

Click on the K-menu start button (like the Windows Start button). Select System > Configuration > Configure Your Computer.

Type in your root password

In the Mandrake Control Center, select Boot, then double-click "Set up how the system boots".

All options on this page should remain the same. Click Next.

Click on the Windows line (it may say Windows XP Professional or similar). Click on Modify.

On the next screen (see below), there is an option, a checkbox in the upper-left corner that says "Default". Select this box, press OK.

Press finish on the Boot loader window, and exit the Mandrake Control Center.

Reboot the computer to make sure Windows is now the default.
