New Star Con

May 8-9th -- Holland

Report from Lt. Koi kai Drocklon

On May 8th - 9th at the Best Western Hotel "De Druiventros" -- Bosscheweg II, Berkel-Enschott (Holland), the first New Star Con was held. Attending was Lt. Koi kai Drocklon, honorary member of the IKV Executioner (Death Touch Squadron). He transmitted this report and holo-image on May 10th

REPORT

On Stardate May 9th 2004, I went to the New Star Con. I traveled by train to den Bosch. Then from Den Bosch it took me one half hour to reach my destination.

I came into the hotel, paid my fee and went to the Dealer's Room to look at the merchandise. Afterwards I walked into a room where many stars were: some of the classic Star Wars cast and others, "Your Worst Nightmare" cast (Hellraiser II and Freddy vs. Jason), and two very special guests, Dwight Schultz (A-Team and Star Trek) and Dirk Benedict (Battlestar Galactica).

There were no bodyguards, no nothing! I was very excited and I didn't know what to ask. I was in a different world. It was very strange to see the stars up close. An autographed photo was 20 Euros. A picture with both of them was 15 Euros. They are going to send it to me (above from left to right Dirk Benedict, Alberto Gorin (Koi) and Dwight Schultz). I can't believe I was sooooo close!

The next New Star Con will be in October. For more information on New Star Con go to www.newstarcon.com/

ConCarolinas

June 4-6 -- Charlotte, NC

Dark Star Quadrant

ConCarolinas was held at the Executive Marriott just off I-70 in Charlotte, NC. On Friday afternoon, members of the IKV Raging Wolf and IKV Executioner flew into the site coordinates and set up the KAG display.

Attending that Friday night were Cmdr. Keela sutai-Septaric, Lt. Katkith vestai, Lt. Cmdr. Kehlyr Muad'dib vestai-Atratties, Lt. Ka'Rowe vestai-Septaric of the Raging Wolf. Also present were Lt. Karrtush Degar vestai-Septaric, CO, and L. Captain Kaltia Knight of the IKV Executioner. Also attending was Marine Lt. K'Tarr tai, CO of the now-drydocked IKV Khitomer's Vengeance out of Columbia, SC and Cheralyn Lambeth of the IKAV Sword of Pain out of Charlotte, NC. Also in attendance was the CO of the IKV Blood Moon, Lt. Gorrath vestai, and his daughter, Cadet L. Lt. T'Bal.

Though the KAG display had not been completely assembled prior to the con, it came to gether nicely and was an excellent display of the CO quarters on board the IKV Raging Wolf. It was to be entered in the ConCarolinas Table Display Contest. A lot of money and time was poured into the effort. Unfortunately, as it turned out, KAG didn't win.

We followed the rules exactly as they were given, so we didn't have interactive people there. Apparently this was not conveyed to the judges and once again, the Stormtroopers beat us in this contest. It was very disappointing after all the effort and money spent. It was said by one judge that if the contest was based solely on display we would have gotten it. Huh ???. That's all we thought we had to do. We've been promised by ConCarolinas staff that they will make the table contest rules more clear next year. Thank you! . . . Hu-mans!!

Kehlyr wore an interesting outfit that Saturday: she was a partially assimilated Klingon Borg unit. But she got the strangest looks and it's unlikely she'll do that again! The Dealer's Room was fantastic and meeting and getting Alan Dean Foster's signature was a definite highlight. Also a highlight was meeting and greeting once again that Friend to Klingons, Stephen Euinn Cobb and his sister, Peggy Sue Cobb-Gregory (always a pleasure, foks!). Stephen has two books out now; the latest is Bones Burnt Black. Keela has read it and pronounces it great! As usual, Peggy Sue was busy documenting the travels of her talented brother and has allowed us to use some of her photography in this issue. Thanks!!!!

But Stephen's talent isn't limited to writing great science fiction! He also was doing handwriting analyses for those who purchased his book. Keela got hers analyzed during Klingon Karaoke. His analysis was very interesting and pretty much dead on! Qapla' Stephen!!

