Create an Emergency Plan (F.E.M.A)

- Meet with household members. Discuss with children the dangers of fire, severe weather, earthquakes, and other emergencies.
- Discuss how to respond to each disaster that could occur.
- Discuss what to do about power outages and personal injuries.
- Draw a floor plan of your home. Mark two escape routes from each room.
- Learn how to turn off the water, gas, and electricity at main switches.
- Post emergency telephone numbers near telephones.
- Teach children how and when to call 911, police, and fire.
- Instruct household members to turn on the radio for emergency information.
- Pick one out-of-state and one local friend or relative for family members to call if separated by disaster (it is often easier to call out-of-state than within the affected area).
- Teach children how to make long distance telephone calls.
- Pick two meeting places.

1. A place near your home in case of a fire.
2. A place outside your neighborhood in case you cannot return home after a disaster.

Take a Basic First Aid and CPR Class

- Keep family records in a water-and fire-proof container.

Prepare a Disaster Supplies Kit

- Assemble supplies you might need in an evacuation. Store them in an easy-to-carry container, such as a backpack or duffle bag.

Include:

- A supply of water (one gallon per person per day). Store water in sealed, unbreakable containers. Identify the storage date and replace every six months.
- A supply of non-perishable packaged or canned food and a non-electric can opener.
- A change of clothing, rain gear, and sturdy shoes.
- Blankets or sleeping bags.
- A first aid kit and prescription medications.
- An extra pair of glasses.
- A battery-powered radio, flashlight, and plenty of extra batteries.
- Credit cards and cash.
- An extra set of car keys.
- A list of family physicians.
- A list of important family information; the style and serial number of medical devices, such as pacemakers.
- Special items for infants, elderly, or disabled family members.

Escape Plan

In a fire or other emergency, you may need to evacuate your house, apartment, or mobile home on a moment's notice. You should be ready to get out fast.

Develop an escape plan by drawing a floor plan of your residence. Using a black or blue pen, show the location of doors, windows, stairways, and large furniture. Indicate the location of emergency supplies (Disaster Supplies Kit), fire extinguishers, smoke detectors, collapsible ladders, first aid kits, and utility shut off points. Next, use a colored pen to draw a broken line charting at least two escape routes from each room. Finally, mark a place outside of the home where household members should meet in case of fire. Be sure to include important points outside, such as garages, patios, stairways, elevators, driveways, and porches. If your home has more than two floors, use an additional sheet of paper. Practice emergency evacuation drills with all household members at least two times each year.

Home Hazard Hunt

- In a disaster, ordinary items in the home can cause injury and damage. Anything that can move, fall, break, or cause a fire is a potential hazard.
- Repair defective electrical wiring and leaky gas connections.
- Fasten shelves securely.
- Place large, heavy objects on lower shelves.
- Hang pictures and mirrors away from beds.
- Brace overhead light fixtures.
- Secure water heater. Strap to wall studs.
- Repair cracks in ceilings or foundations.
- Store weed killers, pesticides, and flammable products away from heat sources.
- Place oily polishing rags or waste in covered metal cans.
- Clean and repair chimneys, flue pipes, vent connectors, and gas vents.

If You Need to Evacuate. . .

- Listen to a battery-powered radio for the location of emergency shelters.
- Follow instructions of local officials.
- Wear protective clothing and sturdy shoes.
- Take your Disaster Supplies Kit.
- Lock your home.
- Use travel routes specified by local officials.

If you are sure you have time ...

- Shut off water, gas, and electricity, if instructed to do so.
- Let others know when you left and where you are going.
- Make arrangements for pets. Animals are not be allowed in public shelters.

