

SUNSET CITY SENTINEL

---

MAYOR RETURNS FROM RHODESIA

By Butler Wiseman

Mayor Gordon Goodman has returned from his African visit looking tan and fit, and with a planeload of trophies to commemorate his first major international political venture. The mayor bagged numerous antelopes, buffalo, zebra, a truly impressive lion, and a wide variety of business contracts for our fair city. Mayor Goodman and his travelling companions had nothing but praise for their hosts in Rhodesia, and sources close to the mayor say that he has been discussing possible future goodwill trips to a variety of foreign capitals. In fact, the mayor's aides report that his only regret is that he was unable to shoot an elephant, due to an unanticipated problem with the safari's trucks.

---

OIL PLATFORM OFF SUNSET CITY

By Robin Starling

A massive offshore oil well platform is currently under construction off the coast of the Sunset City. United Oil Corporation expects to be able to use this high-tech platform to tap into the large undersea oil fields recently discovered off our coast.

---

DIOMEDUS RESEARCH DELAYED

By Chase Chesterton

Officials at the Diomedus Penitentiary have announced that the proposed research project scheduled to begin in the near future has been postponed for an undetermined amount of time. Sunset City University's Dr Carl Crusher, recently announced as head for the project, refused to comment on the delay, but a prison official, speaking on condition of anonymity, reports that government officials wanted to revisit the ethical question of using prisoners as test subjects. "There's a question about whether they can really be considered 'volunteers' in any meaningful sense," the source told a reporter. Dr Crusher's research is intended to examine a variety of advanced medical techniques, hoped to hold promise for curing previously incurable diseases.

THE POLITICS OF STYLE

By Cat Cardigan

Sunset City native Senator Ferris Farfield, who recently announced himself as a presidential candidate, has long been known as the most elegant and fashionable politician in Washington. The entry of the senator into the presidential race has brought a far greater degree of style to this political campaign than has been the case in any other American political race. The senator and his lovely wife have hosted numerous parties at their Sunset City mansion, as well as having been the guests of honor at numerous society parties across the country. Certainly, if Senator Farfield is elected, he will be the most stylish Commander in Chief the White House has ever seen.

---

SPECIAL TASK FORCE IN DEVIL'S POINT

By Mark Mars

Police Commissioner Vincent Redgrove has announced the creation of a new task force to address the growing criminal activities in the Devil's Point area. Devil's Point has long been an underdeveloped area of Sunset City, but in recent months there has been growing unease caused by the consolidation of rival street gangs under a single banner. Devil's Point Police Captain Triviatti has already begun assigning men to special duties based upon the task force's recommendations.