
And as common hay, good as gold she poses
Comfortable as a wishbone left to dry
And she wishes high, And she wishes in a wonder or two
A place in her heart shallows whole
Even if true, the sun must set again

SUNSUIT SMILES (AJ)

*In for the day, in for the comfort
As she lays to rest
And she needs a candle and ice romance
Satin and silk warmed by the fires
Of fantasy and fictionalized frills
Yet so real to the touch
More is too much and love complies deeply*

*Washed in by the ocean
And cool dried on the shore
You bring into life, the colour, and sound
And a feeling of everywhere
A stone softened by your voice, fear forgotten when you hold
And a memory comes true as you echo meanings of us all*

*As you swim upon a daydream, whistling
The waves call like a thousand meadows deep
All in time she replies onto a web of comfort
The thunder has faded down the valley
As she rises to glistening sea air, a morning for two*

*Through a night waiting sky
Moon hazy over the horizon
She steps down the walkways, sand warmed beneath
Waves flicker in, she strolls these shallows of sand
Awaiting her knight of passions chivalry
Breath taken by each others phasing eyes*

*Hot springs and just we two
The ferns are green and abound
Far from sight and sound, eyes at me, eyes over you
And the violet tones of cloth
Bring out these moods upon us
Radiant as the earth beneath
We are inside aglow for the moment*

*In flight before the crashing of the sea
The synchronized form beautifies all sprite
Freedom in motion, knowing of such style and accuracy
Puts in place the complexity of nature
Lean and agile
With a hint of love for this ocean shore*

*Those questionable eyes, doubt me even being Like a jester of the jungle I'll be
But still in your smile, so hidden well
But the winds of the forest bring your blades to the true
This longing of intimacy
Breathes your skin like tropical lust*

SUNSUIT SMILES (AK)

*One step of balance, another equal
And through a peach misty sky
She sways in awe, dainty and elegant
Hair bowed and ponied
Glowing as deep winter blue
And paths she imprints bring to dance*

*Come join me on the sun deck
Under a baby blue sky, she says
We'll listen to some natures oldies
And share some peaches dry, she says
We can chat over front page fictions
And twist the trues from lies, she says
Now that I've caught your eye, we say*

*Softness in eyes, freedom in her hair
Quiet smile holds sincere, skin pure to each curve
A scent of fashion discrete, the eve waves upon you
The birds sing in calm flight
Warm, oh so warm the night
A glow inside a silhouette ever blooms*

*Hair slicked back, eyes deep and true
She swims like waves tuned and alive
In a dream like fashion, on a child like view
She sways her way to shore
She's a woman on her own
And it's hard for one to see through on a sunny day*

*Ouu, aah, feel the sun settle in Feel the burns breeze away, sense the calm tranquility
From a cold absorbing wall of stone
She'll rest upon the day
A sweet wish of never ending this moment of the day
Only to breathe in life to go on, the sea calls*

*Leaning by a fence post, wrapped in softness
Thick and hazy, A woman lean from curve to curve
Tender to her heart, a child inside to adorn
But a dream unborn, she innocently appraises
These bridges from beauty, to reasons of instincts*

*Earth warm beneath us
Grass waist high and flowing
Shadows of the sun cluster by, one by one
You talk once, how things could be
I listen on sincere yet so naive
These moments of thought confused
And overwhelming emotions awe to aspire*

SUNSUIT SMILES (AL)

*In a pool of silent dreams, she wishes upon
Over cast of a gray blue eve
Crashing waves in the near distant
Calm for her tear, patient for her heart
These stones of slumber await her awakening of love light
Once broken long ago . . .*

*Cool autumn waves, dark and deep
Moisten this stone pelted shore
She rises to the sun breaking through Deep in her wild ways
She stalks the shoreline for fruit of foe
Lust in her smile, bring the tamed to his knees
As she washes away another love tonight*

*Crawled up in the blues
She feels the pains of being used
By cold walls of stone
She would melt upon the ocean
If all would taste her mystic potions
Why I can tell she is alone
As I reach for tomorrows sun
She will rise to dance the skies with the moon*

*You surely are beautiful
O.k., you're just adorable
More innocent than a flower peddled over-bloom
Cry not a tear, smile not a laugh
Quiet is your unfelt mystique on me
One cast of sun, and you glow a lasting moment
Of chocolate and wine*

SUN SUIT FINALE

*In the sun upon a time
They woo for the weakened eye
The living, laughter, and the unknown lure
The waves, sunsets, and scenes upon sands
As the skies will drift forever
As now your dream and you are here*

*A fabricated extravaganza
At the expense of love and innocence
Searching for the new, wild and inexperienced
But you're so real I know
And these moods I can feel as well
If only to savour these moments for a lifetime*

*At the cost of one
In the sea, sand, and sun
The very living sun
Are you there for the fun*

*Wishing the suns goodnight
And sleep onto the blue filtered skies
Quiet for the morning mist to rise
As once again the shores set sights
My beauty had ended
And going on is my eminence*

SUNSUIT SMILES

