Are you feeling the squeeze? Get Lean!

Your customers' expectations keep going up. They demand faster cycle times and higher quality—but at the same time, they expect to pay less for product! You've done everything you can to crank up production and tighten up the floor, but you still feel the squeeze. What are you going to do when your customer tightens the screws for the next order?

Columbus State and Lean Concepts are partnering to offer you Lean Processes training. By adopting the Toyota Production System, you can stay a step ahead of your customer by achieving:

- Reduced costs
- Reduced lead times
- Reduced inventory
- Reduced defect rates
- Improved quality
- Increased productivity
- Increased awareness

Our expert trainers and consultants get to know your operation and recommend a tailored program that will achieve the most cost-effective results. Our training enables your organization to implement continuous improvement processes that continue to pay off long after our part is done. Our partnership is unique because it pairs your local community college with a leader in the field to offer you local service that is also state-of-the-art.

Your road to Lean starts with a free onsite assessment. Contact us today:
