

Your Free Poster from FreEzine

For the duration of this special offer, FreEzine will make available a free A4 sized poster each month. Posters will require Adobe Acrobat Reader (Available free from www.adobe.com, although most readers will have Adobe Acrobat on their computers already.) and can be printed on any computer printer. Each poster is provided in two versions, one in colour and one in Black & White. (Some posters have a second B&W version included for dot-matrix printers) Posters can be enlarged on a photocopier if desired.

To print your poster, select PRINT from the FILE menu and choose the page number according to the colour version you require

In some issues more than one poster will be available under this section and posters will need to be asked for by name to save confusion. We have no separate mailing list for the automatic despatch of posters in this section so a separate request will need to be made for each poster. Posters are sent only as email attachments and may be obtained free by writing during the free offer period to the editor and asking for the poster by name.

©Copyright FreEzine 2001.

Posters may be freely duplicated provided the copyright notice is left intact.

Poster designed by Lionel D C Hartley & Distributed by FreEzine

FreEzine is a

Free Monthly Christian Online Magazine:
Send a blank email to Lionelhartley@bigpond.com
and type SUBSCRIBE in the subject line.

(you can unsubscribe at any time)

For seminar information - www.geocities.com/info_seminars
(Salubrity Seminars)

For other Freebies

www.geocities.com/gratisgift

Make money writing - check out

<http://www.geocities.com/freepublish>

Visit our Electronic Book Library -

http://www.geocities.com/ebook_library

A Sponge Knoweth No Discrimination

a fable by Lionel Hartley.

The frog - he had a problem. His pond was far too green. Another's pond was bluer (he heard the birds had seen). But Froggie had an answer: he'd suck up all the green, and so he bought a bath sponge - the biggest ever seen! Well, sponges have no manners. They suck up good and bad. And very soon an empty pond was all that poor frog had.

A sponge does no deciding - only you can choose.

Expose your mind to evil and you will surely lose.

By choosing what you see and hear; what you eat and do, then you control

the input and you won't get sucked in too!

A Sponge Knoweth No Discrimination

a fable by Lionel Hartley.

The frog - he had a problem. His pond was far too green. Another's pond was bluer (he heard the birds had seen). But Froggie had an answer: he'd suck up all the green, and so he bought a bath sponge - the biggest ever seen! Well, sponges have no manners. They suck up good and bad. And very soon an empty pond was all that poor frog had.

A sponge does no deciding - only you can choose. Expose your mind to evil and you will surely lose. By choosing what you see and hear; what you eat and do, then you control the input and you won't get sucked in too!

