

Say Farewell My Love

Lyrics © 2002 Justin Eiler

Say fare-well my love, by the moon-light bright, Say fare-well my love, once more hold me tight.
Long I lay with you, but I must a - way. Long I lay with you damned be dawn of day!
Look for me by night, by the ri - sing moon, Look for me by night, mor - ning comes too soon.

By the set - ting moon I must go a - way. Soon will come the dawn, And then who can say?
I must go to war, fight for crown and king, Ra - ther would I stay more than a - ny - thing.
Hands that hold you now soon must wield a sword. I must leave you now but I give my word.

Will day bring de - feat, or sweet vic - to - ry? So, a - las, we part, ere the dawn-ing light.
Do not bid me bide, For at dawn we ride. Do not break my heart no more can I stay.
Soon the lips you miss Greet you with a kiss. Yet, for now, we part, ere the dawn-ing light.

Say fare-well my love, by the moon-light bright.
Long I lay with you, but I must a - way.
Say fare-well my love, by the moon-light bright.
