Diary Entry #236

As of today, Mary Manhon has officially become Mary Larkin. I am curious and excited for this journey of marriage, and I am glad that Mary was able to come to America in good health. I know it must have been hard for her to leave her family behind, it is apparent to us that neither of us are going back. And although we will not be there to see our own parents' demise, neither of us regret travelling here. There is so much opportunity for us here that we would have never had back in Ireland.