Prepare an Emergency Car Kit Include:

- Battery powered radio and extra batteries
- Flashlight and extra batteries
- Blanket
- Booster cables
- Fire extinguisher (5 lb., A-B-C type)
- First aid kit and manual
- Bottled water and non-perishable high energy foods, such as granola bars, raisins and peanut butter.
- Maps

- Shovel
- Tire repair kit and pump
- Flares

Fire Safety

- Plan two escape routes out of each room.
- Teach family members to stay low to the ground when escaping from a fire.
- Teach family members never to open doors that are hot. In a fire, feel the bottom of the door with the palm of your hand. If it is hot, do not open the door. Find another way out.
- Install smoke detectors. Clean and test smoke detectors once a month.
- Change batteries at least once a year.
- Keep a whistle in each bedroom to awaken household members in case of fire.
- Check electrical outlets. Do not overload outlets.
- Purchase a fire extinguisher (5 lb., A-B-C type).
- Have a collapsible ladder on each upper floor of your house.
- Consider installing home sprinklers.

Krav Maga

Official Isreali System Of Self Defense

History

Krav Maga first appeared approx. 40 years ago, making it one of the most modern self defense methods. It was created for use by the Israeli Defense forces. The IDF needed to teach self defense to a variety of people with varying abilities in a very short amount of time. Krav Maga was integrated into army training by Imi Lichenfield, a career IDF officer and chief instructor at the armys physical training facility at Wingate Institute. Imi is still active involved in the Krav Maga Association and maintains the role of president.

Through the years, the system came to be used not only by the IDF but also by Israeli's security forces, the Mosad and the police. This system is computer tested, reexamined and adjusted on an ongoing basis. Krav Maga focuses on building readiness, physical fitness and confidence. Krav Maga is taught in many public schools in Israel.

Content

The style includes techniques utilized in Aikido, Karate, boxing, Judo and Jujitsu as well as a variety of techniques from a number of less well known defense methods.

The style looks to build on a persons natural reflexes so that initially, the student can build up a repertoire of simple but effective techniques for various threatening situations including necklocks/chokes/bear hugs/shirt holds and arm grabs. Krav Maga has no katas or specific sequences that must be followed. Students use the basic/core sequence of moves in conjunction with any one of a number of other dynamic moves to fend off an attack, the key idea being adaptability to new situations through improvisation. Also in the initial stages, students are taught to kick and punch effectively. The punching being drawn from boxing as opposed to the traditional martial art styles and low kicks to knee and groin being emphasized. Also the beginner is taught to be able to fall and roll correctly.

In later stages, restraining techniques along with neck and wrist manipulation are learned along with ground-based drills. At this stage, techniques for dealing with an armed opponent are introduced. Weapons include stick, knife, gun, and bayonet rifle. Also it is not assumed that you are always unarmed and so proficiency with a knife and stick are also taught.

As training continues, learning to deal with more than one armed opponent are introduced. These situations do not have specific sequences as predicting the actions of two people is near impossible and so the student must use and adapt what he has learned so far to cope with a 'chaotic' situation.

At the highest levels, hostage situations are introduced i.e. drills to deal with a 3rd person being threatened with a gun also Military techniques of covert debilitation and assassination are shown.

Emphasis is put on speed, endurance, strength, accuracy and co-ordination especially for intensive Krav Maga training.

Attire/Equipment

Initially all a beginner needs to wear are - casual track suit bottoms, soft/light shoes and a t-shirt, the preferred color of the T-shirt being white.

However if training is progressed, other equipment gradually accumulated is shin-pads, groin cup, mouth guard, gi and a set of boxing gloves.

Purpose

A major difference between Krav Maga and other martial art forms lies in the fact that this style has no rules. The student is taught where vulnerable points on the human body are and is encouraged to use that knowledge in fending off an attack. This is a style that was developed for street use only. Due to this there are no competitive tournaments. Krav Maga has a belt ranking system. White belts for beginners, followed by yellow, orange, green, blue, brown and black. All certificates come direct from the Krav Maga Association in Israel.

Note: After 9-11 the rules have changed. These are the classic rules of surviving a hijacking. So you should still learn these. All bets are still off!

