Bossini Import-Export Reports Record Profits

by Prescott Price

One of Sunset City's most important businesses, Bossini Import-Export Company, has reported profits far in excess of expectations. "Hey, we're just honest businessmen, making money the honest way," explained company vice-president Carlo Carlotti. "This just proves how honesty is the best policy and all that, you know?" he continued. Bossini Import-Export recently expanded into the shipbuilding business, acquiring several companies in the Wharf district, and managing to achieve much more favorable terms from the Dockworkers' Union than usual.

Lake to be Closed to Public

by Jack Kemp

City officials have agreed to close the beloved Sunset City Swan Lake to the public this Saturday, in order to allow several millionaires to conduct a private fund-raising event. City police officers will also be pulled off normal duty to provide protection for this social event.

FBI Calls for Citizen Alertness

by Kendell Caperman

The Director of the FBI has called on all American citizens to be on the lookout for any signs of foreign activity within the United States. "We have clear evidence of foreign agents at work within our borders," the Director said, "But with the aid of the American people we have no doubt of our ability to detect and defeat these enemies of freedom." The Director further called upon citizens to notify their local law-enforcement agencies of any suspicious activities.

Alert at Presidium Army Base

by Harold Moore

No explanation was given for the Condition Orange Alert called at the Presidium Army Base yesterday. Calls to the Base were not returned.

New Vigilante Reported in Town

by Hubert Hubbersmith

According to the reports of concerned citizens, a new masked man has begun leaping across the roofs of Sunset City, taking the law into his own hands. This one is called "Direwolf" by the police, and the name is rapidly spreading, striking fear into the hearts of people who have not yet seen this latest addition to the nocturnal terrors of the city's nights. Unlike Sunset City's first vigilante, the aptly named "Vigilance," this new character seems to lack any gentlemanly pretense. Perhaps the honesty of his brutality should be seen as a refreshing change.

Russian Gang Riots in Park

by Kendell Caperman

Police report that a gang of Russians were engaged in public drunkenness and hooliganism in the early hours of the morning near the statue of Sir Francis Drake. The District Attorney chose not to prosecute, and released the offenders without charges.
