Small but terrible, Achiever in class. Bid Two No Trumps and went Down Seven against Archie. Very industrious worker. Worked 4 days and 3 nights straight to finish his oceanography final exam, then the next day, wanted to go discoing (jok lang, Ferds!). "Labo naman pards" is his favorite comment. He had so many crushes but ended up with no one. Because of over excitement about his too easy final exam in PI 100, he ended up in the infirmary after he fell unconscious on the floor. Anyway, he completed this after 2 semesters. He became the most difficult puzzle among the first batch. . . when he handed his baby picture.

- Member, UP Balanghal

The apple of the first batch girls' eyes. Got the nicest pair of smiling eyes. A very sports-minded person. In fact, the first Sports Com Chairman of Katig. Always remembered with his line in volleyball, "Bula, bula Bicks", "ditu Bicks", sit (set) ang bula", and "siy (say) my bul". A prime contributor of points to Katig during Sportsfest. A boy-majorette with the ballpen as his baton. One among the first breadwinners of Katig. Butuanong daku, latagaw'ng clarol

A typical student from Isabela. Aside from the knowledge UP has imparted in her, no change has been made on her innocence and humble looks. She still retains her shouts and giggles, ignoring the classes going on around her. One of the silent types in class but whose voice can be distinguished from the noise immediately after school. A lady of few words but with a will of steel. She acts as the pacifier, and referee at times when the sea gets rough.

- Art Editor, "Ang Manginglada" 1983-1984
- Batch Leader, Marine Majors Batch '84

If you ever notice a guy with the thickest pair of eyeglasses – that's Chong. The most intellectual looking guy you'll ever see; also, a singer who barely made it past the bathroom. A Chem partner who never tires of washing equipments but still gets a 20% error. A video game addict, he'll drop everything(!), even his GF (wala kasal eh!) to play. A Microscopic Calligraphy awardee (Prof. Fernandez mentioned more than once that he needed a magnifying glass to correct his paper). A guy with no vices – never drinks, smokes nor gambles (he just likes girls. . .). An inane cartoonist, and a die-hard wargamer.

Curly haired and bespectacled, that's Arlene at first sight. A mathematical genius, she can solve anything from $E = mc^2$ to $a^2 = b^2 + c^2 - 2bc \cos a$. As a friend, she's ok, as a classmate, gosh! Who would want to be with her in a math class, perennially getting a perfect score while the rest of the class just hopes to get a passing mark. A physics wizard because she's the favorite of her teacher. Don't ever malign Sharon Cuneta's name or you'll get a taste of her ire! With Arlene, you'll always be at ease, down to earth as she is. If you walk along the corridor and somebody gives you a slap on the back, well you've just been greeted by Arlene.

Nelson Donayre

Mr. Punch line kid. Very rarely speaks up but when he does, you can be sure its a punchline (he's a joke himself). Sustained massive injuries (to his ego) after being literally bowled over by a loaded cod end which outweighed him at a hundred to one. "Pusoy"king who beat the odds consistently enough to make a living off his fellow players. No mean singer, but still a slave to the allmighty Visayan accent. (As are most of his contemporaries) Broke the silence the silence of the group when he seriously asked, "Ano kaya kung ang Nanay mo'y lalaki?" Don't be surprised if he greets you with a HELOW!

A very simple lady yet very hard to understand. One of the founding members of the Katig's hard to get Club. Looks so "payat" but could outrun you in sprint and in marathon. Known in the College as religiously conservative. . . (if we only know!) Often mentioned as resembling Marianne de la Riva. . . especially the mole! Bedimpled lady with a ready smile and bewitching eyes that could transform the most solid cardiac organ into warm liquid.

Slim girl with determined attitude towards studies, sports, and life. Nice to be with. Singkamas Girl. Smiling. Infectious laughter. . . scientific Japanese student, never forgetting her "Ohayo gozaimasu" and "sayonara." Everybody's friend, simple yet adorable. Once when with a strange twist of the alarm clock, she found herself in school at 6 a.m. — mind you for her 7 a.m. class.