Recommend book: (Combating Air Terrorism)

1. Travel with an airline that has no or few political enemies.

2. Do not wear Army or ex-Army clothing.

3. Do not carry on your luggage in Army issue bags or rucksacks.

4. If the plane is hijacked, keep quiet and don't draw attention to yourself.

5. Observe the terrorist's activities very carefully. If you do escape, you'll be able to help secure forces.

6. Stay in tourist class. 'Neutral' seating in tourist class is less likely to attract attention than first class. If the terrorists wish to show their determination, they may shoot hostages, and these are likely to have been chosen from passengers who are obviously important.

7. If kept in close quarters with a hijacker, talk about your own and his family. Making yourself a real, normal person in his eyes will be better. Don't talk politics.

8. If you can feign symptoms of sickness and keep it up, you may be released in an interim deal.

9. Don't wear religious or other insignia. The hijackers may not share your beliefs! No T-shirts with political slogans either!
10. Travel in loose, comfortable clothing. If you are hijacked you'll have to keep yourself cool, clean and healthy for some time. Play mind games to keep yourself sane.
11. Don't carry military documents on board. Pack them in your main luggage. If a hijacker finds out you're connected, you'll be singled out for rough treatment.
12. If the aircraft you are on is hijacked the best way to stay alive is not to attract attention. When hijackers make their move, they are looking for opposition. Anyone who looks like they're trying to stop them is likely to be shot.
13. Keep your eyes open, your mouth shut... and don't volunteer for anything!
14. If it looks like you going to die fight back.

America's Struggle with Chemical-Biological Warfare This study tracks events relating to the Department of Defense's CB warfare program between 1968 and 1990, as it evolved up to the Gulf War. It also details how the military develops and procures CB defense equipment to protect today's soldiers. Mauroni draws parallels between the development of binary chemical weapons, the chemical demilitarization program, and the DoD CB terrorism response efforts, as each has very similar issues and solutions. He seeks to educate leading officials and the general public about the facts behind CB warfare and the options for coping with it in the future. With proper training and equipment, the challenge of CB warfare can be met and dealt with on the modern battlefield.

- Hidden Killers: Deadly Viruses Learn all about the basics of viruses, their evolutionary history, their discovery, what vaccines have been developed, and how they may evolve in the future. Find out how viruses infect and how you can prevent infection. Examine profiles of diseases caused by viruses: polio, measles, AIDs, ebola, smallpox, and more. The threat of military and terrorist uses of viruses as biological weapons is also studied at this excellent site.
- Historical Survey of Chemical and Biological Warfare This page provides a historical survey of chemical and biological warfare and discusses the current state of affairs.
- History of Biological Warfare This site provides a historical perspective of biological warfare.
- History of Chemical and Biological Warfare This document provides a short history of biochemical warfare and discusses the current state of affairs.
- Johns Hopkins University Center for Civilian Biodefense Studies The Center for Civilian Biodefense Studies established this Web site as one of its communication tools in helping avert bioterrorism and its devastating effects. Its goal is to educate their colleagues, public leaders, and the traditional response community in the medical and public health aspects of a bioattack. It provides up-to-date information on the biological agents of greatest concern and explores ways to prevent, and respond to their use on civilians. In addition, this site serves as an expanding repository for relevant news, conferences, background reading, and other bioterrorism-related resources.
- "Mad Scientists" - South Africa's chemical and biological weapons programme The site provides extensive archives of articles and links relating to the apartheid government's projects and the current trial of their mastermind - Dr Wouter Basson, dubbed "Dr Death" by the South African media.
- Microbiology 101: Biological Weapons and Malignant Biology: An Internet Text An awesome site from Washington State University! Check out the text and recent news section. The text includes the history of BW, Definition of Biological Weapons, Advantages and Disadvantages of Biological Weapons, Perfect Biological Weapons, List of Proven and Possible Biological Weapons, Viral and Bacterial Biological Weapons, Biologically Derived Bioactive Substance (BDBS), Genetically Modified BW, Ethnic Bomb, Biological Weapons Delivery, etc.
- Joint Service Chemical-Biological Information System \(JSCBIS\)

