

RANDY ELLEN DUNBAR

Before stepping into the world of birds Randy was making canoe paddles with Pacific Northwest Indian designs and relief carvings.

Relief carving on Aspen

Randy's design on Western Red Cedar

This pair of Cinnamon Teal earned Randy an honorable mention at the Columbia Flyway show.

This relief carving is one of Randy's current projects. It's A friend's chocolate Lab. The panel was made from 6 Quaking Aspen 2 x 4's cambered and glued together.

These baby chickadees were at the Columbia Flyway show too.
