1 PREFACE

Humanity is about sharing and cooperating with equals in order to make our development easier both as a race and as individuals.

Being human is being able to respect and care about, love and support, feel pity and tenderness towards others.

Being human is being both part of a whole and totally exclusive as an individual.

Being human is being an extraordinarily successful manager both in terms of individual and race life.

In other words, being human involves developing both personality and individuality in their totality. Besides, also fully contributing towards our race development.

Being human is, with no doubts, a severely difficult entrepreneurship, perhaps the most difficult of all.

Being born human is being born a winner because there are not many races that have been on Earth for so long and have had the opportunity of changing the whole World for future generations.

*Every person is a Jesus in this sense, with choices that range from modifying the whole World to doing absolutely nothing to interfere with it.
Jesus was born and there were already several expectations on His existence, precisely like the ones that exist on any child that is born.
He had moments of total desperation, conflict, and had the chance of changing His whole pre-designed destiny.
He decided not to.*

But God created Jesus free to choose as well.

*And this is precisely the nature of Men and Women in the World: Free.
We must also emphasize that Religions, in general, should always go through logical tests before they are even considered as Religions.
We must here clarify that the book is not about any movement that already exists. It is, instead, about EVERY movement that there is.
We want to talk about Christianity and, therefore, we will be writing about several Religions, once there are several Christian Religions around.
The focus of the book, however, is the re-interpretation or, perhaps, the ONLY POSSIBLE TRUE INTERPRETATION, of Christianity for a New Era, for people who need Logic and Mathematics, for people who need Science to understand the World.
More than having people denying their own principles and stating that they should simply abandon those in the name of a Book so old as humanity as referred by us, full of messages even conflicting sometimes, we would like to make use of Logic to prove that all of us need Christian principles to be even deserveable of the label HUMAN BEINGS, to achieve total freedom in God.
An interesting aspect of the Book is that it was never intended. Three days of writing in a very common way for people told to be possessed by spirits, on a non-stopping basis, not thinking. It was God talking through me. Basically, God does want the Truth to be revealed and He only chooses those who like Him truly His way.
I had the care of reading the whole Bible, page by page, line by line, with all the respect the Holy Book deserves.
My version of the Bible was purchased from a RJ book seller from the streets and I paid some ten dollars for it, a true bargain for such a nice looking*

Book, so beautiful to be seen.

My Bible was an A4 sort of size, leather-covered in black, with, possibly, the actual face of Jesus in a raised shape from the cover, with a sort of two rectangles in red around it. It was an old male person who sold it to me. The person was humble, but not that humble. One could see his eyes of something special. And that Bible was standing there alone, all on its own, for a price never seen before for such a preciousness, so well finished.

Basically, I took the care of going through the Book for one year time, line by line, with all curiosity of a person who is open-hearted to believe if it ever shows up. By the time I read the whole Bible, I had already been through Catholic Schools since the age of five years old, had been baptized, had been a bride's maid in my aunt's marriage in a Catholic church, had read Spiritualism from House of Spirits due to my father's death and the fact that me, my mother, and my sister, all atheists back then, had seen him around us after death. I got so much horror from that, that I prayed and prayed and prayed until he was finally gone. The fact that I went to a Spiritualist Temple to find help and the lady there said only that he was well made me think they could not possibly be right. However, by reading the book House of Spirits I did see precisely what happened to my father and, as a witness I stand, they are totally right about people who die in car accidents. My father was not a good father, not a good husband, and am not sure about how good he was in everything else. He was certainly not an enlightened person. Surprised me that I became atheist easily after first getting very very bored at the masses I used to attend with my grandmother, Catholic, then noticing that it felt much righter if I prayed on my own with full respect than in the church sleeping as someone else said what sounded like surreal words with no sense to me at all. Interesting enough, as I read the Bible with an open heart, as someone who really wants to study it, I had the most exotic experiences one could ever have in this World. And I never forgot how meaningful that experience was. God brought me back when I followed a piece of the Bible to make requests after fasting for 3 days in a row. I then begged the Lord to give me a Religion which was the closest one to His words in the Bible and yet did not demand a lot of sacrifice. Interesting enough, back then, God pointed Seicho-no-ie to me in His ways, which I shall not describe. I went there and it was true that not knowing the Japanese words involved, I felt God there immediately. The person preaching told me, as I arrived, precisely the way I had got there. That truly meant something to me. God made use of a stranger to make me feel welcome in times of loneliness and He presented me with an open door

to Himself.