- Soviet Germ War Legacy Lives On \(MSNBC\) Great video link. For decades, Soviet scientists tested some of the deadliest germs in the world on Renaissance Island in the Aral Sea. Now their work is buried in a shallow, sandy grave -- alive and, according to experts, a major threat to everyone. By Dana Lewis.
- Sverdlovsk-- Bacteriological Tragedy in Sverdlovsk \(1979\)
- The Tao of Chemical-Biological Warfare This website is intended to present the subject of CBW in a form that is understandable and suitable for mastering the topic. This website concentrates on the operational aspects of CBW... a device is used that assumes a neutral tone that assumes no objection to the use of CBW in conflict. The devise is not an endorsement for the use of CBW, just a convenient means to explain how CBW could be used hypothetically.

- Toxins- Potential Weapons from Living Organisms (OPCW)
- Weapons of Mass Destruction in the Middle East Comprehensive CNS site on WMD in the Middle East. A must read!
- Who has Chem-Bio Weapons? Page from the Center for Defense Information's Chem-Bio Weapons Site. The page lists countries that are known to possess or to be actively seeking some form of chem-bio weapons capability.
- Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry - USA Prevents exposure and adverse human health effects and diminished quality of life associated with exposure to hazardous substances from waste sites, unplanned releases, and other sources.
- American Chemical Society \(ACS\) Publications This page serves as an entryway to all of the ACS publications. Subscription information as well as current journal article highlights are available.
- American Institute of Chemical Engineers \(AIChE\) AIChE is a nonprofit organization providing leadership to the chemical engineering profession. Representing 57,000 members in industry, academia, and government, AIChE provides forums to advance the theory and practice of the profession, upholds high professional standards and ethics, and supports excellence in education.
- ChemDex Chemical Database Sheffield's Chemdex has existed on the WWW since 1993 and exists to maintain an international directory of chemistry on the internet. There are 4050+ links in the Chemdex. Almost any information related to chemistry can be found on this page.
- ChemFinder Searching The ChemFinder WebServer is designed to make it as easy as possible to locate common types of chemical information. You may enter a chemical name, formula, molecular weight, or CAS Registry Number. The ChemFinder WebServer will identify the type of search you want and provide the hits accordingly. It will also allow you to view your chemical structures in ChemDraw or Chem3D. You will need to download the ChemDraw Plugin and/or Chem3D Plugin and use the Plug-In-enhanced version of the ChemFinder WebServer.
- Chemistry SparkNotes Simple and easy-to-understand notes on Chemistry fundamentals.

- CHEMystery Great site! CHEMystery, a virtual chemistry textbook, provides an interactive guide for high school chemistry students. In addition, CHEMystery allows you to further expand your chemistry knowledge by letting you interact with other Internet resources on the World Wide Web.
- The Chemical Engineers' Resource Page This website focuses on chemical engineering information and news.
- Chemistry Teaching Resources This is a comprehensive list of chemistry teaching resources on the Internet. From the Department of Analytical Chemistry, Umeå University, Sweden.
- ChE.Com McGraw Hill's Chemical Engineering magazine online.
- Chemist's Art Gallery The Chemist's Art Gallery contains spectacular visualization and animations in chemistry done at the Visualization and Animation Laboratory at CSC and groups at other locations.
- Chemistry Department Homepage, US Military Academy The homepage includes information about the current faculty, their research interests, course descriptions, and facilities.
- Chemistry Department Homepage, US Naval Academy
- Chemistry Course Notes by Tom Stretton Tom Stretton's Homepage provides information on nuclear chemistry, entropy, organic chemistry, molecular architecture, etc. Great primer for a chemistry novice and good refresher/reference.
- Chemistry of CW Agents Excellent site! Follow the links on the table to find detailed information about CW agents. It provides detailed scholarship on the chemistry of CW agents that is required to understand their demilitarization and their behavior in the environment.
- Chemistry of Lethal Chemical Warfare \(CW\) Agents Everything you wanted to know about lethal chemical warfare agents (Mitretek)
- Chemistry of Other Military Compounds Everything you wanted to know about other military compounds (Mitretek)
- ChemInfo Searchable Database This database offers comprehensive, summarized occupational health and safety information for chemicals.
- Chemistry Humor: Molecules with Silly or Unusual Names
- ChemSpy.com The Internet Navigator for the Chemical Industry. ChemSpy.com makes the most important Chemistry and Chemical Engineering related www-Databases readily accessible. At ChemSpy.com you can do general searches choosing from a number of search engines like AltaVista, Yahoo, Lycos etc. You can do specific chemistry related searches using the ChemIndustry.com or the Chemedia.com search engine. ChemSpy.com helps you to find chemistry and chemical engineering related terms, definitions, synonyms, acronyms and abbreviations. Also search forms for finding MSDS/safety data, scientific publications in over 20.000 different journals, physical data of chemical compounds, worldwide patents are available.

