Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing to you on behalf of a theater group in its premiere season on the North Shore. Our next production is going to be the premiere of Lineage, written by our own Co-Artistic Director, Elizabeth DuPré. Junkyard Dogs Productions Inc. is a company of theater artisans committed to presenting original productions to our audience. With the production of original works created within our company and new takes on existing works we bring a new voice to the American Stage. With community outreach and affordable ticket prices we hope to encourage a new voice from our audience. The Junkyard Dogs embrace all that is unique and extraordinary about humanity as a means of reaching a better understanding of that which we all share.

As you know many non-profit groups are getting less and less money. Both the federal and state governments have drastically cut funding and programs that support the arts, particularly in recent years. For small companies like ours this presents a particularly difficult challenge. We are committed to keeping our ticket prices affordable because we want to reach everyone in need of entertainment and education; this has always been our chief concern, and so we struggle. We cannot do it alone. We are forced to ask many for a helping hand to keep theatre alive at a time when other theater's ticket prices have gone through the roof. Many theaters have forgotten about their other audience: the human spirit.

We at Junkyard Dogs hope to change that and bring a few smiles to our audience while doing so but we need your help to achieve this goal. Please join us; be part of something new and exciting. Opportunities like this don't come often. For your convenience we have included sponsor sheets with this letter.

In addition to any gift you might be comfortable giving, we encourage you to join us at our upcoming productions. Remember: Lineage opens June 2nd! We hope to see you then.

Thank you for your time and patience.

Sincerely,

Natalie Cabral