More recently, in Australia, it was never my will, I was subjected to very aggressive, nonsensical, criminal, coward, people. And they, for fun, decided to impose upon me that I wrote a Book on my experience. Thing is that they suggested I did it as I was sleeping, in what would be classified, easily, as one more crime of invasion and disturbance of vandals over my existence. Some were also Brazilians, like myself. Some were not.

However, because God never misses a single opportunity of showing off, He did decide that that one was going to be a good one and brought it all. In 3 days time the Book came to me and I wrote in a non-stopping basis. God is always, with no exception, when provoked with open hearts, opening a door for people to believe His powers. So He did in that instance as well and I was His instrument. This fact I will never be ashamed of, I am ashamed that they victimized me further, however, and thought of having more fun at my life expense for a time that is infinite for a human's existence. And because 90% of the world works without following God's guidelines, I never got justice for myself in due time to still enjoy God's gifts for me in this World as I deserved, as a free human being. Even though I do believe in life after death, problem is that we only live once with the same body, face, brains, opportunities, people match, age. I really suffered atrocities well beyond what Jesus suffered and these people really chose to do so stating they were doing so, that they really wanted me to be a Jesus. Bad for themselves, bad for the World, and even with the 3-day miracle, they still kept on belonging to the dark forces and doing acts that are only compatible with the opposite of God<sup>1</sup>. Too bad for me, my life was more stolen in a time it could not be anymore. That, however, is also a Human factor. God did say, after Jesus, that this World was not His kingdom anymore. He chose to postpone damnation and punishment and chose to always have intermediaries like myself. As he chose those very humble people by the time of Jesus, He also chose Gandhi, Mother Theresa of Calcutta, and so many others we know are right - the whole World simply knows it.

God has also sent me and you.

<sup>1</sup>Here, a good psycholinguistics advice, never to market the name of the opposite force, only God should remain on people's memories as we speak or write.

I was never supposed to preach, to write books on Him, or to live Jesus way.

We are what we know we are and I did tell my precious mother, the most blessed Brazilian woman I have ever met in this World in terms of wisdom, also inherited from my totally blessed grandma, a true light presence, about whom I even wrote a poem<sup>2</sup> and one can easily read it to understand a bit of her magnificence and light, that 'I was born knowing it'. That happened when I was 5 yo and my mother never forgot it. It never had the weight she put on it, but it meant far more than what she actually heard. I meant I always knew, with no doubts, what I came for. My connection with God is so strong that I was even left awake in my mother's tommy to listen to her stating I was going to be her only friend in this World. And as we tell God, I told mum, here I am.

Indeed, I am here for her since I was born, as a true dog, a true watching dog. All I want to state is that I was never ever supposed to write or talk about my personal experiences/findings on Spiritual ways and humanity should never learn from me about this at all. I am precisely the opposite of a preacher, I was born to be the live example,

'my life is my gift to the World'

would be a sentence defining me. I was never able to see someone sad and not trying to make them smile or feel better. I was never able to see someone willing an answer and not trying to provide the person with it. I was never able to see someone being attentive, putting all their hearts on something for me and not profusely thank for that sublime effort of pleasing me, a true possibly nothing in the eyes of those who cannot see. I never let a single friend or person down. Never omitted myself from doing what I should: as a daughter, as a sister, as a friend, as a lecturer, as a researcher, as an educator. All I did in this World I did to the top of my powers and abilities, always performing to my best at that very time. I also took the best care I could with the house of the Lord, my so precious and gifted body: two legs that could march, two eyes that could see, two ears that could hear properly. Never have I injured or harmed my own body whilst I was free to choose, free of any other premise that was not Bible friendly. I have never been disloyal to anyone else in this World in any possible sense, only reacted properly, God's ways, if provoked. I have never stolen, harmed someone else's efforts or results on purpose, I have never defamed anyone else in this World, never gave false testimony. I have never desired another woman's husband/loved one. I have always put my whole heart in whatever I did in this World. I was always sincere, reliable, trustworthy. I have never sabotaged anyone's work or intentions. I have never forced someone else to do something they did not want, that is, I have never infringed people's rights in this World to be equals to myself in terms of freedom of choice, freedom of expression, possibility of outcome and equal powers in fight<sup>3</sup>, or thought of myself as their god, in clear hallucination and outrageous heresy (same effect as doing the act described by the next sentence). I have never put another God before or above my God: the God of Abraham, Isaac, Jacob. I have never adored material things. I have never done to others what I did not wish over me. Never killed. I have never showed to others anything else than my

TRUE IMAGE.

