

Rosy Rizi
Knows to Help

Rosy Rizi knew how much fun it is to be helpful at school. She decided to try it at home. Mama was busy making pancakes in the kitchen. Rosy Rizi asked “Mama can I help you to make pancakes.” “No darling, my work is almost over. I just have to pore the barter on the hot pan.” Mama replied.

“Mama I want to help you pour the barter.”
Rosy Rizi offered. “No sweet heart, It’s dangerous for children to work with fire.”
Mama explained. “But teacher said no one is too small to help.” Rosy Rizi protested sadly. “Not now darling. I’ll ask for your help when I want it. Why don’t you see if Papa needs you.”
Mama proposed.

Rosy Rizi found Papa busily typing on the Computer. “Papa can I help you with something.” Rosy asked expectantly.

“No Thank you dear, I’m doing some office work.” Papa said looking up with smile. “But Papa I have to help some body today.” Rosy Rizi quipped stamping her feet.

“Why don’t you get me a glass of water,
I’m feeling very thirsty.” Papa requested.

“ Oh! That’s only a small help.”

Rosy Rizi frowned
feeling disheartened.

“But that will be big help for me dear.”

Papa insisted.

Rosy Rizi went to the Kitchen for the glass of water, not feeling very convinced. She poured out the water in the glass as Mama eyed her with a smile. “Oh! Mama look!!” Rosy Rizi cried “There’s an ant drowning in the water”.

“ You have to help it very quickly darling.” Mama hurried her. Rosy Rizi picked up a spoon and the scooped ant out of the water. She place the spoon down carefully at a dry place. “ Mama look the ant is climbing out of the spoon.” she exclaimed happily.

“Now I should help Papa, he’s very thirsty.” Rosy Rizi announced as she carried a glass of water for Papa. “ Papa I saved an ant’s life. It was a big help wasn’t it?” Rosy Rizi asked excitedly. “It is a big help to save some one’s life. You helped your father too Darling.” Papa replied with pride in his eyes.

