Community enjoys Hammonton Democratic Fun Day Picnic

Hammonton – Over 450 Hammontonians crowded onto the fair grounds of St. Anthony’s Church for the Hammonton Democratic Party’s Community Day Picnic. Residents came to cheer on Democratic Council candidates Mike Ammirato, Anthony Falcone and Robin Ripa. Sheriff Jim McGettigan, candidate for County Executive, Russ Corby, State Senate candidate, and Michelle Rosen, State Assembly candidate also were in attendance. Children enjoyed face painting and pony rides and delighted in the chance to pet a real donkey. Adults were entertained by the Eagles’ Swoop, the Eagles’ Cheerleaders, the Atlantic City Surfs’ Splash and the music of 103.7 the Shark, Nicky G.

“Politics in Hammonton has become mean and divisive in recent years. This picnic gave us the opportunity to present our ideas in a positive forum,” said Council candidate Mike Ammirato. Council candidate Robin Ripa added, “We are taking this election very seriously. There are some very important issues facing Hammonton: uncontrolled growth, crippling debt, and infrastructure problems. So it is great to have the opportunity to share our ideas on fixing these problems and have some fun too.” Candidate Anthony Falcone explained, “A woman from Heritage Assisted Living Home told me that we she was touched that we invited residents from her facility. She said we were the first group to think of them. Well, you know something, this is how we, Democrats, plan to govern...by thinking about every member of the community when we make decisions.”

Residents are encouraged to stop by the Democratic Headquarters at 2nd and Bellevue Ave during the Halloween Parade for refreshments and to meet the candidates.
