Department of Uro-Nephrology:

This department was inaugurated by Dr Shankar Dayal Sharma, President of India, on 22 November 1992. As of 2002, about 100 kidneys have been transplanted. In all these cases, blood related donors were allowed to donate kidneys. The recipient and the donor were given free drugs, investigations, blood, IV fluids, etc.

In the Dialysis section, there are 5 dialysis machines for Haemodialysis, one of which has been reserved only for infectious cases. Peritoneal dialysis is also a very frequent procedure. Other conditions treated include:

- Urolithiasis and some of the Calculi are giant-sized. Renal damage due to Urolithiasis is significant.
- Genito Urinary Tuberculosis.
- Traumatic Urethral conditions particularly strictures.
- Bladder Cancer.

The Uro-Nephrology department has everything that modern technology has to offer, including laser for almost bloodless removal of enlarged prostate, early cancer of the urinary bladder, and uretric calculi.
