Air Wellness benefits:

- Produces negative ions, like those in the air of forests and near waterfalls.
- Patent-pending technology that does not produce ozone, a toxic gas.
- Uses aroma to influence mood or emotion, to reduce stress, relax or stimulate.
- Even at its highest speed, it is quiet as a library.
- Photocatalytic filter in the Power5 requires no UV lamp during operation, saving energy and producing no ultraviolet rays.
- Takes the guesswork out of replacing filters, to ensure top performance at all times.
- Designed to make replacing filters a quick, neat operation. No filter cleaning is necessary — simply remove and replace.
- The unit resists static electricity buildup, to avoid shock.
- Detects ambient pollution level automatically, to begin operation in automatic mode.
- Activates the air purifying function when pollution, dust or odors are in the air.
- Cuts off electrical power if the unit is tilted or tipped, to avoid accidents.
- Can be moved easily for portability and housecleaning.
- A multifunction remote allows the Power5 to be turned on or off, or the timer to be set.

QUICK REFERENCE SHEET

Feel the wellness in the air.

- In Japan, a walk through a forest or by a mountain stream (where high amounts of negative ions are present) is regarded as therapy for mental stress, which the Japanese call shinrin-yoku, “forest-air breathing.”
- Human beings function best in the surroundings where they lived for thousands of years — the natural world. The Nikken Power5 features many technologies that are inspired by natural forces, to re-create the systems in nature that help to provide clean, fresh, invigorating air.
- We are indoors 90 percent of the time. More than 65 percent of that time is spent at home. This can mean exposure to very high levels of indoor air pollution.
- Daily exposure to indoor pollution can be from two to five times higher — sometimes as much as 100 times higher — than outdoor pollutants!
- Carpeting, furniture, paint, cleaning agents, building materials, paneling and glues can emit chemical vapors. Dust, pet dander, pollen and odors are typically in household air. Mold, mildew, and dust mites may be present. Even gases such as radon and carbon monoxide are found in measurable quantities in many homes.
- The Power5 features a patent-pending system for producing negative ions. Known as clean ion generation, this unique technology operates without producing ozone. Ozone is classified by the United States Environmental Protection Agency as a toxic gas.
- HEPA filters were first developed for use with nuclear reactors. They are now used in medical operating rooms, in high-tech industries and other applications where clean, pure air is critically important. The Nikken Clean HEPA System filters at 99.97% efficiency.
- The photocatalytic filter in the Power5 operates without requiring an ultraviolet light — unlike other photocatalysts that need ultraviolet radiation.
- Aromas are known to lead to reactions such as mood changes. Scents can make us recall distant memories, vividly and immediately. The sense of smell is a physical link to our emotional state.

Quick Sharing Tip

Food, water, and sleep are all important, but air is the most immediate need. It's something we use several times a minute! What could be more worthwhile than improving our air quality? On average, the groups who spend the most time at home are children and the elderly. Good indoor air quality is even more essential for them.
