

Why good people should never visit Rio de Janeiro (Brazil) or have any sort of contact with carioca culture.

I.M.R.Pinheiro

Po Box 12396 A'Beckett st Vic Au 8006

mrpprofessional@yahoo.com

www.geocities.com/mrpprofessional

Independent Researcher

Abstract: – In this paper, we expose the origins and culture of these repulsive beings, the CARIOCAS. Carioca must be the only people in the whole World who seem to always understand the opposite of every God's moral and everything that is logical. If you are a good person, that means you are probably acting in agreement with the Bible. If you are doing so, there is no way you are not get fully victimized and probably with your whole life and, perhaps, also your body and brains, fully destroyed/stolen by a local heartless amoral being from Rio de Janeiro.

*Key-words*¹: God, good, heart, feelings, moral, Rio de Janeiro, carioca, Bible, integrity.

1 Introduction

RJ was started by Portuguese invaders, or 'discoverers' of Brazil. At the very beginning, it had been chosen to be the capital of the Country for its amazing natural beauties, such as the ones found in Melbourne, still nowadays, if chased well. Portuguese royal families also started/allowed the first educational systems in RJ, which, unfortunately, were never good enough for themselves, once they would always send their kids overseas. Their palaces were huge and full of luxury, all treated by the slaves that they, unfortunately, detached from their natural habitat, claiming that local aborigine in Brazil were truly lazy and the blacks were hard workers. With time, the bosses of land and money, married, infringed the Bible sacred laws of marriage and had parallel relationships with their female slaves, some with attractive bodies and very keen on ascending or gaining more luxury. Therefore, the carioca race starts very badly with amoral principles. The blacks just seek their freedom and better treatment at any expense once nobody likes slavery. The whites with money, married, just seek satisfaction of their temporary awakened desire for a beautiful body from someone who did not belong to their status, environment, level, and never would being, always, therefore, kept out of society, marginal. It does not matter in what situation, the blacks were always out of context in RJ. With the inter-crossing between races, amoral, illegal when considering the laws of marriage, there is always two possible decisions: either the illegal loin of the amoral inter-crossing is considered as new kid by the actual wife or they are all kicked out, in case the wife has ever got power enough, independency of thought, and determination that she deserves true love and respect.

¹AMS: 26A51

With that, the so called mulatto emerged: an illegal and amoral cross between the married whites who were provoked by the slaves and the slaves willing freedom or improvement in their lives.

Sad thing is, 200 years later, is still the same situation for the browns, the mulattos, in Brazil. They are still marginal, still doing wrong, still doing crimes against everyone else. They form, by far, the largest group of prostitutes in RJ. They never created any self-value, any personality. It is as if they never deserved to exist as human beings, as the whites. Subconsciously, they must be aware that the lands were never theirs or their parents' lands. With that, they always felt 'out of home' somehow, intruders. No skin color identification at the beginning, times changing, and still no cultural identification with a modern society created by the Portuguese socialities, still kept as marginal to society.

It is obvious that RJ was totally vandalized and whoever inhabited the RJ of the Portuguese people cannot really recognize it. Portuguese people are told to be rude in Brazil, but their constructions like the QUINTA DA BOA VISTA (good sight park), JARDIM BOTANICO (botanical gardens), are all very impressive and massive. Very beautiful gardens, made for general appreciation and amusement. Gradually vandalized to become dirty, violent, destroyed, unfortunately.

RJ is one of the most impoverished cities of Brazil. They never learned how to be self sufficient and RS even dared to try independency once all the money from RS was told to be being destined to the SouthEast, impoverishing the people who should be the wealthiest around given their agricultural production.

The worst part of it is that the traditional Portuguese setup never changed. There is a oligarchy of whites which truly dominates all cariocas' economy, applies their money overseas, and builds each time more protected and reduced spaces in a parallel society to the abandoned, renegated, exploited, who obviously do not know even what to do to improve their own lives because they never get out of their useless routines of work and still work as slaves. The oligarchy in RJ goes by helicopter these days and no normal person even sees them around.

There are some dark parties, such as PT, who always get it all wrong and think communism is about 'stealing' from the wealthy and give it to the poor, just like that, so it is all about having money. In fact, they never even read Marx in their vast majority and still think precisely like the slaved blacks imported by means of force to RJ. As the blacks thought, they also think: stealing from the boss, hiding, vandalizing, protesting by destroying what the bosses built with so much love and passion. The culture that dominates RJ is the culture of hate, of those who never really wanted to be in a white society, who never felt at home and always take it to be oppression so that they are never guilty of any crimes, they do crimes because they were oppressed to start with. They never progressed a centimeter in their reasoning and are all stuck in slavery time but never realized. Times have changed, those in politics are also brown, but even those in politics think the same way so that they steal from the rest of the Country as well.

There is nothing that can obviously be done at this stage to save RJ, only blowing it up and saving the rest of Brazil from the spread of the disgusting thinking. But even this is worthless because the people who got Rede Globo going share precisely the same slave culture of oppressed so that all they spread in national way is that thought of protest and further destruction of others, their precious efforts to make their houses, lives, World better.

Cariocas are dirty, criminal, coward. It suffices that a person paints their whole wall carefully that here comes a native from RJ to write over it in huge block letters and ruin the new painting looks.

The hate will never go.

An infinite amount of hate born in the holes of senzala.

Nobody likes being raped. Some female slaves were raped. It all starts with aggression and cannot ever work. The tension that always exists between two very different races was increased by millions and it is either the case that one puts them apart once more and blacks are left on their own to improve their own culture and life, or everyone is harmed generically.

If one visits Africa, all one sees is RJ everywhere: the way they present their goods, the way they cook, the way they speak. It is precisely the carioca culture. And it happens with much more weight in RJ, where the Portuguese chose to live massively.

If cultural identity of a Country is ever important, blacks should definitely be re-patriated. What looks like beautiful to be seen was always used by mulattos as an indirect way of aggression. Capoeira and carnival were always used to steal from whites, to destroy their marriages, to show how a female mulatta had a better something than the white wife: Here I am, once you slaved me, now I am better than you and your husband likes me better. Because of me, he is going to badly treat you, to make you suffer.

Capoeira was created to steal from the whites whilst they were distracted. Also used as a weapon to victimize. A fight with no guns because the blacks could not have them.

There is really nothing else apart from hate in every mulatto's expression in RJ.

How can RJ be ever recovered?

It is obvious that if people do what was done, for instance, in Angola, when the blacks took over and stole the whites houses/assets, they are also going to destroy them, that is, by the moment someone steals what belongs to others, that implies having something they fought not to build, so that they are going to destroy. It is just natural that people must work for their own assets, for their own beauties.

So work is the solution?

Still is not. Because once they have jobs they are going to then steal from the whole Country.

The solution is blacks with blacks once more. They need to be left on their own to learn about their own race, to progress in their own pace.

Nobody is able to cope with going from sand and poor wood houses (also present in Africa, the same as favelas) by means of force and being dropped in a totally beautiful and developed environment. They need to progress on their own pace. If they ever get there, then it is their culture and their own accepted possibilities. If they do not, they just think different and should be allowed.