

Traveling the World with our Flat Friends

_____, 2009

Dear _____,

Thank you so much for hosting my flat traveler. My traveler's name is "Flat _____." He/She is based on the book Flat Stanley by Jeff Brown and is about a boy who was flattened when a bulletin board accidentally fell on him. He uses his flatness to travel the world and visit exciting new places.

As you will notice, Flat _____ travels light and only carries a one-page journal sheet to learn about the places visited. It is Flat _____'s hope that you would take her/him somewhere exciting near your home, take a photo together, complete the one-page journal and mail it all back to me within a week or two. The sooner you return Flat _____ to me, the sooner Flat _____ can go on a new exciting adventure. I will be collecting all of the journal pages and photos into a special book to remember these travels and also learn a bit of geography.

I am doing this project as a part of my 1st grade Creative Kids Co-op class. We meet Friday mornings in Harrisonburg, Virginia. I look forward to sharing my stories with my classmates.

Have a great time with Flat _____. I've included my address below. Thank you so much for allowing us to visit with you!

Address: _____

Sincerely,
