

Project Transition

An urban outreach initiative providing scholastic enrichment and career preparation to students in the community.

Project Objective:

Project Transition is designed to assist high school students in their efforts to achieve higher education. Students are often confronted with new and unexpected challenges that can be both frightening and overwhelming. This program seeks to offer students mentoring, tutoring, and a wealth of other resources from teachers, fellow students, and college graduates that have first hand experience with the enrollment and educational processes involved in attaining higher education.

Project Partners:

- Mary M. Valentine – English Instructor, David Mackenzie High School
- Michel Curuthers – Fine Arts Instructor/Band Director, David Mackenzie High School
- Thomas Dobberstien – President, Walnut Inc.
- Kevin Blue – Application Developer/Student, Ford Motor Company/University of Michigan Dearborn
- Dr. Earnest Reatland – Computer Science Instructor, Wayne County Community College

Benefits to Participants:

- Practical information from experienced sources
- Guidance and mentoring
- Useful networking with professionals
