

OFF WITH THEIR HEAD/LINE NEWS

By off the wall correspondent Don Meinshausen

Things are becoming chaotic now in Pakistan. The US is allied with the prime minister and head of the military Mushariff, to support democracy and fight terrorism. He has, like so many others allied with America, suspended elections and imprisoned lawyers, political activists and members of the media. This goes along with Bush's view that like in America such characters are behind the terrorists since they are not supporting the government. America might have to send troops eastward. This would also be in accord with Bush's military policy of Vietnamization. By moving his military forces east he will eventually end in Vietnam. This will make our soldiers safer since they are away from the Moslem terrorists. This way they will be able to deal with the original source of the problem which is the Vietnam syndrome and deal with it once and for all. It would also deal with the problem of those who miss the 60's.

Benazir Bhutto a former prime minister of Pakistan and the daughter of politicians is leading a protest against Mushariff's martial law. She stole money and repressed rights as well when she was in charge showing that even in Arab nations women can be the equal of men. We have not heard of any connections to the Clinton campaign. (This was written before I heard that she was assassinated)

The conflict in Pakistan between Mushariff and Bhutto is essential in the fight to keep Bin Laden out of the headlines and therefore out of power. If you are in the limelight you win even if the show bombs as it might literally do. Don't forget that Pakistan has nuclear weapons. If you gotta go you gotta glow.

Ben and Jerry's announced today a new ice cream named for a celebrity. They have been criticized for political prejudice and have decided to launch a new flavor that will appeal to Republicans before they all melt away. It's in honor of George Bush and his current plight. It's a mixture of two flavors of melting ice caps with candy throughout. It's called M&M Peach Mint

George Bush despite all his difficulties has picked d up support for an idea picked up from his heads of state friends from overseas. The idea is to suspend the Constitution and remain in office indefinitely. The idea is being roundly supported from comedians all over the country who were once seen as his most bitter enemies. Bush is the Saudi Arabia of Comic material and for that reason must be maintained as a natural resource to be exploited especially since our supplies are being cut off with the writer's strike.

Bush said that the withdrawal of US troops from Iraq should take many years, even centuries. But if withdrawal happens early there is always Jeb Bush ready to make another go of it in 2012.to guarantee that commitment.

It seems that many of Bush's neo-con supporters are now finding a home in the Guiliani campaign. The two politicians have much in common since both of their political lives are based on the use of the police and 9/11. In a related note, former police commissioner of

New York City, Kerik; who was a close confidant and appointed by Guiliani was recently indicted on corruption charges. Sometimes one can copy a playbook too closely.

Guiliani received the religious right broadcaster Robertson's support recently. Guiliani as you might recall has been divorced three times, pro choice and had affairs, endorses gay rights and has dressed in drag. Robertson believes that Giuliani is less of a hypocrite in that he is seeking to himself model after televangelists rather than just copying their rhetoric

.Mike Huckabee, former governor announced that he does not believe in evolution. Judging from his positions I doubt whether evolution believes in him either. He is from Hope, Arkansas where Bill Clinton hails from. This area has been suspected for a long time used as a toxic waste site and it shows. Huckabee will continue the Arkansas traditions of backroom deals and looting the public treasury that unite both Republicans and Democrats all over the country.

The office of the vice president recently had a fire. Unfortunately Vice President Dick Cheney was not present. Halliburton was not involved in fire control there since they were putting out fires in Iraq Firemen were hesitant about going there to put out the fire until they were reassured that he and his rifle were not present. Damage control was difficult as Karl Rove no longer has an office in the White House and Karl has been having damage control problems of his own. Rest assured that somehow the Democrats or the media will be implicated in this flaming.

As a convicted dealer I am shocked, shocked by former senator Mitchell's investigation in drug use by baseball players. Some players that were named are wondering if their records might be taken away from them. As a convicted druggie I have no fear about losing my record. Many dealers here wonder how they could have missed such an opportunity in sports marketing. In the pursuit of fairness perhaps there could be an investigation by baseball players as to the use of drugs in Congress? The government has been bulking up for years accompanied by strange anger and mood swings which are indicative of steroid use. Of course drug use by baseball players is more shocking since they are considered an American model of fair play, competition and ability while Congress is considered to be a model of monopoly privilege, venality and price gouging much like the team owners. I wonder what the odds are for such MVPs as Barry Bonds and others to be excluded from the Hall of Fame for their lawbreaking. I know how we can find the odds. Let's call Pete Rose.

President Bush's popularity has stabilized and even inching up. This has happened even though he promises even more press conferences in the future. Could this popularity be just one more bad consequence of the writer's strike that has put all the late night talk shows and Comedy Central into reruns?