In all I did in this World, I was always happy doing it, from work to sports: no human being could ever stare at me and become sad. All they felt was will of living. I have abandoned my family by the age of 30 and never looked back, as God shows via Jesus we should all do. From there onwards, our relatives by birth do not hold any more importance than our friends in this World. All that matters is that they should then be good people to deserve our attention, there is no more obligation in any sort of regards.

THEY MUST GROW AND BECOME (IF WE KNOW WHAT WE ARE, IT IS NOW THEIR TURN TO SHOW WHAT THEY TRULY ARE).

So that I truly believe to be my own text:

EXTRAORDINARY,

a true God's person. And, beyond, once I was never supposed to do it and it was human's criminal interference with God's way, I will really not do it. I will do precisely as the disciples did and everything is going to be left in writing. My life in this World has been illegally and criminally affected/changed/detoured from what it should have been and was made to be so because of human's dark forces. I will not break God's rules and wishes for me. I was provoked, God was provoked. God showed off, I proved to be suitable to be used by the Lord to do whatever any possibly willing-to-learn-His-ways-person wanted from Him. However, it is only by dying and being born again or never being born again that my true image can be ever repaired. Sometimes, even when your birth attachments show their true image to you, you end up being so severely harmed that you wonder why those people were put on your way, in your existence. Some explain it with Karma. Then it can only have to do with your mother as well. Reality is that were society to ever become truthful to God's wishes, every human being would be free to change even their surnames by the age of 30 years old, when they are fully formed, usually finished their higher studies, have worked for half of their age, and have provided their relatives with all attention that is possible to give by means of denial of their own intended existence to the top efforts that can ever be made. Here there is also a suggestion that for any society in this World to claim they are Christians (not Catholics, Christians), they would have to modify their rules so that they agree with the Great Lord's intentions towards the World.

By giving what cannot easily be given to others for 30 years, the person pays their debt for being supported in any possible sense by those people, nurtured in any possible sense. After the debt is paid, they are free to enjoy their own gifts if they are ever God's people. With the feeling of absence created in that cell of society, the other members of the birth family must grow in order to fill in that gap if they were just using the person and not letting them be respected. That is healthy, that is all the Bible is about and God's advice: full respect for human development. In this sense, Seicho-no-ie is an incredibly good word, once it means House of Infinite Development<sup>A</sup>. In God's terms, can only be our own bodies, which include our brains.

This book is not for me,

it is not a representation of me in any possible sense. This book is what the evil forces decided my life was going to be reduced to. This book is not to honor the dark forces either. It is another chance for those who are really interested, as in opposition to those who provoked this all, to understand, know, and follow God's ways for redemption. I have loved Humanity in all its extension and only God knows how the love for life was never stronger than in 2002 when I begged a few Australian people to protect me from any

<sup>4</sup>I was told this was the meaning by more than one Japanese person. A Seicho-no-ie preacher also stated such. I am not an expert in Japanese, but somehow my intuition tells me this is correct further crimes in this World given how fragile, unfairly treated, disrespected, abandoned, on my own, and unprotected, I was feeling at that very moment. Unfortunately, however, people around me were, indeed, evil in their nature, vast majority was atheist, so that God was not in them.

Most of them had never met God or read His words to us from His Book. If they never read it, the only reason why Australia was so blessed back then was because they always knew it too (intuition, like myself when at the age of 5), much better than the Brazilians. I did find something special in Australia, and could see clearly how different the locals were from the others. But there is also something dark about Melbourne, a sort of seed from bad things growing<sup>5</sup>. And I was as unfortunate as to get precisely that conjuncture in Melbourne in 2002. I feel so sorry for myself and what happened to me given how blessed I was in God's ways. But here comes another for you, reader:

Your TRUE FATHER(not the birth one, God) is the only one who can fix it all.

I have never feared, not even when I was threatened of something really dark by a fellow who I believed to be a good person. I knew that that specific fellow would never hurt me in fact. I still do not fear. Never. What I have coped with still walking, still writing, still standing, nobody without God would. Believe me, there is no better blessing that could happen to me at this very moment I write this to you than just not being in this World anymore. It might sound absurd, but there is a needed time for healing.

<sup>5</sup>That is to testify, with reality of facts, that it does not suffice 'knowing it', that is, knowledge per se is not fully blessed, only knowledge with the presence of God is.

A time to be born, a time to grow, a time to invest, a time to enjoy. A time to rest from it all and heal.

If the right time is missed, if God is severely disturbed for an extremely long period of time, if the dark forces are confirmed to dominate somehow, it is truly worth coming back Home, our true home, the place of all healing, all protection, all renewal.

