

~SHARING THE TRUTH WITH OTHERS ~

If you don't have the ability or the confidence to talk to someone about Christ, then try to share your faith with these suggestions:

1. Put a tract into the envelope when paying bills by mail.
2. Instead of sending general cards (birthday, get well, anniversary), send cards with a Scripture reference.
3. Leave gospel tracts with your tips at restaurants. (Be sure you have conducted yourself in a Christian manner as a customer.)
4. Invite the children of your neighborhood into your home to watch a Christian video or to go to Bible classes with you on Sunday.
5. Give Christian books as gifts or awards.
6. Carry a supply of information with you to leave in bathrooms and waiting rooms.
7. Invite non-church-going friends to social activities of the church.
8. Put a "flyer" about gospel meetings, lectureships and other church functions on car windshields.
9. Refer your friends who are having marital or family problems to Christian counseling.
10. Contribute Christian books and videos to your public library and church library.
11. Put a Christian message on your answering machine.
12. Have a fellowship in your home, and invite Christians and non-Christians to your home.
13. Send a note through the mail to invite your friends to church services or church lectureship.

During the week while out driving with a friend, pay the church building a visit, which breaks down the fear of the unknown or "strangeness".

Via The South Florida Avenue "Messenger" copied from Glad Tidings of Good Things, Jacksonville, AL