

Morwen

The daughter of Baragund of the House of Bëor, she wedded Húrin Thalion and was the mother of Túrin Turambar. Two years after the tragic deaths of Túrin and Nienor and the slaying of Glaurung, Morwen reappeared in Brethil at the grave of Túrin and Nienor at Cabed Naeramarch. There she was found by recently released Húrin: "Grey she was, sharp-nosed with broken teeth, ... though [her eyes] were wild now and full of fear, a light still gleamed in them hard to endure: the elven-light that long ago had earned her her name, Edhelwen, proudest of mortal women in the days of old".

