

Quickly Remove Items from Windows XP Startup

Do you sigh when it comes to starting up your computer because it takes what seems an eternity to boot up? Here is a quick tip which should make your computer start up faster by removing startup items quickly.

Click on Start >> Run and in the run line type in "msconfig" hit enter or click on OK.

Next click on the Start Up tab. By default all items are usually checked, but you can remove any items that you don't feel need to be running when you start your computer.

After you have made your selection, click Apply, OK and Restart. You should now notice a remarkable improvement in your start up time.

JOIN THE DISCUSSION

Brian Burgess worked in IT for 10 years before pursuing his passion for writing. He's been a tech blogger and journalist for the past seven years, and can be found on his about me page or Google+

• Published 06/30/07

SHOW ARCHIVED READER COMMENTS (57)

MORE ARTICLES YOU MIGHT LIKE