Dear ~~Friend~~, <<Salutation,>>

In Guatemala, little Magdalena isn't aware of rising food and fuel costs. All she knows is hunger.

We've all felt the effects of increased costs recently. But imagine the impact on children in impoverished countries. Guatemala continues to have the highest rate of child malnutrition in the region, and Haiti remains the poorest country in our hemisphere.

That's why I had to accept offers of nearly $11 million worth of food for hungry children in Guatemala and Haiti — even though we don't have the money to ship it. The USDA and other partners have donated the food, and I'm begging you to help me deliver it.

These donations of more than 34 million pounds of free food are an amazing blessing. Because the food is already paid for, every $1 you donate will ship $4.69 worth of food to hungry families.

For the sake of precious children like Magdalena, I cannot bear the thought of missing out on this opportunity to help so many. We must find a way to deliver this lifesaving food, and your gift today will help enormously. Please, do whatever you can to help.

<<Salutation,>> hungry children desperately need your help. Your gift of <<$XX>> will be a tremendous blessing.

Robin
