

Antigone is the sister of Ismene and wants to bury her brother who is the traitor of the family. His name is Polynices and none of the family wants to bury him.

To me Antigone seems like an independent character. She seems different from others. She has what seems to me to be like a cocky attitude towards people. She acts like a leader and makes up her own mind and does what she wants to do no matter what the consequences are. She seems very strong minded towards others. I picture Antigone having long straight brown hair and dark brown eyes.

My mask is of Antigone and in making the mask I had a picture of Antigone being an ugly girl. Most women in old pictures that I have seen are not attractive. I gave Antigone gooty eyes to make her look slightly ugly. I painted the mask purple because purple is a royal color that is different and it is dark and compassionate which are all details that describe Antigone. The color purple is also independent and different from others like Antigone. To me the mask represents the way I feel that Antigone should look it is the image I had of her. I pictured Antigone with purple because she is so strong minded and different and the purple mask represents her royalty and Independence to me.
