

KNOWLEDGE

95% of all the money on the planet is controlled by only 5% of the population. 50% of all the money on the planet is controlled by only 1% of the population. We let this happen but we can change things. How can we change things? What is the answer? Flip the bookmark for details.

KNOWLEDGE

95% of all the money on the planet is controlled by only 5% of the population. 50% of all the money on the planet is controlled by only 1% of the population. We let this happen but we can change things. How can we change things? What is the answer? Flip the bookmark for details.

KNOWLEDGE

95% of all the money on the planet is controlled by only 5% of the population. 50% of all the money on the planet is controlled by only 1% of the population. We let this happen but we can change things. How can we change things? What is the answer? Flip the bookmark for details.

KNOWLEDGE

95% of all the money on the planet is controlled by only 5% of the population. 50% of all the money on the planet is controlled by only 1% of the population. We let this happen but we can change things. How can we change things? What is the answer? Flip the bookmark for details.

Put More In The Piggy Bank: Spend less on impulse buys and put it away instead. This gives you more control over your own money.

Bartering: Trade the things you have with others for the things they have. That way more people can enjoy the things without anyone spending a single cent plus it's kind of fun.

Shop Local: the money that goes to large companies leaves a community. Shopping locally keeps that money within the community and enriches it. Support your local mom and pop store.

Get Involved: Take a more active role in your buying power. Find out more about the companies you buy from and the stores you shop in.

Make a Difference With Your Dollar: Support fair trade and help distribute the wealth. Support companies with healthy ethics.

Stay Informed: There is a lot of information on the internet as well as various magazines about the suggestions made here. Use it to empower yourself.

Society For Change

Put More In The Piggy Bank: Spend less on impulse buys and put it away instead. This gives you more control over your own money.

Bartering: Trade the things you have with others for the things they have. That way more people can enjoy the things without anyone spending a single cent plus it's kind of fun.

Shop Local: the money that goes to large companies leaves a community. Shopping locally keeps that money within the community and enriches it. Support your local mom and pop store.

Get Involved: Take a more active role in your buying power. Find out more about the companies you buy from and the stores you shop in.

Make a Difference With Your Dollar: Support fair trade and help distribute the wealth. Support companies with healthy ethics.

Stay Informed: There is a lot of information on the internet as well as various magazines about the suggestions made here. Use it to empower yourself.

Society For Change

Put More In The Piggy Bank: Spend less on impulse buys and put it away instead. This gives you more control over your own money.

Bartering: Trade the things you have with others for the things they have. That way more people can enjoy the things without anyone spending a single cent plus it's kind of fun.

Shop Local: the money that goes to large companies leaves a community. Shopping locally keeps that money within the community and enriches it. Support your local mom and pop store.

Get Involved: Take a more active role in your buying power. Find out more about the companies you buy from and the stores you shop in.

Make a Difference With Your Dollar: Support fair trade and help distribute the wealth. Support companies with healthy ethics.

Stay Informed: There is a lot of information on the internet as well as various magazines about the suggestions made here. Use it to empower yourself.

Society For Change

Put More In The Piggy Bank: Spend less on impulse buys and put it away instead. This gives you more control over your own money.

Bartering: Trade the things you have with others for the things they have. That way more people can enjoy the things without anyone spending a single cent plus it's kind of fun.

Shop Local: the money that goes to large companies leaves a community. Shopping locally keeps that money within the community and enriches it. Support your local mom and pop store.

Get Involved: Take a more active role in your buying power. Find out more about the companies you buy from and the stores you shop in.

Make a Difference With Your Dollar: Support fair trade and help distribute the wealth. Support companies with healthy ethics.

Stay Informed: There is a lot of information on the internet as well as various magazines about the suggestions made here. Use it to empower yourself.

Society For Change

