Vision

- “Life is like a box of chocolates,” somebody once said. I don’t know who said it...but I disagree with them. Life is not random; life is what you make of it. In order to succeed in any career, you must grab life by the horns. Oh, and that actually happened.

Career Goals

- For my entire life, I have admired and experienced the ability to teach and learn. From life at Radnor High School, I have experienced both good and bad teachers. From this immersion has come a burning desire to develop my own teaching styles so that students can learn in the best way possible.
- In order to achieve this goal, I must first develop my image as at student teacher so I can experience a learning environment.

- My long term goal and dream occupation is to gain employment at a university teaching Psychology.
