

Senior Class Wills

I, Dorothy Aldridge, being of sound mind(?) and body will my Spanish grades, my brown eyes and my ability to think up nicknames to Joyce Ruve.

I, Virginia Ambrose, bequeath to Martha Chantant, my worn out pen for shorthand and my faded P.E. suit for P.E.

I, Karen Allen, bequeath "Heapcliff and Gertrude" to Mike Caskey.

I, Dean Altman, will my ability to carbon-up spark plugs to the Hacker Brothers.

I, Eva Beaver, will all my talent in "volley tennis" to Irene Truthart.

I, Carol Barth, bequeath to anyone, who has the nerve and courage, the responsibility of being hall monitor for sixth hour study hall.

I, Larry Bacon, do bequeath my ability to get along with Mr. Dale Hansch to all his next year's students.

I, Linda Berryman, bequeath to Carole McCullough my ability to use more typing erasers than anyone else in the typing class.

I, Jim Benner, hereby bequeath all my abilities (?) to Mike Donath.

I, James Booth, hereby bequeath all my troubles, hard work, and mishaps in building trades to any incoming junior who wants them.

I, Koert Bartman, in my dying days at Lincoln High School, will all I have to my smarter brother.

I, Diane Caplinger, will all my wasted typing paper to any deserving junior who is going to take Typing II.

I, Linda Cooper, hereby bequeath my "blue bloomers" to Kenny Bell.

I, John Coombs, bequeath all of the extra nails I have driven into the wall in Building Trades to Bob Stevens.

I, Jonathan Clymer, do hereby leave my ability to swindle my friends and enemies to Dave Alexander.

I, David Carpenter, hereby will to Ronald Anderson my ability to make paper dolls in art class.

I, Melvin Dorsett, leave my moldy Industrial Arts' locker to anyone who can stand it and the dust.

I, Jon Diers, do bequeath and will my ability to get caught off my hall duty post by the Assistant Principal to anyone unlucky enough to acquire it.

I, Judith Douglas, hereby will my ability to chew gum in Miss Houston's class to a junior by the name of Ruthann Otte.

I, Diane Diersing, hereby will my P.E. suit to Joyce Jackson.

I, Keetra Dial, bequeath my ability to get in trouble with the teachers to anyone who wants it.

We, Gerald Gaffney Dehner and Thomas Jay Zimmerman, do hereby bequeath to Douglas Dutz and Mickey Latch our spring-time P.E. abilities.

I, Mary Forehand, will my grades in home economics class to Darlene Rohlf.

We, Jeff Fuels and Ron Castor, will the remains of our can of black spray paint to Elmer Mosier.

I, Diane Fitzsimmons, bequeath my ability to yell the wrong cheer to Pam Dye.

I, John Feldman, will to Mr. Luebchow a brand new cloud chamber, so he can see those whatchamachiggers inside, because he was very disappointed this year in our experiment.

I, Jean Goldhammer, bequeath to the new secretary of the band, my worn down pencils, lots of patience, and loads of good luck. It's an enjoyable job, honest!

I, Roger Gehlbach, bequeath to Julian Beaver my share of the depleted debate material.

I, John Gleason, will my ability to get into trouble to my brother Frank.

To Penny Koy, I, Grace Guzzardo, will my ability to swallow my gum just as the teacher asks, "what have you got in your mouth?"

I, Barbara Geary, bequeath my brother to Dennie in order that he may keep a watchful eye on him while I am gone.

I, Shirley Gornick, will my hall locker to Renate Wade.

I, Bob Glick, hereby will my one piece P.E. suit to Joan Boyer and let her worry about the rest.

I, Nancy Gleason, bequeath to Nancy Klockenga my "home-room" study periods.

I, Jo Gipson hereby will my red hair and P.E. suit, to Jill Casstevens.

I, Dick George, hereby bequeath my ability to sleep in the library to Ron Miller.

I, Ralph Gehlbach, bequeath my chair in band to Allen Bock.

I hereby will all my Spanish papers, Senior Scholastics, and English books to Dale Wheeler, Danny Gaydos.

I, Jerry Hertzfeldt, hereby bequeath my moldy P.E. suit that has missed less days of school than I have to Ronnie Anderson.

I, Larry Holderfield, will to Bob Fuels nothing, he doesn't deserve anything.

I, Leigh Henson, will the state of Alaska to anyone strong enough to take it away from the Eskimoes.

I, Norman C. Heins, bequeath my height and studious attitude to Jake Moore.

I, Eva Mae Hill, being of sound mind and memory, do hereby bequeath to any junior or senior, taking D.E. my ability to chew gum all year in Mr. Smith's D.E. class, and only get fined three times.
