

Works Cited

Baldetti, Denice. "The Irish Potato Famine." Crinkles, 2004, pp. 39-42, SIRS Discoverer, <http://discoverer.prod.sirs.com>. This source is from a magazine called Crinkles, published by LMS Associates LLC. This article focuses on the topic of the potato famine. It depicts the beginning, middle, and end of the blight with great detail. Things like Irish immigration, disease, and Irish life in America are all subtopics covered by this article. It goes in depth on almost every topic related to the famine. Denice Baldetti, the author, has not only a masters in library and information science, but also an M.ED in elementary education and a BA in interior design. Her masters in library and information science comes from Kent State University in Ohio. Her M.ED is from Arizona State University, and her BA in interior design is from Bowling Green State University where she also got a minor in library science. The purpose of the article is to inform readers on the potato famine. This source gives me information about the famine, which is the time period in which Patrick left Ireland. It is also believed that the famine was the reason that Patrick left for America.

Bartoletti, Susan Campbell. Black Potatoes. New York, Susan Campbell Bartoletti, 2001.

---. Black Potatoes. New York, Susan Campbell Bartoletti, 2001.

"Blacksmithing." Ask About Ireland, www.askaboutireland.ie/learning-zone/secondary-students/art/design-craftwork/traditional-crafts-of-ireland/metal/blacksmithing/.

City of Waltham. 1847. Waltham Massachusetts, www.city.waltham.ma.us/sites/walthamma/files/file/file/1900_plate_47.jpg. Map.

Drawn Boat. Where Women Rule, travelartist.wordpress.com/2017/01/17/does-a-muslim-matriarchy-really-exist/.

Gitelman, Howard M. Workingmen Of Waltham. Baltimore, The John Hopkins University Press, 1974.

---. Workingmen Of Waltham. Baltimore, The John Hopkins University Press, 1974.

“Industrial Revolution Inventions Timeline.” American Patriotism, storiesofusa.com/industrial-revolution-inventions-timeline-1712-1942/.

“Irish Potato Famine: Coffin Ships.” The History Place, 2000,

www.historyplace.com/worldhistory/famine/coffin.htm. This source is from a website called The History Place, which is a website that writes articles on different events in history. This article covers the subject of Coffin Ships, which are the ships in which were taken from Ireland to America. Their high death rate earned them the name. The History Place is a website that has been around since 1996, and was founded by and is run by Philip Gavin. Philip has written 2 books and is featured in 3 others. The purpose of this article, (and most of the rest of the website), is to inform people on different points in history. This source gives me information on the travel experience of the Irish who decided to immigrate to America. Patrick came over to the United States during this time, so this clues me in on his journey.

“The Irish Potato Famine 1846-1850.” DoChara, www.dochara.com/the-irish/food-history/the-irish-potato-famine-1846-1850/. Accessed 31 Mar. 2017.

Joyce, P. W. "A Smaller Social History Of Ancient Ireland." Library Ireland, www.libraryireland.com/SocialHistoryAncientIreland/Contents.php.

---. "A Smaller Social History Of Ancient Ireland." Library Ireland,
www.libraryireland.com/SocialHistoryAncientIreland/Contents.php.

Mannon, Melissa. Images Of America: Waltham. Arcadia Publishing, 1998.

---. Images Of America: Waltham. Arcadia Publishing, 1998.

McFarlane, Greg. "How AT&T Makes Money." Investopedia, 18 Dec. 2017, www.investopedia.com/insights/how-att-makes-money/.

---. "How AT&T Makes Money." Investopedia, 18 Dec. 2017,
www.investopedia.com/insights/how-att-makes-money/.

Medival Athenry. O'Regan's Athenry, homepage.eircom.net/~oreganathenry/oreganathenry/visitathenry/visitathenry.html.
Accessed 2012.

Meilach, Dana Z. "The Art of Blacksmithing." Arts & Activities, 2000.

---. "The Art of Blacksmithing." Arts & Activities, 2000.

