Note:

- I) There is a minimum of half of the season played to qualify (7.5 games played minimum).
- II) A number of "1" indicates that the player had the highest average per game in that category, and a number of "2" indicates that the player had the second highest average per game in that category, and so on. The higher the ranking the player has across these categories, the better (higher) the player's average ranking will be at the end.
- III) The rating number (decimal number) is the player's average ranking. For example, a rating of 4.3 indicates that the player had an average ranking of about 4th across the relevant categories.
- IV) There are 8 categories that players are ranked in for Offensive Player of the Year, 5 categories for Defensive Player of the Year, and the MVP award is all the 13 categories combined.
