

This document shows how to add objects to a panel. I will use KWeather as an example

First, right-click on an empty area in the panel.

Select Add > Applet > KWeather.

Immediately, the Kweather icon shows in the panel. Since I have previously configured this applet, it already has my location's weather information showing. In most cases, it will have a big question mark with no weather information.

I will not go in to configuring this particular applet, but you can right-click the applet icon and find all options necessary.

In order to remove an object from the panel, right-click in an empty area on the panel. In this case, to remove Kweather, select Remove > Applet > KWeather.
