EARTHQUEST (Canada) for the Environment presents:

Canada's first international Biological Field School

This Field School will provide a wide diversity of academic programs for people interested in field biology, ornithology, botany, ethnobotany and primatology.

Since 1996, EARTHQUEST has been running educational programs in Canada, North America, Central and South America as well as southeast Asia,

EARTHQUEST is affiliated with numerous non-profit environmental organizations worldwide such as the Jane Goodall Institute- Canada, Volunteers for Peace, and the United Nations International Year for the Volunteer programs

Graduates of our programs have found work locally with the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources, Bird Studies Canada, the Long Point Bird Observatory, consulting firms and Conservation Authorities.

Still, here at home,

You may receive practical field experience and training in...

-  Data collection techniques, analysis and interpretation.
-  Field identification techniques and methodology
-  Scientific report writing and submission requirements for Ecological Land Classifications, Environmentally Sensitive Areas, etc.
-  Field research techniques and methodology

We are ready to accept applications for 3 - 6 month semester programs combined with internship opportunities

EARTHQUEST (Canada) is dedicated to raising awareness and financial support for environmental initiatives in conservation, protection, and restoration of endangered, threatened or vulnerable species and their habitats.