- HSELINE Searchable Database HSELINE is a key source of over 184,000 references to the UK Health and Safety Executive (HSE) and other European literature.
- International Chemistry and Science Education Great Site! An important aim of the World Chemistry website is to develop interactive content for chemistry students. For example, students can use the pH sketcher applet to sketch graphs of acid-base titrations on-line and then check their work against a computer generated example. The World Chemistry website is based at the Leipzig International School, Germany. Membership is free and only takes a few seconds to apply. The content of this website is typically suitable for students aged 16 to 19 who are taking advanced chemistry courses. World Chemistry was winner in the education category of the 1998 Pirelli INTERNETional multimedia competition. The competition recognizes developments in multimedia that promote the a world-wide scientific culture.
- Journal of Chemical Education
- Links for Chemists Links for Chemists is an index of over 7,850 chemistry resources on the web. It is the Chemistry section of The WWW Virtual Library.
- MSDS- Chemical Agent Material Safety Data Sheets \(MSDS\) CBDCOM's MSDS for common chemical agents
- MSDS- Material Safety Data Sheets \(MSDS\) A great source for MSDS. (University of Kentucky)
- MSDS- Material Safety Data Sheets \(MSDS\) Where to find MSDSs on the Internet...links to many sites.
- MSDS Searchable Index The MSDS database is a collection of approximately 100,000 MSDSs for chemical product information provided directly from the manufacturer.
- NIOSH Pocket Guide to Chemical Hazards The guide is published by the US Dept of Health and Human Services. It is an excellent reference and will give you some idea of whether or not the C2A1 cannister on a military protective mask will protect you against a particular industrial chemical.
- NIOSHTIC Searchable Database NIOSHTIC is a bibliographical database that provides comprehensive international coverage of documents on occupational health and safety, as well as related fields.