"The 'chickboy' of the UP Katig. Professor of bridge games after mastering five bridge books. Idealistic achiever. A person whose presence is heavily felt. An epitome of an ideal member. The re-incarnated editor-in-chief of 'Ang Mangingisda'. Got that contagious laughter. Binabagyo ang tambayan pag naka-on ang kanyang hangin. The guy who slept with the championship trophy to savour a few precious moments.

The girl with a Mona Lisa smile. Always there when and where you don't need her. Her kulits could drive you crazy. Very simple girl with a complicated mind. Always in a rush and ended up finishing her course in three years. Can be depended upon to give very hard questions about 3 minutes before the bell, hence, almost always gets the ire of the teacher. . . and her classmates! (Biro mo, na-late kami dahil sa kanya!)

Babes, simple as she is, has an eye for color and good dressing. That's why at times some get envious of her choices. She's a stickler for minding her own business, and you minding yours. Some might misinterpret her, but she is just being herself at all times. When a show-down is in order, she still comes out a winner, and people still sympathize.

Incongruous mix of Davao City rustic/Manila sophisticate. She easily gets a friend but never a boyfriend. Her smile is always mistaken as laughter. The "frozen grin." The original Jaws 2. No. 1 fan of a certain 3rd batch member ((bakit kaya?)). Old enough to vote twice. Always displaying her nail polish color.

LOLITA TOMELDEN LOPEZ
"OYET"

There is never a dull moment with this girl, especially when you're seatmates in a most boring subject. She is that lass whose warm company would make you feel at home the moment you start talking. She's bound to brighten up your day with wisecracks and close-up smile. She has a pair of eyes that can't conceal her feelings – she never tolerates snobs. Believes that action speak louder than words. Give her the chance to lead the way and everything will be fine.

ENRICO HERNANDEZ MERCADO

"Urwai ako sa Batangas!" Sheepish but with a charming smile. A great practitioner of the Mariner's motto: "girl in every port." A very simple person with a very simple need (just chicks) KABAYAN! Could afford to forget to wear his shorts but never to bring his comb.

The girl with the close-up smile. The former Eskinol girl turned Oil of Olay lady. Obsessed with the desire to replace the Oblation (with clothes, of course!). A true Filipina and Maria Clara in essence. She's not just brains, she's also a runner, a volleyball player (wearing heels). Silent type, humble, mahinhin, and ultra conservative. But you should see her with her group — you'll surely get disillusioned. A proofreader's proofreader. A frustrated operatic singer but still with ambitions to replace Kuh Ledesma.

BELINDA SILVESTRE MIRANDA

Achievements:

The most mahinhin of the batch. . . until she starts laughing. serious looks are a perfect disguise for her bubbly disposition. Her laughter sounds like bells, just like her nickname. She is also very forgiving and ever patient lady. And she knows where priority lies in her life. A spirit-filled girl who can turn away any bad body to a saint just to win her heart. Never runs out of faith-edifying truths to tell. Indeed, the Bible has a big influence in her life.

A practicing scientist. Formulated a real lot of hypotheses regarding her allergy but never put a bit of blame upon her extra super concentrated coffee which in the end was found out to be the primary culprit. Known as a pollution indicator. Property custodian of Katig and the secretary who's efficient and dependable. Sessile, in other words "madaling hulihin." Can be anything and everything but not a drinker. Ever thoughtful. Super kulit. "Malinis na 'yari" (to a laboratory partner).

The most dancier lady of the first batch next to Alma. Still finds ways to get high marks in Chem 120 despite working at McDonalds. A very trusting person. . . no wonder she leaves her wallet anytime, anywhere (in other words, malimutin). So smiley that she can always smile her way through anything (almost, that is). A budding businesswoman. Keenly responsive to the challenge of adventure. If you're ever in dire need of a friend, call on her!
