

MALE

C+W
OR
POP

©
1998

Dies a Little Every Day

Words & Music by Bobby C. Royce, Sammie Lee Marler & Dave Cole
(c) 1998 by Five Roses Music Group

Now everything will wash away
Like sands upon life's shore
Each grain is given so much time
And not one moment more
And from the the cradle to the grave
Each kiss will chip away
For what it's worth, each thing at birth
Dies a little every day

Now nothin' lasts forever
Life ain't no endless wheel
And every game of poker
Must have a final deal
What goes around must come around
It's always been that way
And everything, including love
Dies a little every day

You never know when your time's up
It's true like it or not
The first time some gal winks at you
Start signing for your plot
A ring goes on her finger
And the noose is on the way
Before too long, love's old sweet song
Dies a little every day

Five Roses Music Group
3200 CYPRESS MILL RD
APT 917
BRUNSWICK GA 31525-2863
912-264-9837

SAMMIE MARLER @ GMAIL.COM