It was decided that because of the many events that Saturday AND the late hour that Klingon Karaoke was going to be, we would get a room at the con. Any of the Klingons could use that room during the day, but sleeping over involved sharing in the cost. The room was split between Keela, Katkith, Seven of Nine and Ka'Rowe. This was Seven of Nine's first convention and do you think she came "home" to sleep? Ha! With those little nanocircuitry, Borg can party late into the wee hours! (And then when she tried to sleep in that morning and Ka'Rowe started talking to her, she knew it was futile to try. So she got up and left.)

Klingon Karaoke was OK; it had a lot of competition from Rocky Horror Picture Show, but several did have a really good time with it, especially Keela and Katkith. Hearty thanks to the hu-Mans who brought their sound system and music and allowed us to hook up (literally) with them!

The next day, Sunday, there were still lots of things to do at ConCarolinas. Keela and Katkith, along with Seven of Nine, just HAD to check out the Buffy workshop. It was great. Finally all things done, we took down the KAG table, packed up and headed home. It was a great convention and everyone can't wait until next year! ConCarolinas will be June 3-5, 2005. Keela sutai-Septaric. Front row Cadet L. Lt. T'Bal, Lt. Karrtush Degar vestai-Septaric and Cheralyn Lambeth (Romulan disguised as a dimension-traveling human).

Heroes Con

June 11-13 -- Charlotte, NC

Dark Star Quadrant

Once again the Klingons of KAG flew into port at the Charlotte Convention Center on Thursday to set up the KAG table for Heroes Con. We paid for and picked up our passes to get in for the duration of the con. This is the fourth year representatives of KAG have been at this convention and we have been very well treated by Con management and well received by Con attendees. Our thanks to Shelton Drum and his Heroes Aren't Hard To Find Comic Book Store for allowing us to attend. We have also been able to raise money for Hospice of Catawba Valley at this convention and each year our donation has increased. This year we were able to give $700 to Hospice and it was immediately put on their building fund.

Early Friday, Lt. Ka'Rowe and I flew into the Charlotte Convention Center. As soon as we were allowed in (an hour before the general public) we quickly finished getting dressed and stood at the ready. We took turns walking around the convention so that we could see what was available. As traditional in past years, a certain member of the con staff wished us good morning. His name is Dustin Harbin.

He made some nice comments about the Klingons of KAG and I would like to include them here:

"As I've said in past years, the Klingon Assault Group is my very favorite booth every year. For one thing, they're by far the nicest of all our exhibitors, despite the ferocious and martial reputation Klingons seemed to have gotten over the years. I love to walk by and shout, "Good Morning, Klingons," and watch as they pound their chests and gargle something out in their strange phlegmy language. Classic!

"So remember, boys: Klingons are not nearly as unapproachable as you might think—despite the fact that there is no such thing as a Klingon, and that they're completely fictional, still relationships possibilities abound. Dig in!"

Dustin, thank you for your kind words! You are owed a big Klingon hug of thanks next year. The holo-image at left is from the Heroes website and is courtesy Shoshawna Harbin, Dustin's sister. Thanks to her as well.

BTW the next Heroes Convention will be June 24-26, 2005. For more information go to www.heroesonline.com, or check out Heroes Aren't Hard to Find in Charlotte, NC, or call 704-375-7463.

This year the Klingons were not the only Intergalactic Visitors! These two Alien ladies also graced the con. The data archive used to record their identities became corrupted, so I am unable to tell you which planet or dimension they are from, but it was nice to see fellow space travelers!

We were also pleased to see cloaked Klingon, Oleta, who works at the Charlotte Convention Center. Oleta submitted her application 3 years ago, and has been a very friendly face at the Heroes Convention!

But the Aliens mentioned above were not the only unusual beings that were spotted prowling the Heroes Convention!

Ghostbusters were also on hand to take care of those pesky poltergeists that haunt humans. And Super Heroes and Mutants galore wandered around. We only have two holo-images of these beings, but at least 8 to 10 pairs of them were spotted! It was glorious, though the Klingons long enjoyed the distinction of being the most prominently different attendees of the con for several years!

Below the Ghostbusters paused for us to record their presence and at right Storm of the X-men and Electro, a Spiderman villain allow us to use our holo-imager.
