

Sun Fire

By Donald Meinshausen
Melody – Crazy World of Arthur Brown

Sun fire, Summer's Delight      Sun Fire, Sun at its height
We'll see you burn      And the World Turns

Sun's Fire; Baldur is Light      Baldur, Odin's Delight
From you we learn      As the World Turns

The World's Way is not to be spurned
For to do so is to be burned

Yes that is the way we know
And it always has been so
So on we go – on we go

Baldur, pride of our sight      Baldur, emblem so bright
Can fire be turned      So you're not burned?

Baldur, target all right      Baldur, so is the rite
Your fates concern      Past and modern

The world's way is to be turned
That's the way we've always learned

This is the way that winds blow
And the way the oceans flow
So on we row-on we row

Baldur, now struck with might      Baldur we see your plight
Now will we burn      Or the world turn?

Baldur, sun becomes night
Baldur, where is our light?
When will we learn
Can you return?

The Way of Life is to be learned
The way of Strife is to be spurned

First we pray for the summer heat
Then pray for cool and then repeat

The wheel turns
The wheel turns

Fire and its return
