

How To Increase Sexual Chemistry In Women

Written by Ash Ariffin

Page 1 of 2

At a certain junction in a woman's life, they tend to realise that their sexual drive has arrived at a new low and their desire to make love will fall significantly. This is especially true for woman that is starting to experience their menopause period or for those that have just given birth. How severe this matter will get depends on how mentally different these women are. What ever the case is, we as men, carry a responsibility to keep our spouse sexually aroused in order to enjoy a long lasting relationship.

There are various ways to counter this challenge; some of the women prefer pills, some just love sex toys while most of them just wish for more attention and love from their partner. All of these have to be taken into consideration on which of these methods are essentially safe for our spouse or partner and simultaneously it is highly effective in leading them to enjoy sexually intimacy again.

A product called "Viacreme" is highly in favour for most of the women who turn to medical products to enhance their sexual desire. The users of this product have testified that with it, they enjoy sexual intimacy even more than they used to. Not only that they find their sexual encounters more pleasurable, they even find it even more satisfying than before.

How these products are actually applied is not much of an issue. The cream is easily applied to the genital area and it formulates a tingling and warm sensation that increases the sensation that is stirred by their partners. On the other hand, there are also ready available supplements or herbs like Ginger Rot, Damiana Leaf and Red Clover, that women can use or consume to enhance their sexual desire.

Other than supplements and creams, the main factor on arousing a woman's sexual desire is no other than the partner himself. He will be the one supplying all the pleasure and enhancing of senses. Foreplay is very important and he has to first grab her attention before going to bed. Women are not sex slaves or prostitutes! Hugs and kisses are crucial because it represents close affection and makes women feel loved. Women simply love all the attention that they can receive and nothing can ever be compared to having a good loving hug and a kiss from the husband or spouse after a tiring day at work.

Another possible way is to massage her regularly and give back rubs. Scientifically, it has proven that massages and back rubs enhances the sexual desire and almost 80% of all massages and back rubs finishes off in a spicy sexual episode. This explains why most men have sexual affairs in massage parlours. The reason behind this finding is that the human body releases "Oxytocin" during a massage or back rub which sequentially releases a hormone in the human body making them to crave in responding the lovely feeling.

How To Increase Sexual Chemistry In Women

Written by Ash Ariffin

Page 2 of 2

Hence, by touching each other or massage one another, both partners would want to respond to each other and there is no other pleasurable way than to have a sexual intimacy. This is the secret to increase sexual chemistry between couples. Massages and back rubs are highly recommended to couples and hopefully, a long lasting relationship will come in return.

Actually, women are not hard to be pleased, both physically and emotionally and even sexually. You need not be a love guru to truly understand that sexual chemistry between couples should come naturally and enjoy the true meaning of love from deep within yourself.

.....

Verbally Retarded