Mokyr, Joel. "Great Famine." Encyclopedia Britannica, www.britannica.com/event/Great-Famine-Irish-history. This source comes from Encyclopedia Britannica, and is written by Joel Mokyr. This article summarizes the potato famine while still giving decent enough detail for the information to be useful. Joel is a professor of arts and sciences as well as a professor of economics and history at Weinburg College of arts and sciences. He also has a Ph.D from Yale. The purpose of this article is to inform people of the potato famine. Patrick was alive during the famine and also supposedly left Ireland for America because of it.

---. "Great Famine." Encyclopedia Britannica, www.britannica.com/event/Great-Famine-Irish-history. This source comes from Encyclopedia Britannica, and is written by Joel Mokyr. This article summarizes the potato famine while still giving decent enough detail for the information to be useful. Joel is a professor of arts and sciences as well as a professor of economics and history at Weinburg College of arts and sciences. He also has a Ph.D from Yale. The purpose of this article is to inform people of the potato famine. Patrick was alive during the famine and also supposedly left Ireland for America because of it.

Old Sturbridge Village. www.osv.org/19th-century-blacksmithing. This source is an article from Old Sturbridge Village. Old Sturbridge Village is a museum depicting a rural New England town in the 1830s. This article focuses on the blacksmithing traditions of the 1800s. The purpose of this article is to inform people on blacksmithing traditions in the 19th century. Patrick was a blacksmithing living in this time period, so this article will help me understand what he did.

"Patrick Larkin Citizenship Papers." N/A.

Petersen, Kristen A. Waltham Rediscovered. Peter E. Randall, 1988.

---. Waltham Rediscovered. Peter E. Randall, 1988.

Petruzzello, Melissa. "The Mold That Wrecked Ireland." Encyclopedia Britannica,

www.britannica.com/story/the-mold-that-wrecked-ireland. This source is an article from Encyclopedia Britannica. This article goes in depth on not only the disease that affected the potatoes, but on the history of potatoes themselves. This article also depicts how the disease made it's way to Ireland, how it is spread, and a rough explanation on how it works. It explains how the plenty of Irish were evicted out of their homes, and how the famine greatly effected the population of Ireland. Melissa Petruzzello, the author, has an M.S. in Plant Biology and Conservation from Northwest University. Northwest University is known to have a low 10.7% acceptance rate as of 2016. She also has a B.S. in Biological Science from Biola University, a private Christian school near downtown LA. The purpose of this article is to inform the reader on the disease which affected the potatoes in the potato famine, as well as the impact that the potato famine had on Ireland. My topic, (my great, great, great, grandfather Patrick Larkin), was alive during this period of time, and is believed to have left Ireland because of the famine, hence how learning more would help my cause.

---. "The Mold That Wrecked Ireland." Encyclopedia Britannica,

www.britannica.com/story/the-mold-that-wrecked-ireland. This source is an article from Encyclopedia Britannica. This article goes in depth on not only the disease that affected the potatoes, but on the history of potatoes themselves. This article also depicts how the disease made it's way to Ireland, how it is spread, and a rough explanation on how it works. It explains how the plenty of Irish were evicted out of their homes, and how the famine greatly effected the population of Ireland. Melissa Petruzzello, the author, has an M.S. in Plant Biology and Conservation from Northwest University. Northwest University is known to have a low 10.7% acceptance rate as of 2016. She also has a B.S. in Biological Science from Biola University, a private Christian school near downtown

LA. The purpose of this article is to inform the reader on the disease which affected the potatoes in the potato famine, as well as the impact that the potato famine had on Ireland. My topic, (my great, great, great, grandfather Patrick Larkin), was alive during this period of time, and is believed to have left Ireland because of the famine, hence how learning more would help my cause.

Qualter, Aggie. Athenry. Self-Published, 1989.

---. Athenry. Self-Published, 1989.

United States, Congress, House. 1880 Census. Government Printing Office, 1880.

---, ---, House. 1880 Census. Government Printing Office, 1880.

“United States Census, 1900,” database with images,

FamilySearch(<https://familysearch.org/ark:/61903/1:1:M9TL-WT1> : accessed 5 March 2018), Patrick Larkin, Waltham city Ward 2, Middlesex, Massachusetts, United States; citing enumeration district (ED) 975, sheet 5A, family 102, NARA microfilm publication T623 (Washington, D.C.: National Archives and Records Administration, 1972.); FHL microfilm 1,240,667.