

Lefty Visits Oz

Chapter 1

Lefty Gets Lost

Lefty is Righty's mirror twin

Lefty has a mirror twin called Righty. That is, if Lefty looks in a mirror, he sees what his twin looks like, for Lefty and Righty are black leather gloves.

Sometimes Righty likes to play tricks on Lefty. He sometimes replaces the mirror with an empty picture frame. Then, when Lefty tries to see himself in the mirror, Righty just imitates Lefty's movements. This goes on for several moments until Righty gets tired of it, and finally sticks his tongue out at Lefty. Of course Lefty then gets mad at Righty for fooling him.

Lefty and Righty have a nice master named Jim.

The main duties of Lefty and Righty are to keep Jim's hands warm in the cold winter weather in Eastern Oregon. Some years, the winters are very cold and they get worn many times during the winters. Other winters are light and they do not get worn very often.

This year was a light winter.

Lefty was getting bored of just laying around day after day. He wanted to do more work.

When Lefty did get to work, it was generally just for Jim's short trip to work. Once at work, Jim just left Lefty and his bother on the passenger's seat of the car for the rest of the day.

Finally, Lefty just could not lay there any longer doing nothing. He had to speak his mind.

"I am bored!" announced Lefty.

"It is a clear day. The sun is out," stated Righty, "so, why are you bored?"

"We just lay around here most of the day," answered Lefty. "I need a vacation. I need an adventure."

"Well, maybe we will have a heavy winter next year," responded Righty, as he tried to cheer Lefty up.

"I do not want to lie around waiting for another year," remarked Lefty. "I need an adventure now!"

"Be careful what you wish for," warned Righty. "After all, many people do not survive their adventures."

"Gloves do not last forever," stated Lefty. "We need to have our adventures soon or we will be too worn out to have one."

"Speak for yourself," said Righty. "I am content with my life as it is."

"Be that as it may, I still want some adventures," insisted Lefty.

"Would you please just be quiet and keep your thoughts to yourself," requested Righty.

"All right, I will do that, but I may not include you in my adventure," answered Lefty.