I certainly know God is still with me. But there are other things involved. Sometimes I do wonder why my precious Father let this all happen to me, just like Jesus did, at the cross, but I do understand that each life has its own purpose,

which, unfortunately, also depends on how others act.

Since God stated we did not deserve His direct interference anymore, all was left like this. The good ones might pay the price for the whole Humanity being condemned, easily. But it is better that the good are where the good people are as well if none may still be found around.

So let them rest<sup>6</sup>.

My beautiful grandmother was named MARIA RIBEIRO RICCI. She performed at least one miracle after dying. She saved me personally from my father's visits when I was praying and I know it was her the same way I always knew what to write.

My mother's name is LEA MARIA RICCI. And she is the most dedicated

<sup>6</sup>The Old Testament does bring an explicit order from God telling us to NEVER consult the deceased, to let them rest.

Psychologist, the most competent one one will ever find around. She is extraordinary<sup>7</sup>. I truly beg the reader to remember this:

God's people are EXTRAORDINARY. Not common. Their acts always shine even in the most ordinary daily activities like work.

To come back to the point, I should not ever be preaching or writing about God's message. However, as Jesus said:

'you said it'.

*when the Romans were asking Him if He was the King of the Jews, I cannot refrain myself from stating: those criminals demanded that I did it, they said I was entitled. And God did make me temporarily entitled to see if they would ever listen, any of them.
Basically, for God,*

<sup>7</sup>My mother likes the sentence 'that who does not live to serve is not suitable for living'. I found this sentence really strong, but do not believe that her, herself, follows it all the time, even though she does follow it most of the time. This might be a motto for saints, people who transcend humanity, who are like Christ, but it is definitely not a human factor. People are not made to 'serve' others at all. In fact, nobody has ever felt really happy serving others. People feel humanly happy if they notice they are growing and contributing to the growth of others. Otherwise, they are machine-happy. Serving is a complicated Language term and might bear several meanings. Jobs like cleaning, being a secretary, cannot bring any human happiness. They bring money. Money is not enough for human happiness at all, even though it is quite essential for happiness to be possible. Houses should actually be self-cleanable to make life more human. Otherwise, each one of us should take care of their own clothes, personal space, clean it, tide it, and that has got the same effect as taking care of the House of our Soul, our own bodies, it is all God's orientated. The face of someone's house is the face of their spirit. The tidier - the better presented - the house is, the better that soul is - as long as it is their own work. Here, it obviously does not matter if they are males or females. Actually, if every male was raised doing these tasks, they would be far more human and less machine-like.

any single soul does matter

and nobody is irrelevant

if they are indeed seeking help.

That is what God listened: Marcia, I want you to help us to see God and His wonders that He may award us with if we join you and your beliefs.

I was always God's tool in this World and always made me available, connected to the right people and energy by choice.

God then used me to see if they would see what they were looking for, ever.

I am not very proud of being used for this and God knows I never wanted to preach or write to the unblest. I actually have natural horror of those who are not born knowing about God as well. It is also stated in the Bible that if you are God's people, you should only eat along with those who you think might be as well, that is, do not even share a meal's table with those who you clearly see are not God's people, that is, do not mix.

But even writing this in total shame, I am still passing the message onwards as those people forced me to.

I must tell the reader that God totally embraced Seicho-no-ie's concept that one must always show their TRUE IMAGE to this World. Also the principle that every human labor should be appreciated with all respect a human's effort to please someone else's deserves, that is, we must all have the same care with a human-made object as the manufacturer had. In those regards, the Asians know very well what to do. They demand that everyone who enters their house (by invitation, that is, in God's terms, those who you think are also His people) puts their dirty shoes with dust of sin at a shelf at the entrance not to pollute a God's place, watched with so much love, with whatever does not belong to that sacred feeling.

God is in all and All is God.

God is good energy, work, positive force, effort. God is love. Love is also in the result of someone's work with care. All that is perfect for the eyes, perfect for the touch, for any sense, is God, once God is perfect. There is no perfection in the World we inhabit that was not God's personal allowance to us.

Seicho-no-ie, however, did commit a translation mistake in Brazil. Because I had no idea of the mistake, I cannot ever be blamed for sinning, once that is also a God's principle<sup>8</sup>. However, to show True Image, I must say they lied on writing in Portuguese that they talked about God, as being the same God as the God in the Catholic Bible, but they are actually referring to another deity, whose name I will not mention in this Book because that would be disrespect with the actual Father of those who believe Him. Not in the same book, not in any book, shall the name of another deity rest with my beloved God's name, the same way I would never write or say a sentence involving my sacred grandmother's name and a sinner's name. They are Holy.