- NIST Chemistry WebBook NIST Standard Reference Database Number 69 - February 2000 Release. The National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) uses its best efforts to provide thermochemical, thermophysical, and ion energetics data (compiled by NIST under the Standard Reference Data Program).
- PharmWeb PharmWeb is the first-stop Internet site for pharmaceutical information. It is a structured pharmaceutical information server that services pharmaceutical and health related organizations.
- Possible Mechanisms of Action for Chemical Warfare Gases Excellent paper by Galen Daryl Knight and Vitale Therapeutics, Inc.
- RTECS Searchable Database The NISHTIC Registry of Toxic Effects of Chemical Substances (RTECS) database contains detailed profiles of over 140,000 chemical substances.
- Tom's Free Chemistry Software Reference A comprehensive collection of links to free chemistry-related software on the Internet. You will find programs to balance chemical equations to fitting data from a glc-resolved x-ray photoelectron spectroscopy (ARXPS).
- Top 20 Chemistry Sites This site contains a directory and selection of the best chemistry-related sites on the Internet. It contains links to numerous sites and includes topics as: chem 101, analytical chem, organic chem, biochemistry, physical chem, chromatography, electrochemistry, elements, and polymers.
- U.S. Chemical Safety and Hazard Investigation Board \(CSB\) The CSB is an independent, scientific investigatory agency. The principal role of the chemical safety board is to investigate accidents to determine the conditions and circumstances which led up to the event and to identify the cause(s) so that similar events might be prevented.
- University of Wisconsin Chemistry Homepage Great page....lots of information and links.
- Vanderbilt Environmental Health and Safety Vanderbilt's site contains information and links regarding radioactive licensing and use, industrial hygiene, occupational safety, and food safety.
- WebElement's Periodic Table WebElements aims to be a high quality source of information on the WWW relating to the periodic table. You will find thousands of graphics showing elements structures and periodic properties here. Author: Mark Winter [University of Sheffield, England], Royal Society of Chemistry 1998 HE Teaching Award winner.

NUCLEAR WARFARE Information

The Nuclear Weapons FAQ \(Frequently Asked Questions\) Someone named Carey Sublette has taken the initiative to answer whatever questions the rest of us may have regarding nuclear weapons in this FAQ. Since a nuclear exchange is the next escalation of the dialogue between us and Osama bin Laden, these questions and answers may be of interest to some of us. :-) This document is all over the Web, but this link is to one of the best two or three-updated sites where it can be found.

The High Energy Weapons Archive: A Guide to Nuclear Weapons As much as I want to think of the FAS (Federation of American Scientists) as a large, pacifistic pain in the ass, I cannot deny that they are painstakingly objective and complete in their presentation of military and technical facts. I have had occasion to use them when the Department of Defense's own Internet resources have proven either incomplete or unreliable, and so have several authors of official U.S. Department of Defense Web sites and more formal publications.

The "Real" Deal about Nuclear, Bio, and Chem Attacks
by SFC Red Thomas (Ret)

Since the media has decided to scare everyone with predictions of chemical, biological, or nuclear warfare on our turf I decided to write a paper and keep things in their proper perspective. I am a retired military weapons, munitions, and training expert.

Lesson number one: In the mid 1990's there were a series of nerve gas attacks on crowded Japanese subway stations. Given perfect conditions for an attack less than 10% of the people there were injured (the injured were better in a few hours) and only one percent of the injured died. 60 Minutes once had a fellow telling us that one drop of nerve gas could kill a thousand people, well he didn't tell you the thousand dead people per drop was theoretical. Drill Sergeants exaggerate how terrible this stuff was to keep the recruits awake in class (I know this because I was a Drill Sergeant too).

Forget everything you've ever seen on TV, in the movies, or read in a novel about this stuff, it was all a lie (read this sentence again out loud!!)

These weapons are about terror, if you remain calm, you will probably not die. This is far less scary than the media and their "Experts," make it sound.

Chemical weapons are categorized as Nerve, Blood, Blister, and Incapacitating agents Contrary to the hype of reporters and politicians they are not weapons of mass destruction they are "Area denial," and terror weapons that don't destroy anything. When you leave the area you almost always leave the risk. That's the difference; you can leave the area and the risk; soldiers may have to stay put and sit through it and that's why they need all that spiffy gear.

These are not gasses, they are vapors and/or air borne particles. The agent must be delivered in sufficient quantity to kill/injure, and that defines when/how it's used. Every day we have a morning and evening inversion where "stuff," suspended in the air gets pushed down. This inversion is why allergies (pollen) and air pollution are worst at these times of the day.

So, a chemical attack will have it's best effect an hour or so either side of sunrise/sunset. Also, being vapors and airborne particles they are heavier than air so they will seek low places like ditches, basements and underground garages. This stuff won't work when it's freezing, it doesn't last when it's hot, and wind spreads it too thin too fast. They've got to get this stuff on you, or, get you to inhale it for it to work. They also have to get the concentration of chemicals high enough to kill or wound you. Too little and it's nothing, too much and it's wasted.

