Financial Derivatives Part I (PFD01)

Participants will acquire a better understanding of financial derivatives through the building of Yield Curves. They would in turn, also be able to apply the relevant financial derivatives to manage interest rate/foreign exchange/equity/commodity risk exposures for their respective organizations.

Financial Derivatives Part II (PFD02)

Participants will be equipped with the additional tools, such as Credit Derivatives and Exotic Options, in the risk management "toolkit". This will in turn allow them to arrive at more optimal and effective hedging structures.

Financial Market Risk Management (PRM01)

Participants will gain an understanding of the notion of Value-at-Risk. With this knowledge, they can better measure and manage the various sources of financial market risk that the organization is exposed.

Firm-Wide Risk Management (PRM02)

Participants will acquire a good basic foundational grounding on the various forms of firm-wide financial risk exposures that exists and the techniques available to measure, monitor and manage such risks.

Treasury Management (PTM01)

Participants will acquire a good basic introduction to the key issues involved in Treasury Management, which will then empower them to better their treasuries.

Islamic Banking (PIB01)

Participants will acquire a good basic foundational grounding in the Shariah Laws governing Islamic Banking, and will understand the fundamental principals behind these laws.
