Armored Madman Rampages at University

By Kendall Caperman

Police report that an unidentified man wearing a full suit of white crystalline armor went on a destructive rampage through the Science Building at Sunset University. There are no clues as to this armored malefactor's identity, nor any known reasons for his violent actions. His destructive spree was cut short by the quick action of Miss Dixie Hill, who by good fortune was in her university office at the time of the attack. Miss Hill immediately reported the crime in progress to the police, and after alerting them she managed to chase the intruder off the campus before anyone was injured. Miss Hill remained on the scene to give a full report to the authorities, and to offer them her assistance in their efforts to locate and apprehend the criminal before he can strike again. The actions of this malicious vandal are painfully similar to those with which the renegade Ironclad began his reign of terror in our fair city, and residents and civic leaders are expressing their fervent hopes that we are not to see another such cycle of violence and destruction.

Dixie Hill's New Car

By Jack Kemp

Sunset City's darling, the brave and resourceful Dixie Hill, has acquired a new tool in her arsenal of justice. Miss Hill's red Thunderbird was well known to the citizens of Sunset City, and a welcome sight to the police in the midst of a troubling case. The old T-bird is gone, however, and in its place is an ultra-modern dream machine, a sleek dream car fit for as lovely and capable a crime fighter as Miss Hill. The glass-domed convertible is a cheerful sight, and well represents Miss Hill's vibrant personality. When Dixie Hill takes you for a ride, you go in style.

Senator Farfield Announces Bid

By Harold Moore

Sunset City native Senator Ferris Farfield has announced his intentions to run for the office of President of the United States. Senator Farfield, noted for his support of high-technology and space science, as well as for his internationalist leanings, is considered by many to have a good chance in the upcoming election, although some consider his views to be too liberal for these dangerous times. Senator Farfield is expected to return to Sunset City from Capitol City in the near future, when he and his lovely wife are expected to host a gala ball to officially signal the start of the senator's campaign.

Government Medical Research Contract goes to LexCorp West

By Harold Moore

The US government has announced that a major medical research contract has been awarded to LexCorp West. Dr Carl Crusher, the head of research for the project, expressed his great pleasure at the announcement. "There is no researcher in the world with a better reputation than Dr Luthor," Dr Crusher said, "And no research corporation with a greater dedication to science than LexCorp. I look forward to a rewarding partnership."

Foreign Spy in Sunset City!

By Jack Kemp

Government officials have issued an emergency warning that a dangerous foreign agent is suspected to currently be at large in Sunset City. The agent has been tracked to Sunset City by FBI agents, and is reported to have completely mastered the American language, but is said to still be somewhat hesitant about our social customs and the way our free society operates. This may lead to errors in the spy's behavior. Citizens are urged to report any suspicious behaviors to the authorities immediately.

LexCorp West Chief to Metropolis

By Prescott Price

The Vice President of West Coast operations for LexCorp, Paul Pollard, who is rapidly becoming one of the most important and influential businessmen of Sunset City, has been summoned to Metropolis by LexCorp's President, the illustrious Dr Alexander Luthor. The exact reason for the meeting is unknown, but highly placed sources report that it has to do with the continuing construction of LexCorp West's Sunset City headquarters, and plans for LexCorp West's direction once the construction is complete. Construction is reported to be well ahead of schedule and LexCorp Tower is expected to be open for business within the next couple of months.
