

“SIX NAILS AND A HAMMER”

The project which was planned would be simple she thought, so off to the hardware store for materials to be bought

The clerk at the store who waited on Nancy was, as she observed, a grouch of the third degree.

With patients and care the board and nails, which was bought, would do the job, well the clerk and Nancy thought.

As it happened other materials and effort would be needed to complete the task, so Nancy's thoughts were as she meekly asks.

Pray tell what more could there be, than three small boards, six nails and a hammer and her energy?

So a neighbor of hers with tools of all kind took the boards and began you see, to cut them the way Nancy couldn't believe.

An hour and a half later you would not believe, what her neighbor had done to those boards for Nancy.

The project she had in mind for the boards to be was a 'veggie slicing platform to be used at the Flea Market by Nancy.

Success is the end of this story she tells, of her experience with her neighbor, three small boards and six nails.

To, for, and about Nancy Adam, a
Good and wonderful friend to William T. (Bill) Richardson, Jr.