

MEDIA RELEASE

12 / 02 / 2005

For many years Lionel Richards has been trying to convince the politicians that the Family Court is biased and needs to be reformed but with little joy.

In the late 90's he started the OzyDads Network as a self help support group for disenfranchised dads and more recently became the Australian Coordinator of Fathers-4-Justice.

He has now put his hat in the ring and is standing as a candidate in the upcoming Western Australian State election contesting the seat of Fremantle which is currently held by the misandrist Attorney General.

This truly is a David and Goliath battle and being a realist he accepts that the odds are against him winning but he does believe that his platform of MEN'S HEALTH ISSUES and the STATUS of FATHERS will swing enough votes away from the incumbent member to drive the point home that these issues are very important in the minds of the public at large.

Mr Richards said "This is not so much about Father's (or Mother's) rights but about the Rights of Children to love and be loved by BOTH parents without inhibition or interference. Shared Parenting is the only answer"

His full policy platform is viewable at www.LionelRichards.com