What I hope you've gathered by this point is that a chemical weapons attack that kills a lot of people is incredibly hard to do with military grade agents and equipment so you can imagine how hard it will be for terrorists.

The more you know about this stuff the more you realize how hard it is to use.

We'll start by talking about nerve agents. You have these in your house, plain old bug killer (like Raid) is nerve agent. All nerve agents work the same way; they are cholinesterase inhibitors that mess up the signals your nervous system uses to make your body function. It can harm you if you get it on your skin but it works best if they can get you to inhale it. If you don't die in the first minute and you can leave the area you're probably gonna live. The military's antidote for all nerve agents is atropine and pralidoxime chloride. Neither one of these does anything to cure the nerve agent, they send your body into overdrive to keep you alive for five minutes, after that the agent is used up. Your best protection is fresh air and staying calm. Listed below are the symptoms for nerve agent poisoning.

Sudden headache, Dimness of vision (someone you're looking at will have pinpointed pupils), Runny nose, Excessive saliva or drooling, Difficulty breathing, Tightness in chest, Nausea, Stomach cramps, Twitching of exposed skin where a liquid just got on you.

If you are in public and you start experiencing these symptoms, first ask yourself, did anything out of the ordinary just happen, a loud pop, did someone spray something on the crowd? Are other people getting sick too?

Is there an odor of new mown hay, green corn, something fruity, or camphor where it shouldn't be?

If the answer is yes, then calmly (if you panic you breathe faster and inhale more air/poison) leave the area and head up wind, or, outside. Fresh air is the best "right now antidote". If you have a blob of liquid that looks like molasses or Kayro syrup on you; blot it or scrape it off and away from yourself with anything disposable. This stuff works based on your body weight, what a crop duster uses to kill bugs won't hurt you unless you stand there and breathe it in real deep, then lick the residue off the ground for while. Remember they have to do all the work, they have to get the concentration up and keep it up for several minutes while all you have to do is quit getting it on you/quit breathing it by putting space between you and the attack.

Blood agents are cyanide or arsine which effect your blood's ability to provide oxygen to your tissue. The scenario for attack would be the same as nerve agent. Look for a pop or someone splashing/spraying something and folks around there getting woozy/falling down. The telltale smells are bitter almonds or garlic where it shouldn't be. The symptoms are blue lips, blue under the fingernails, rapid breathing. The military's antidote is amyl nitride and just like nerve agent antidote it just keeps your body working for five minutes till the toxins are used up. Fresh air is the your best individual chance. Blister agents (distilled mustard) are so nasty that nobody wants to even handle it let alone use it. It's almost impossible to handle safely and may have delayed effect of up to 12 hours. The attack scenario is also limited to the things you'd see from other chemicals. If you do get large, painful blisters for no apparent reason, don't pop them, if you must, don't let the liquid from the blister get on any other area, the stuff just keeps on spreading. It's just as likely to harm the user as the target. Soap, water, sunshine, and fresh air are this stuff's enemy.

Bottom line on chemical weapons (it's the same if they use industrial chemical spills); they are intended to make you panic, to terrorize you, to herd you like sheep to the wolves. If there is an attack, leave the area and go upwind, or to the sides of the wind stream. They have to get the stuff to you, and on you. You're more likely to be hurt by a drunk driver on any given day than be hurt by one of these attacks. Your odds get better if you leave the area. Soap, water, time, and fresh air really deal this stuff a knock_out_punch. Don't let fear of an isolated attack rule your life. The odds are really on your side.

Nuclear bombs. These are the only weapons of mass destruction on earth. The effects of a nuclear bomb are heat, blast, EMP, and radiation. If you see a bright flash of light like the sun, where the sun isn't, fall to the ground!

