To Whom It May Concern:

It is with the greatest pleasure that I write this letter of recommendation for Clyde Mann. Clyde is a former participant in our EWYL Institute. I was extremely pleased with the professional manner in which Clyde participated in this institute and took on the responsibility of project management with his students during the following school year as he completed his project with his students. He was consistent and thorough in his work. I found him to be an independent, but collaborative, worker. He accepted constructive criticism in a positive and proactive way. I would be happy to work with Clyde again.

I highly recommend Clyde for any similar job. He is versatile, talented and dedicated teacher. I feel he has a great career ahead of him. Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions.
