

Amras

Amras is the twin brother of Amrod being the youngest sons of Eänor and Nerdanel. Through their maternal grandfather Mahtan they inherited red hair, instead of Eänor's black. In the published Silmarillion Amras only appears together with his twin brother

Amrod, but in late writings which were left out of the edited Silmarillion by Christopher Tolkien the story of Amras' death at Losgar appeared. For this reason wherever both Amrod and Amras appear in the published material it could be read as Amrod alone.