Living things and sex

The Maypole is a bird standing tall With ribboned plumage bright We hold its feathers one and all And take ready for flight	If then Maypole is a wild horse Maypole's a wooden bit We then direct it on its course With ribbon. There we sit.	Maypole reach is like a long arm Our ribbons inside our fist Here we are protected from all harm While around its palm we twist
They say that Maypole is God's beak Could be true I suppose It does not smell. It does not speak Its use? God's only nose	Earth's a horse, Maypole's a unicorn What else could Maypole be? So come and dance around the horn So drink and Blessed Be!	At the Maypole we may linger But please do not fidget It could extend, give the finger It's a single digit
So say Maypole is what you sing Or that its yang and yin Or say that it's a new God's wing Matter of a pinion	With a Maypole we like to prance And horse around with you No defenses, just a free lance I'll throw that out to you	Maypole's the best part of a man As women will do talk And they'll put it into their plan They see a dildo stalk
Maypole is like a feather shaft That helps a bird steer with When maneuvering through a draft Stay in touch with your pith	The Maypole is a riding crop To urge the horse of Spring Ribbons flail, helps us hop To the beat of a Spring	At Maypole time some partners trade It's an ancient story We've poled -best time for getting laid May-polyamory
The Maypole is in the birds and bees Its time to get it straight The season for fertilities Let's go May-pollinate	For Maypole is a beast above With ribbons hang a tail To play with him we show our love And entertwine a tale	Anoint the Maypole so say some That's why we give an oint- Ment that it should look like pre cum That is you get the point
Maypole's a wonderful creature It's just like one of us Having undiscovered features That's why we make a fuss	Fur from here Maypole's like a paw And pa could give you paws Reaching out it can give you awe As you look for the caws	We lift our Maypole, our Manhood With our arms we tote him We put it straight and it is good And we are the scrotum
Could Maypole be then a giraffe That escaped from the zoo? If not then explain 'fore you laugh Such types as me and you	Behind the smile, Maypole's a fang We chews with our molar That's only if you fight our gang It seems May Bipolar	Maypole is a mighty phallus Ribbons are flying sperm Let the womb be a great palace When Lammas comes to term
If the Earth's a Blessed Bee Maypole is a stinger And if others can't let us be They'll go through a wringer	The Maypole is seen as a peg Or so it could be put No I'm not pulling your leg For magick is a foot	We stand with our gods, it's our right It's like a mighty phallus For we know through our sacred rite It will never fail us
On Maypole hangs many a snake (Ribbons. They are snappy) They intermingle for our sake Drawing closer. We're happy	The Maypole is the Green Man spine The ribbon ligaments We send up signals up the line In ev'ry pig-a-ments	Say Maypole's a stick in the mud A first step to start earth Or you say we're pulling our pud A first step to our birth
Maypole is such a dragonfly Its nose is in the ground A ribbon wing will take you high A new existence found	Maypole is a rib of long standing It comes from Beltaine Eve We make our myths. It's our branding The makeup of believe	There's no fear about Maypole see We're just having a ball No performance anxiety We'll rise after a fall
I guess that to all us pole cats Maypole's a scratching post Better than a race that's for rats Is the Beltaine we host	So Maypole is like a femur Am I pulling your leg? You cannot stand if you demur Will bring you down a peg	Beltaine is when the Maypole comes Ribbons cum to mind Orgasm, rebirth and it sums That ribbons must rewind

Tools, liquids

The axe is the first holy tool Maypole's the cutting edge The ribbon lines it sets the rule Therefore we give our pledge	Maypole is a pile placed in the ground Upon we build our keep Constructed will be built quite sound And sound will be our sleep	It's based on precipitation Depends on what you dew Gods rain on imagination Maypole dew what you do
The Maypole is a knitting needle On which we weave our yarn For the tale you'll have to wheedle That's if you give a darn	Maypole is the hands together Showing noon on the clock Ribbons keep us all in tether With our friends, it's a lock	Maypole is so wet with magic So ribbons wring it out This, of course, can not be tragic Let your joy ring it out
Round the Maypole we gladly wrench A turning then a screw With happiness we do then drench All of our faithful crew	Maypole is a fireplace poker Prod love's flaming tinder Burst into flame to poke her Then burst into a cinder	Could it be Maypole's a tampon? Pull ribbon to ask why Now you know why your rain hat's on Fertility from sky
Maypole's a needle and some thread A tapestry to sew Over and under we are lead And sew we make it so	Is Maypole a surveyor's rod? To map out what is grand We divine the measure of our god Love the lay of the land	Could Maypole be a waterspout? It's a wooden geyser The energy just all pours out Coming from a riser
To hold rail and tie together Think Maypole as a spike To work both must be in tether Then we rail where we like	Maypole's the turning of the screw With ribbons turning round And it's done by our faithful crew As we all party down	Where we need to fish from the deep Maypole is a harpoon From memory's depths or our sleep Spear answers from the moon
A Maypole's role it gives its awl This helps us make our point It opens us we give our all Its power helps anoint	So is Maypole like a clothespin To hold ribbons in line Hang out to dry after we spin What else could be so fine?	Maypole can gush like a fountain With ribboned flowing streams Like a lava rush down a mountain That comes into your dreams
Maypole's a shovel in the ground Put in place it's quite big To show that its earth and sky bound We're attached. Can you dig?	Work the Earth, Maypole's implement Perhaps it is a hoe It sounds not like a compliment But dig, it's apropos	Its underwater spectacles An octopus did Ribbons floating like tentacles Love Maypole-Oh you squid!
Maypole could well be the linchpin Of what we're all about So grab a ribbon and pitch in And we'll remove all doubt	The Maypole is good for a rake It's good for their re-leaf About this pole there is no mistake And that is our be-leaf	Maypole's a helper for plumbers Energy unclogged here This stirs up things till Midsummer's Energy unfogged hear
Do Maypole dance you know the drill And drills go round and round Maypole is the point of your will To center you will ground	On board our Maypole is a mast Our ribbons hold the sail On voyage our mates hold on fast Until the Gods we hail	Beltaine is the season's cocktail Maypole's the swizzle stick So come join us for cakes and ale Have a round take your pick
Part of the stairway to heaven It's in a balustrade Dance more Maypoles and you'll even Get up them, have it made	The Maypole branch gives us support A trellis for our vine Our press brings forth a mighty port To Bacchus with its wine	In April's rains we seek shelter Umbrella for our woes Under ribbons helter skelter Maypole friends on our toes
For the Maypole is a ladder On witch the soul does climb Twirling like ribbon or adder To the place without time	A pipeline flowing heavenward Is a Maypole on Earth Our ribbons flow with the word Of Peace and with our worth	The Maypole is Goddesses' scepter Over Earth She does reign It's an energy receptor Over the Earth She does rain