

Elwing

Elwing is Half-elfen but counted among the Elves, she saved a Silmaril from the destruction of the Havens of Sirion and, with her husband Eärendil, going to the Valar to ask their help for the people of Middle-earth.

She lost her parents Dior and Nimloth, as well as her brothers Eluréd and Elurín, in the attack on Doriath, but escaped to the Havens of Sirion, then ruled by Eärendil, whom she married. They had two sons: Eärrond and Eäros.

While Eärendil was away at sea, the remaining sons of Fëanor descended upon the Havens, killing many Elves. Ewing cast herself into the sea rather than be captured, but Ulmo changed her into a great white bird, in which form she found her husband. Lacking a home to return to, they instead went together west to Aman.

