

A MIMAZINE EXCLUSIVE

Interview With The Lesbian

STAYS TO BE MY CARTRIDGE
AND SHE'S DOING
LOVE & ALL FEELS

In the interest of covering all bases in terms of relationships, and since lesbians are very hot right now, in the wake of Ellen, and because I know a good trend when I see one, I'm proud to present an actual lesbian within the pages of MIMAZINE.

Seriously,
I'm really glad that she consented to being interviewed ;
Having Fred Phelps' home base here & putting up with these idiots is one downside of living in Topeka; and this is a way, however small, to counteract that bullshit.

There is a purpose here by not revealing her name; besides privacy issues (all photos have been doctored, protecting the guilty & innocent alike; no reason for the wrong people to go crashing into her life), there existed an opportunity to speak to someone and get fairly frank answers, without worrying about violating the Social Contract that exists among us all, which tends to have people not speak their full mind on various things -- the other reason is, that it's just fun to intentionally frustrate you from time to time.
One big hint- her work has been featured in Curve Magazine

Now, with no apologies to Anne Rice, here is the Interview With The Lesbian:

At what age did you realize that you were attracted to the same sex, or "exhibited tendencies" ?

I felt gay in the second grade; I remember... there was this little red-haired girl that was in the second grade with me and I remember that I used to run across the playground & grab her; we'd grab each other & we'd spin around and kiss - and then, we'd go to school. That was the first kind of girl that I liked, you know, had a crush on - I must've been 6.

6 or 7 - somewhere in there.

6. I had a thing to see this girl everyday... and who knows why, but that was it - she spun me around everyday on the playground and it was really, like charming little girl stuff, you know. I didn't feel sexual - not at all. It was just charming - I liked her. And it was that girl, that first girl, that made me want to go to school.

Dating boys in high school was a very boring chore...

They were stroking egos - they were stroking their own dicks with my vagina.

Unexpurgated and All Too True!

INNOCENCE & SEDUCTION
One woman tells her story;
A child of the Heartland's descent into the sordid squalor of Real Life.