

Riding Around the Bay Area Roads

Pheasant (off of Hicks Road – Camden Side)
June 16th, 2007

Here's another road off of Hicks from the Camden side. It's so short that I would barely call it a road. Perhaps it's like a long steep driveway. The road is called Phesant Rd. It dead ends at some private property so there's not much to see except for the very similar scenary that covers Hicks Rd. The road is 0.53 miles long (told ya it's short) and it climbs from 379 feet to 601 feet. That gives you an ascent of 222 feet for an average grade of 7.93%