The heat will be over a second. Then there will be two blast waves, one out going, and one on it's way back. Don't stand up to see what happened after the first wave; anything that's going to happen will have happened in two full minutes.

These will be low yield devices and will not level whole cities. If you live through the heat, blast, and initial burst of radiation, you'll probably live for a very very long time. Radiation will not create fifty foot tall women, or giant ants and grass hoppers the size of tanks. These will be at the most 1 kiloton bombs; that's the equivalent of 1,000 tons of TNT.

Here's the real deal, flying debris and radiation will kill a lot of exposed (not all!) people within a half mile of the blast. Under perfect conditions this is about a half mile circle of death and destruction, but, when it's done it's done. EMP stands for Electro Magnetic Pulse and it will fry every electronic device for a good distance, it's impossible to say what and how far but probably not over a couple of miles from ground zero is a good guess. Cars, cell phones, computers, ATMs, you name it, all will be out of order.

There are lots of kinds of radiation, you only need to worry about three, the others you have lived with for years. You need to worry about "Ionizing radiation," these are little sub atomic particles that go whizzing along at the speed of light. They hit individual cells in your body, kill the nucleus and keep on going. That's how you get radiation poisoning, you have so many dead cells in your body that the decaying cells poison you. It's the same as people getting radiation treatments for cancer, only a bigger area gets radiated. The good news is you don't have to just sit there and take it, and there's lots you can do rather than panic. First; your skin will stop alpha particles, a page of a news paper or your clothing will stop beta particles, you just gotta try and avoid inhaling dust that's contaminated with atoms that are emitting these things and you'll be generally safe from them.

Gamma rays are particles that travel like rays (quantum physics makes my brain hurt) and they create the same damage as alpha and beta particles only they keep going and kill lots of cells as they go all the way through your body. It takes a lot to stop these things, lots of dense material, on the other hand it takes a lot of this to kill you.

Your defense is as always to not panic. Basic hygiene and normal preparation are your friends. All canned or frozen food is safe to eat. The radiation poisoning will not effect plants so fruits and vegetables are OK if there's no dust on em (rinse em off if there is). If you don't have running water and you need to collect rain water or use water from wherever, just let it sit for thirty minutes and skim off the water gently from the top. The dust with the bad stuff in it will settle and the remaining water can be used for the toilet which will still work if you have a bucket of water to pour in the tank.

Finally there's biological warfare. There's not much to cover here. Basic personal hygiene and sanitation will take you further than a million doctors. Wash your hands often, don't share drinks, food, sloppy kisses, etc., ... with strangers. Keep your garbage can with a tight lid on it, don't have standing water (like old buckets, ditches, or kiddie pools) laying around to allow mosquitoes breeding room. This stuff is carried by vectors, that is bugs, rodents, and contaminated material. If biological warfare is so easy as the TV makes it sound, why has Saddam Hussein spent twenty years, millions, and millions of dollars trying to get it right? If you're clean of person and home you eat well and are active you're gonna live.

Overall preparation for any terrorist attack is the same as you'd take for a big storm. If you want a gas mask, fine, go get one. I know this stuff and I'm not getting one and I told my Mom not to bother with one either (how's that for confidence). We have a week's worth of cash, several days worth of canned goods and plenty of soap and water. We don't leave stuff out to attract bugs or rodents so we don't have them.

These people can't conceive a nation this big with this much resources. These weapons are made to cause panic, terror, and to demoralize. If we don't run around like sheep they won't use this stuff after they find out it's no fun. The government is going nuts over this stuff because they have to protect every inch of America. You've only gotta protect yourself, and by doing that, you help the country.

Finally, there are millions of caveats to everything I wrote here and you can think up specific scenarios where my advice isn't the best. This letter is supposed to help the greatest number of people under the greatest number of situations. If you don't like my work, don't nit pick, just sit down and explain chemical, nuclear, and biological warfare in a document around three pages long yourself. This is how we the people of the United States can rob these people of their most desired goal, your terror.
