Mask Description

In the beginning I wanted my mask to be white with red lips, blue and purple eye shadow also with green eyes. But then I realized I wanted her to be the dead Antigone. To be honest, I didn't know what it was until Mrs. Duke "helped" me. I finally ended up putting color; I ended up really liking it. The emotion of my mask is death, which I like because it's interesting. Antigone was a very strong woman who believed in herself, and strong willed. I believe she looks like a beautiful woman. I think she has pretty eyes and nice smooth skin. But that side of her is not represented in my mask.

Her personality is cool; she can be nice when she wants to. But sometimes the darkness inside of her can be invoked. My mask has a long triangular nose, green eyes, and a fairly long tongue.

I have many different colors. My mask is separated into four sections, each with different colors. The nose is yellow with purplish lines outlining it. The lips are a maroon color with a lime green color outlining it. The nose is very long and it looks like a triangle. I also have a tongue sticking out of the mouth.

When I did the colors on my mask I didn't really concentrate on one certain color, I just kept adding different colors I had mixed together. The greenish color on the top right side represents, youthfulness, energy, and it also implies some envy. The top left is mostly a blue color which represents, heaven, spirituality, and sadness. The purplish color on the bottom left represents power, pride, and wisdom. The bottom right is an orange and black color, it's kind of mixed emotions, and these colors represent depression and unconsciousness. The yellow lines and nose represent insight and intellect. This mask represents Antigone because the meaning of the colors is what I believe she was like.

My mask fulfills this assignment because it, in my opinion, is done well and for the fact that it is actually finished. I think this mask is something that the Greeks might appreciate because there is so many different emotions all in one mask.