Basically, in RJ, God chose the best suitable place where people were more righteous regarding His choices for us. That is totally understandable.

God never commits a mistake<sup>9</sup>

The heart of the people there were clean of sin once they truly believed, like me, to be praising their God: the God of Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, not the deity mentioned in their chanting, in Japanese, made routine in every meeting. That is why God thought it was a proper place for me on that occasion, apart from what He knew in advance, that I did not know: I was going to be the one to tell Brazil that there was induction to sinning also in Seicho-no-ie and tell Seicho-no-ie that if they fix their minimal chanting to be what they say it is, God likes them far much better than any other existing Religion because

---

<sup>8</sup>any ignorant of His words cannot ever sin once they do not know and have not read the Word

<sup>9</sup>And that is, obviously, what makes Him the Lord of all. Humans do commit mistakes frequently, but what may make them directly related to God is the miraculous short time it takes a God's person to realize it and fix it.

He told me that personally, in what regards RJ. Seicho does not adore images or have them exposed, what is really a good thing. They are worried about actions, about respect, which is the major thing missing in Rio's people<sup>10</sup>

True Image is definitely God's intention to all of us and so is the whole writing of Seicho in Portuguese. There is absolutely no conflict with the Bible<sup>11</sup>, as it is interesting to see it also happens with the book House of Spirits, they seem to be simply complimentary or supplementary to each other. If one forgets about the Japanese bits, it is still the best religion that one may have considering all sins imposed upon us by the others such as adoration of statues.

For this book to be better read, I must further make the reader aware of the fact that this Preface did not come as the rest, it was written later. Some cleaning on what was not God's message, but my own brain's interference on His message, also had to be made before printing, what seems to be a common factor between my own experience in writing the book and everyone else's, when they claim to get inspiration from some alternative source of God's force, some derivation or unit of measure, perhaps, if you prefer.

I also wish to state that this book is a development of the ideas presented in this Preface. It might contain some extra bits, but one could easily reduce it all to 'all that matters, if you really want to be a God's person is presenting your TRUE IMAGE, what is an ultimate shortening for doing everything right, according to what is in the Book of the Lord.

There is some extra information everyone needs to understand as to why this book is relevant and why it is a declaration, the first one ever, in full agreement with God's terms for us.

Basically, the Bible, as known by us, is a result of severe iniquity practiced by

<sup>10</sup>Surprisingly, Rio has vandalized the whole Brazil with their dark forces. But if they adopt the fixed Seicho, they might fix it all and revert the order once more for all cariocas. Because their wrong culture has apparently dominated and disgraced the whole Brazil: the culture of disrespect, of invasion of others, of dirtiness, of laziness, of parasitism, all the opposite of God's intentions to this World, if they fix themselves, Brazil is fixed. Because the only factor preventing Brazil from being a World power is its own people, all is healed and the order is restored.

<sup>11</sup>as long as they take away the Japanese chanting or fix it to agree with what they say it is, as explained before

Catholic leaders by the time of inquisition. There was some strong movement of opposition to whatever they were doing back then, but not strong enough politically as to be able to keep God's words totally truthful to God's intentions.

We would like to say that every sort of distortion was made possible. It actually looks like they did not like women that much whilst Jesus and God loved women dearly, having written the Bible basically for men to obey severe rules in order to keep society well. They say that women were originally made from a rib. But it might actually be the case that God loved women so dearly that He made men have one less rib to remember that they owed something further that women did not, remember to be humble and pay. There is obviously lots of mistakes and things that are either inherited translation mistakes, even broadened for a sequel of translation mistakes, or are intentionally mistakenly written in order to suit their intentions.

With Inquisition, things were made really hard for the general public. In fact, it does look like at least two books are severely mistaken: Genesis and the book about the UFO dream, as people nowadays would label it. However, if one concentrates always in the common essence and intentions of The Book, reading it all as I did, there is no mistake about the core message. That is why my book was made necessary, to fix Inquisition times crimes against humanity and the message intended by God. Were God ever with intentions of having translators of His words, He would not have used common Language and obvious acts of example to the poor, the miserable, the ignorant, the humble. God's words are the simplest words as possible and He made it on purpose. He was tired of the oligarchies when He sent Jesus, not finding a single blessed person in politics. With that, one can easily state that the Catholic church could never be right: politically empowered.
