Greetings from the 2004-2006 Undergraduate Chapter Coordinator

Sorors, it is with pleasure that I greet you as the Southeast Region Undergraduate Chapter Coordinator for 2004-2006. I am honored to have the opportunity to serve our great sisterhood in this capacity.

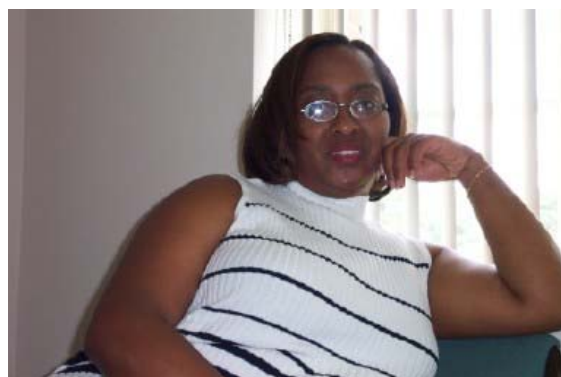

I mentioned in my campaign that I was very concerned with empowering the "Younger Women in Sigma." Undergraduates are truly the lifeline of Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority, Incorporated. We need you. We want you. It is my duty to insure that you are trained and knowledgeable about the business of Sigma. It is my desire that you know and understand just how much you are needed and that your talents and input are welcomed. I want to leave the impression that while I was in this position, undergraduates were at the table of Sigma ready to take care of business and that they "knew what they were doing." I want everyone to remember that I am that soror who will "keep it real... with love."

The theme set forth by our International Grand Basileus, Dr. Mynora J. Bryant, is "The Power of Vision: Innovation, Collaboration, and Implementation." What a wonderful theme to fit this time in our history. Sigma, with her variety and potential, is positioned for growth and people will take notice that we are a premiere organization for women truly dedicated to rendering service in our communities.

With the innovative ideas of the Undergraduates, working in collaboration with graduate chapters, we can implement our national programs on our campuses and in the community and show the world that Sigma Gamma Rho is an organization of visionary, powerful, strong and blue-tiful women who believe that with greater service there is greater progress.

Aurora Magazine New Submission Guidelines Now Available

Soror Rasheeda S. Hakeem, the newly elected Editor-in-Chief for the Aurora Magazine has just released the new submission guidelines for our national publication. This information will be available at the area meetings.

If you need a copy, please contact me at griena@aol.com or check out the undergraduate information webpage at <http://www.geocities.com/grienaknight4ucc>.

The Aurora Magazine will also have two new sections. The first section is "From Him" and will feature a guest male writer that will address issues relevant to us from a male perspective. The second new section is entitled "Sister's Keeper." In this section you will be able to submit questions that will be answered anonymously by sorors with expertise in the area of your concern.

Look for your next edition of the Aurora Magazine coming soon.

All Undergraduate Chapters are asked to submit a copy of their "chapter bylaws" to the Regional Undergraduate Chapter Coordinator by October 31, 2004. (This can be emailed in .doc format only.) Chapters who comply will be entered in a drawing for a blue-tiful SGRho pendant and chain, a wonderful gift for your chapter advisor or chapter basileus. (Drawing will be held on December 1, 2004) Chapters are also asked to submit the update form which is located on the webpage at <http://www.geocities.com/grienaknight4ucc>

Southeast Regional Conference 2005 in the Beautiful Virgin Islands

Sorors! Get Ready!

Our Syntaktes, Soror Jennifer A. Gunn is pleased to announce that the 2005 Southeast Regional Conference will be held in St. Thomas, Virgin Islands at the Marriott Fisherman's Reef Hotel, June 9th through the 12th. This regional conference plans to be informative and fun.

Morning activities will include regular business meetings. The afternoons will allow you to experience the Islands with a tour and a Kankiki boat cruise.

Other conference events will include the banquet and the prayer breakfast.

Registration will be $200 for all Sorors and Affiliates. Check American or Delta Airlines for the best rates on travel to St. Thomas.

More information on this conference will be available at the area meetings.
